BIOLOGICAL FEEDBACK INSTRUMENTS

Supersensonics can be defined as the human biological sensitivity to radiations of all kinds from any source whether living inert or divine. There are some special examples of this sensitivity to be found in water divining, the homing instinct of pigeons, the direction finding of mosquitoes and butterflies. Bees have their own language but they also have a sensitivity to the direction of a honey source. Ants always build their nests over underground sources of water whereas storks never do. Throughout nature from the sensitive skin of the amoeba to the affinity of one atom for another this ability to sense very subtle radiations can be found with the instruments of Supersensonics.

75,000 People Greet Swallows At Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO (AP) — For the 177th time, the swallows have returned to Mission San Juan Capistrano on St. Joseph's Day.

Arriving in Southern California Friday after their 10,000-mile flight from their wintering grounds in Argentina, some 350 of the small brown birds winged onto the mission grounds, said mission spokesman Bill Smith.

More than 75,000 persons were on hand for the arrival, including visitors from as far away as Sweden and Germany. So was Leon Rene, who wrote the song, "When the Swallows Comes Back to Capistrano" in 1939.

Smith said several thousands more swallows had scattered themselves around the city as they arrived in the morning.

The birds came in at 8:31, 91 minutes later than last year, which frustrated early risers hoping for a first glimpse of the fabled visitors.

SWALLOWS & BIRDS ARE DIVINERS
OF DIRECTION, DISTANCE & TIME

- 4 However the most important part of this sensing faculty concerns human beings because it explains activities such as psychometry, dowsing, telepathy, clairvoyance, and crystal gazing as well as the structure of our inner consciousness and personality. To know the structure and thresholds of human consciousness instantly gives us a powerful tool for understanding why some humans can communicate with their environment and others not. To understand why you cannot communicate with another person who functions on another level of consciousness immediately gives you an explanation for the misunderstandings which arise in society, in marriages and between nations.

This is why we call Supersensonics the new science of Radiational Paraphysics. Physics deals with the structure of matter and Paraphysics deals with the forces of the human mind which shape and perceive the subtle fields which surround and form matter into distinct patterns. Another name for the Paraphysical could be Pre-Physical matter. It is well known that energy or light radiations from the stars and sun impinge on the physical objects of the Earth planet and are converted into matter.

Matter according to standard science is just conserved energy which has become stabilised in a particular pattern. Supersensonics is that mode of operation which can sense these patterns of conserved energy in their pre-physical state. Many years ago it used to be called Radiesthesia, a term invented by a Roman Catholic priest, the Abbe Bouly who investigated the Biblical art of divining and found all the greatest prophets including Christ were diviners of information about the Cosmos. Since then it has been called Radionics when instruments are used for healing such as diseases of plants, humans and animals, or Dowsing when looking for waterwells.

The term "Supersensonics" was invented by Christopher Hills to cover the fields of Radiesthesia, Radionics, Para-psychology, and ordinary physics. A rational explanation of the operation of all these devices is set out in the book of that name in 1975 and a previous book called Nuclear Evolution published in 1968.

Because of the complex relationship between colours and the nature of human consciousness it is impossible to set out here a complete theory.

- 6 Therefore a testable hypothesis for the interaction of consciousness with the subtle radiations of the world of thoughts, emotions and physical matter is set out in the books "Supersensonics", $15.00, and Nuclear Evolution, $4.00, available from the publishers. (Write University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Ca. 95006 or request your bookseller to order.)

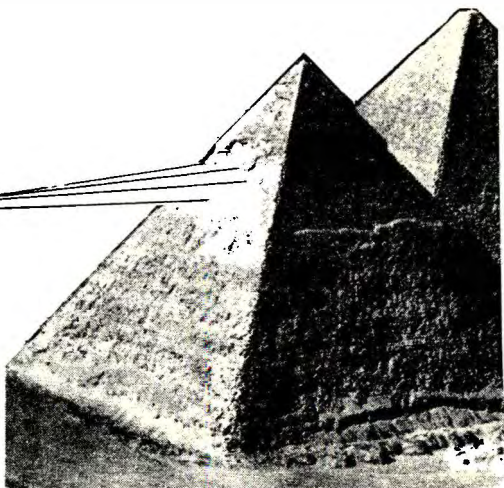

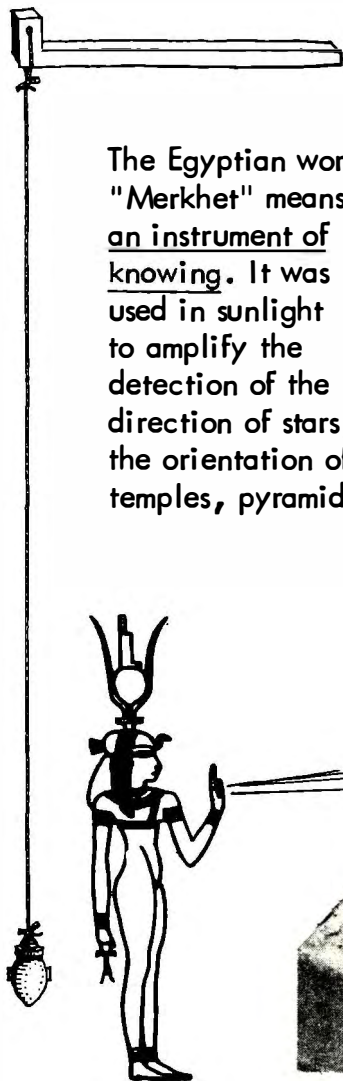

IMPORTANT USES OF SUPERSEASONIC FEEDBACK

Biofeedback operates by hooking up a machine to some part of your body which responds unconsciously to some mental signal from within. This biological response is then recorded by expensive electronic gadgets which flash a light or make a beep tone so you can know what you are doing with your mind or brain energy. But you can do all of this without any expensive gadget with a simple pendulum or divining rod which will give you a signal whenever your thought pattern is in tune with a particular physical condition such as a sample of blood, or a medicinal herb or even samples of oil, water, or minerals. As remarkable as this seems to those who have never tried to divine for water, the ancient Chinese, Egyptians, and sages all used this method of Biofeedback to ask questions about nature and human diseases.

The merkhet.

The Egyptian word "Merkhet" means an instrument of knowing. It was used in sunlight to amplify the detection of the direction of stars, the orientation of temples, pyramids and surveying the Nile lands after flooding. The god Thoth (Mercury) was in charge of the instrument through the various initiate priests. Illustration shows an actual Egyptian Merkhet.

A WORLDWIDE PHENOMENON

More recently in other countries notably France, in England and Russia, the Biophysical Feedback effect has even been used to invent better divining equipment and to study the diviner's reaction itself. As a result a whole group of selective devices have been designed, which puts divining within range of 80% of all who try for healing powers for the whole spectrum of human ailments from common cold to serious diseases of the body. In animals such infectious diseases as hoof and mouth disease to distemper and colic have been treated. In plants and crops the treatment and diagnosis of soils and the stimulating of nutrient uptake has been proved by many tests and controls. Only in America has there been a lagging behind because of a fierce condemnation and prosecution of radionic operators who attempt to practice medicine illegally. There is some justification for keeping out charlatans who prey on the gullibility of the general public and make all kinds of unproved claims.

WHO CAN DO IT?

Supersensonics is a do it yourself and prove it yourself operation. Take no notice of whatever anyone else says is the Supersensonic creed. Try it and if it works even with 80% reliability you have some remarkable tools which ordinary science has not got. It may work for you but not for your wife or children. It may work for a doctor and not for his nurse. It could defeat a physicist who believes only in his own methods and work admirably for the peasant who may have a much closer contact with nature's own radar systems. The volume by C.Hills "SUPERSENSONICS" contains both theory and practice of the functions of human wave-fields and gives details of how you can learn anything you want to know.

The methods of Radiesthesia, radionics, psychometry and clairvoyance have been used for thousands of years for finding lost articles or people. It is being used right now in oil field country for prospecting oil and minerals, as well as designing industrial equipment and selecting staff for banks, business, etc.

10 THE WONDER OF CONSCIOUSNESS

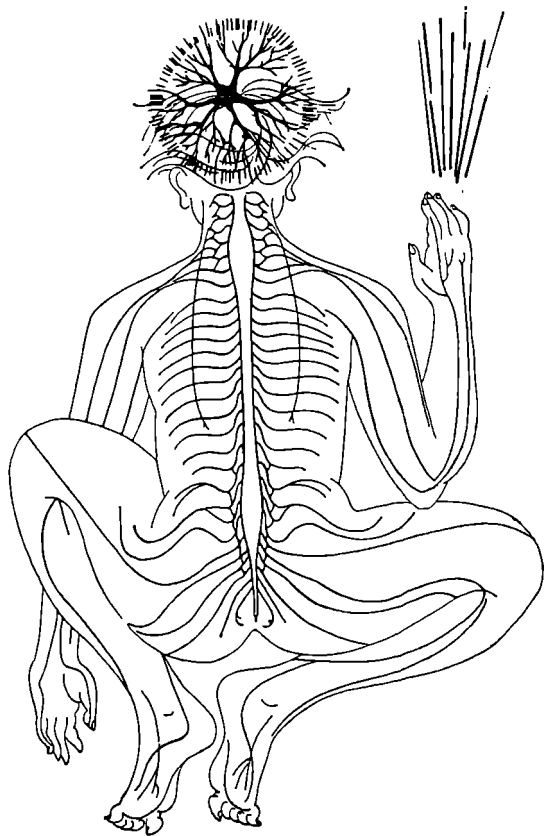

Supersensonics can be used for measuring the natural intelligence of any person or animal or intelligent system of cells, organs, molecules or atoms. Radionics has even treated a student's resistance to learning a particular subject or a teacher. One of the most remarkable aspects is that the thought energies involved in the transmission of consciousness from one place to another appear to function over distances between the operator and patient of many thousands of miles. Astronaut Edgar Mitchell even did it from the surface of the moon to three receivers here on Earth and is actively working at this moment to establish its scientific validity.

in new knowledge of nature's finer forces but are the forerunners of a whole new civilization which will eventually evolve a new form of wireless telegraphy. Communication between humans will eventually become so sophisticated when more Supersensonic research has been done that you personally will even know what plans the Russians are making with rockets. You will know ahead even before the drawings are made while they are yet thoughts in someone's head. Unfortunately the Russians will also know yours because they are already way ahead in research on what they call the "biophysical effect."

HOW CAN YOU MAKE A DEEP STUDY?

For those interested in electric and magnetic effects on human behaviour a whole volume has been published entitled "Dimensions of Electro-Vibratory Phenomena", price $10.00, published by the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Ca. 95006.

For those interested in vibrations, pyramids, ESP and sound vibration effects there is a whole Volume II entitled:

ENERGY, MATTER AND FORM, price $10.00, published, University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Ca. 95006.

For those interested in healing and the creative powers of colour and sound in practical sessions there are a large number of cassette tapes available on such subjects as "Spiritual Healing", "Divine Healing", "Absent Healing", "Etheric Healing" all of which use the psycho-energetic link with human consciousness in the three-way circuit between the operator, the patient, and the universal field. The connection between the endocrine glands and the different levels of healing are outlined in various tapes on the human levels of consciousness which vary from individual to individual.

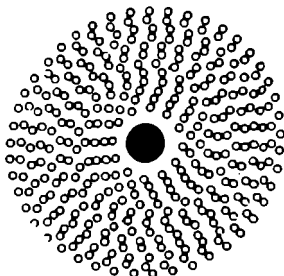

HOW DOES IT WORK?

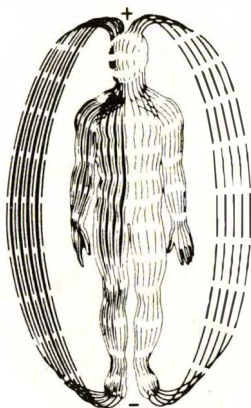

In Supersensonics or with all methods of divining, radiesthesia, radionics, clairvoyance, etc., only a witness is needed to represent the patient in the circuit. Edgar Cayce only needed a name and address written on a piece of paper. Using such witnesses Edgar Cayce was able to diagnose with a high percentage of accuracy from a source of information which would actually prescribe remedies for the patient. Making your own witnesses and arming your selective pendulums and divining rods with special witnesses, gives the ordinary person a fantastic tool for discovering what they wish to know about any person alive or dead.

Character studies and personality patterns can be studied and confirmed by conventional tests. Supersensonic leads on the suitability of certain remedies for their effect on humans, plants, and animals can be proved out by more rigorous conventional tests.

Rather than trial and error methods involving thousands of tests for different allergies, situations or chemicals, a direct pathway can be traced in any situation through all the side effects to the underlying cause of any problem.

THE HUMAN WAVE GUIDE

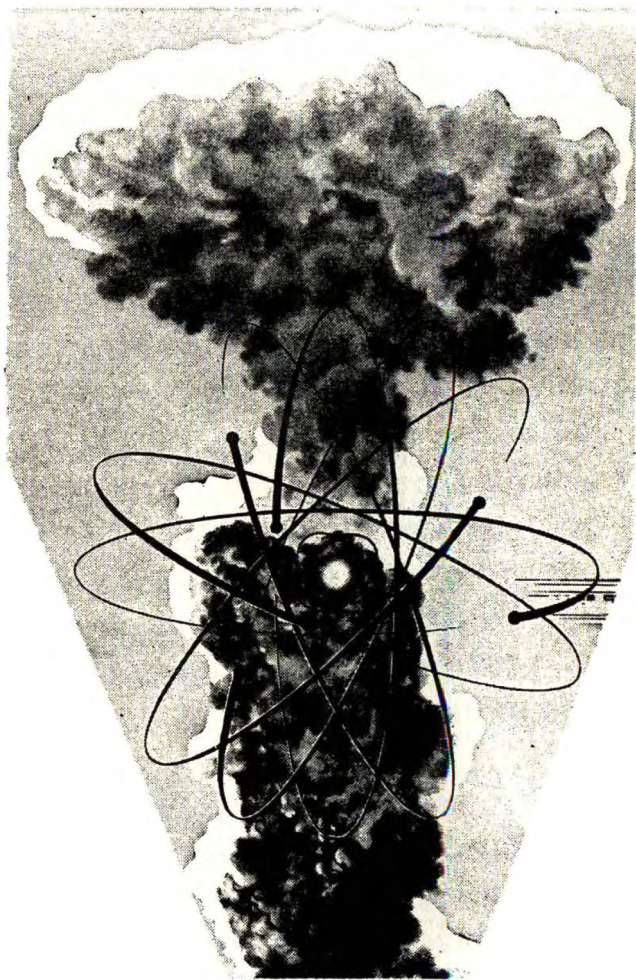

Every human is a wave field of energy being absorbed from the surrounding radiating forces of the Cosmos and light energies. The basic idea in Supersensonics is that each individual organism or piece of matter acts as a wave guide which then manifests certain geometrical proportions, exhibits a particular frequency of vibration and radiates an energy pattern with specific characteristics. This field of interlocking psychic electric forces exists around all objects whether they are living or inorganic. Humans emit a very complex wave field which is associated with the endocrine glands and certain centers called "chakras." These chakras (which means a wheel of spiralling energy in Sanskrit) act as carrier waves for polarising the thought energy causing the cosmic energy to ripple through the emotional, mental, and physical structures of the human body. The surrounding environment interacts with this sensitive antenna consisting of the nervous system and brain causing resonance. Through the use of Supersensonics we are able to tune in with a system or network of nodal points throughout the whole of space. The mind is capable of scanning this interlocking system and through Supersensonic selective devices capable of determining exactly how the human antenna is being influenced by invisible intangible worlds around us.

THE WORLD OF SPIRIT

For divination of the unseen worlds of the Spirit, many people have used OUIJA boards and mediums of varying reliability. However, everyone is a medium of some sort and if we use Supersensonic devices for contacting the supreme intelligence we can learn of existences which transcend human intelligence. Scientists 18 question the Supreme Intelligence and say there is no proof of the existence of God. However, if they applied the same axiom which applies in scientific researches, e.g. "There is no effect without a cause" to searching out the cause of whatever is not man made, then their own reason would furnish the answer to this question. The greatest scientists have had this humility and have been appalled at the arrogant posture of modern science. Einstein himself stood in awe of this Supreme Intelligence. Modern scientists only took from Einstein what they wanted and ignored what Einstein himself considered his most valuable contribution. The outcome of their folly and blindness is evidenced in the horrific dilemma of the world today. Man now has command of powers equally potent as destructive or constructive agents. Supersensonics presents the whole vision of direct perception and contact with the Supreme ONE Intelligence and returns mankind to the divine relationship of Adam and God who communicated direct. Anyone who now possesses this direct perception and communication cannot exploit nature or another without losing the gift which Adam originally had and lost.

IT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Past civilizations like the ancient Chinese, Egyptians and Sumerians have abused this gift and each has fallen until today the knowledge has been virtually lost to all but a few. The Bible is only one account of the fall of man's ingenuity in the Tower of Babel story in Genesis 11. Today we have built new towers of radio communication which invite the same confusion of tongues.

Those who believe in the ultimate supremacy of the Divine intelligence will find Supersensomics is the way to prove there is no effect without a cause. There must always be a first cause; as far as humans are concerned that cause is pure consciousness. Humans can only judge the power of intelligence by its works.

No human consciousness can create that which is produced by nature. Yet consciousness not only has power over human nature but the fate of the planet. Supersensomics can detect the outer limits of that human nature and its effects on the cause. Human consciousness is itself an effect of an intelligent cause and the greater the results achieved by humans, the greater must be the cause of which it is the effect. To know directly the will of this beneficent intelligence is the ultimate purpose of all divination. To use it for selfish purposes therefore is to invite loss of divining power.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT YOURSELF OR ANYONE ELSE

In the instructions on the use of the various instruments which follow you will find many ways of selecting your contact with the Supreme Intelligence in nature. Your practice will improve with your purity of consciousness. Your purity of consciousness will improve with your contact and your will and perseverance. Never believe that you are not a diviner for everyman and woman is ultimately divine.

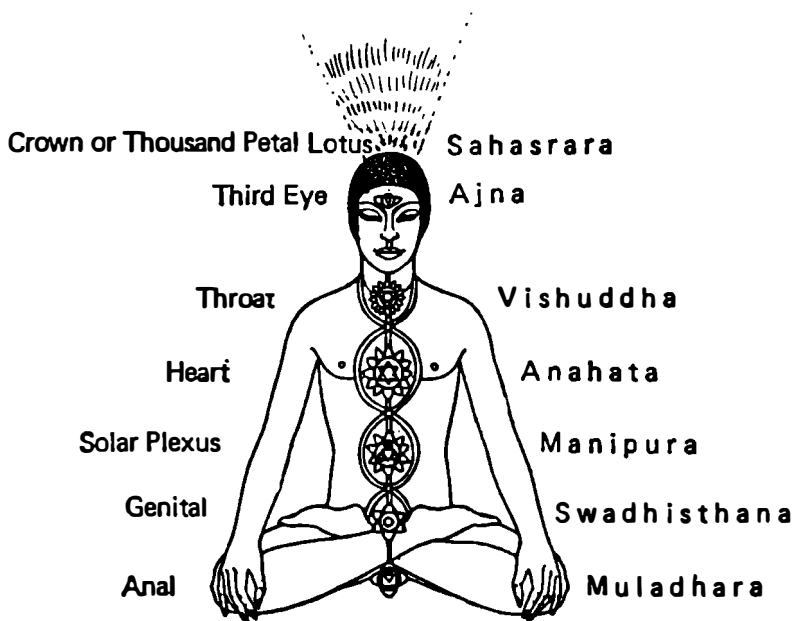

TUNING THE INSTRUMENTS

By means of tuning the thread length of the pendulum or by selecting the correct divining tools

22 such as rods, Hefigar, or rules, the Supersensonic operator is able to activate the coiled sleeping powers of consciousness called Kundalini which energizes and amplifies the nervous antenna and its hidden evolutionary sensing devices in the mind/brain. Kunda in Sanskrit means "to burn" so Kundalini means "a little fire." Remember this fire is the refiner's fire of consciousness so respect it as you would a nuclear reactor. It will enhance whatever is there in your mind which might be a problem. Remember it is always helping you - to be whatever you are. Therefore be sure to read your own thoughts before you read others '! Detailed instructions are given with each instrument and adjusting your thread length is described later in this book.

Human Chakra system acts as a wave-guide for cosmic rays and refracts them into levels of bio-electricity called Consciousness.

SELECTED FEEDBACK DEVICES

A witness can be made out of the material duplicate of the thing sought for or by a "representation" such as a photograph or pattern of its form. When Supersensonic feedback amplifiers are used, either to stimulate the field of the sample as with the Radium Block or to enhance the excitement of the human wave-guide as with a Hefigar, there is little need of thread length tuning because of the much stronger signals and reactions of the diviner's feedback signals.

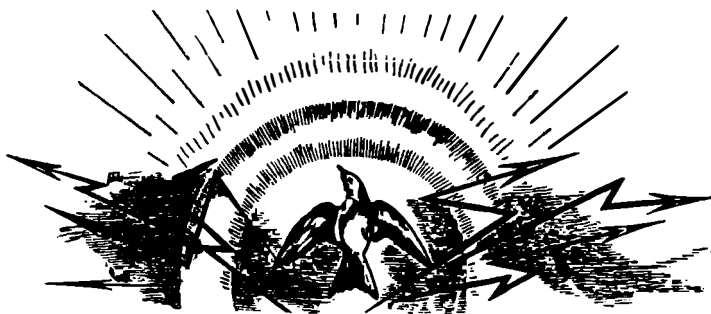

The neuro-muscular reactions causing the motion of the pendulum or diviner's rod have their exact counterpart in the electrical activity of the brain. Hence experienced diviners merely use the pendulum as a feedback device for tuning their brains to achieve "divine feedback" by setting up a mental picture of the thing sought. This sort of feedback divining training can be had at special seminars at the University of the Trees which specializes in training the human vehicle as a Supersensonic feedback device. This type of divining can be helped considerably by proper use of the amplifying pendulums and rods invented by Christopher Hills which are constructed on the principles of light and radio wave-guide propagation familiar to modern physicists. These feedback devices apparently hold the picture of the object sought in conceptual areas of the mind-stuff long enough for the corresponding pattern of wave-fields to interact. The tuning of these devices is based on the "laws of consciousness" the same way that physics is based on mathematical representations of operations depicting nature. Instead of a flashing light hooked up to an EEG brainwave unit which is rather primitive by comparison, these devices function as a link in exciting a stimulated oscillating circuit in which the operator learns to recognize his own feedback reactions to wave-fields in the surrounding environment. The degree of consciousness or kundalini powers involved in the perception determines the size of the flash of feedback we get back from the total mind which represents the total environment around us. Learning the practical tuning of the devices, such as pendulum and rod, is the real study of man and his divine feedback machine - his own body.

The diagram shows "The Cave of Bramha" at III referred to in the Sanskrit texts as the seat of resonance with the ONE ocean of cosmic vibrations. It manufactures the cerebro-spinal fluid in IV which floats the whole brain and spinal nerves. The chemical Ph of the fluid determines the resonance.

FOR BEST RESULTS . . .

Not only things have wave-fields but also thoughts, shapes, colors, feelings, places. For best results, avoid using this instrument in rooms where the vibrations of metal or of electrical equipment can interfere with results. As closed cavities inhibit response, open all closed drawers in the room. Do not practice radiesthesia in a room with bright colors unless your mind is trained enough to counteract their radiations. Use a table with a neutral cloth, either black or white or a green that is neither too blue nor too yellow. Better yet, go outside, as the sun's light is a natural amplifier for radiesthesia signals. Both doubts and wishful thinking interfere with results as do unconscious motives which break the three ancient laws of divining: it must not be done for gain (though if money comes as a by-product, that is fine); it must not be done for demonstration or to prove anything to doubters; it must not be used for reading the future. The feeling of rightness and wrongness and the prediction of future events is not arbitrary. It may be right to win at Reno or Monte Carlo one day and wrong another depending on your motive. It may be wrong for you to know the future in the cosmic sense of escaping your evolutionary lessons. These laws are realities because your proficiency in this science is in direct proportion to the purity of your own consciousness.

TUNING THE PENDULUM

The pendulum is tuned to your personal vibration by allowing the thread to slip very loosely through the thumb and the forefinger until the pendulum appears to come "alive" and rotate or oscillate. At this "alive" point, you make a knot in the thread because this is the string length suitable for you. Another person using the pendulum may find that resonance occurs at a different point of string length.

Do not use any pendulum as a sole source of information. The pendulum should be used to get leads which may save you a great deal of time, but you should always try to check them out by other methods as well. Infallibility rarely occurs, even in modern science, and you cannot expect infallible results from an instrument which is an extension of your own evolving consciousness.

The full range of "Supersensonics" biological feedback divining equipment is available from University of the Trees Press, P.O.Box 644, Boulder Creek, Calif. 95006. The theory and practice of using these instruments is fully described in Vol III of the series "The Supersensitive Life of Man" entitled "Supersensonics". (Price $15.00 plus 50¢ mailing and Sales Tax for California residents).

Anyone divining for underground water or minerals or a radiesthetist analyzing a chemical compound on his balance rule or wave-guide will obtain the diviners' reaction by amplifying the perception of field dimensions with specially selective instruments. The influences affecting a diviner can be amplified by rays of light, magnetic lines of force, proximity of a weak radioactive material, or an oscillator such as a metronome or watch or a radio frequency. Detection comes through ionization of the mitochondria in the cells and muscles of one's hand and the triggering of neural synapses of the sympathetic and parasympathetic nerves which can be sensed by the brain. The pendulum is the world's most ancient "feedback device." In ancient Egypt it was called a Merkheth which means an "instrument of knowing" and was used in astronomy and the accurate orientation of temples, pyramids, etc.

THREAD LENGTH

Since resonance is essential to amplification the tuning of the pendulum is most important. Tuning is accomplished by 1) correct thread length and 2) selection of the correct pendulum to suit the operator and mask the environmental influences. Determining the correct thread length and testing the polarity of the correct fingers aids sensitivity when using a suspended mass of suitable weight. The detection is automatic and is performed by the brain involuntarily by transmitting neuro-muscular movement by the operator to the diviner's pendulum. Any attempt to get the conscious mind in the act to influence the trajectory of the pendulum in a rotary movement or to and fro will invariably yield erroneous results. Using a pendulum without regard to its chemical composition or its color absorption value can affect the direction of the pendulum motion, therefore it is best to test the selective pendulum before use on each specific occasion.

TYPES OF SELECTORS

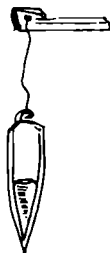

A glass mercury filled pendulum is good for measuring the mental intelligence I.Q. of a person from a photograph or physical witness, such as blood, or doing a character study. A Hills positive green pendulum is good for checking health foods, vitality, pyramid energy, and the presence of life-force or prana in objects, foods and persons. The left-hand mirror spiral is good for checking negative apana force of the psychic electricity which flows downwards instead of up to the radiomagnetic area of the mind. Negative emotions and other fields are around many people professing to be spiritual and psychic and this left-hand spiral can detect the phoney energy which will suck you into dependence rather than liberate you to freedom. There is a special aura pendulum which picks up the activity of the chakra functions and maps the flow of kundalini force through each psychic center. Another spectrum pendulum with a radioactive stimulator is used for atomic analysis of the chemical elements in the human body. Pendulum selection and tuning go hand in hand with thread length in achieving correct results.

Instructional seminars in the use of Supersensonics divining instruments can be organized in other locations on a franchise basis on request.

MERCURY PENDULUMS

The three mercury pendulums are tuned, by virtue of their vertical shape and the mercury inside them, to thought waves and intuitions. The glass handblown "Osiris" pendulum (@ $16.00), the custom made "Nefertiti" pendulum (@ $20.00), and the "Merkhet" (@ $12.50) are all good for intuitional radiesthesia such as detecting thought patterns and karmic memories. The instrument was called merkheth by the ancient Egyptians because merkheth means "instrument of knowing." The orientation of the stars, temples, and pyramids were accurately divined by the use of this pendulum which they found could answer any question through mental questioning. They believed that the answer came from the god Thoth, which is the equivalent of the Greek god Hermes or the Roman god Mercury: the principle who governed messages of the mind.

These pendulums can be used for divining the I.Q. of a person from a photograph or physical witness and can also be used for divining the intelligence of animals. All can detect thought patterns and karmic memories. You could ask who you were in a past life or you could investigate your karma as it is working in the present moment, for example what sort of karma you are getting with the people you are associating with. Ask, "If I lie close to a certain person do I absorb some of their negative karma in my own self? By associating sexually with this person, do I absorb any of their karma?" There is a tainting of the vibration through a co-mingling which is not often understood. The sexual energies are very potent forces and we can't know what it means to us unless we have some extra way of sensing what it does to us permanently to cohabit with a person who, however exciting, may not be suitable to our spiritual path. By using mercury pendulums we can find out if a relationship is beneficial or harmful. For more information on the blending of wave-fields, read volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. THE SCIENCE OF RADIATIONAL PARAPHYSICS

THREE TYPES OF COLOR PENDULUMS

Every object radiates in some part of the spectrum. If you want to know whether something is suited to your individual vibration, a food for example, first set the cursor of the pendulum on green for a neutral reading. This setting makes the pendulum an ordinary non-selective instrument, whereas if you set the cursor on another color, the pendulum becomes selective of that color's frequency. Ask with each color in turn whether its frequency is in resonance with your own vibration. After you determine what your color vibration is, then set the cursor on that color and ask if the sample (food or medicine or whatever it is) is good for you. If you resonate with two colors, ask the questions with the cursor set on first one and then the other color. Use these spectrum pendulums with the Turenne rule to find out which chakras are open. Set the cursor on green and go up the rule to see what reactions you get from different parts of the spectrum. Then set the cursor on each color and go up the rule again to confirm the first set of reactions.

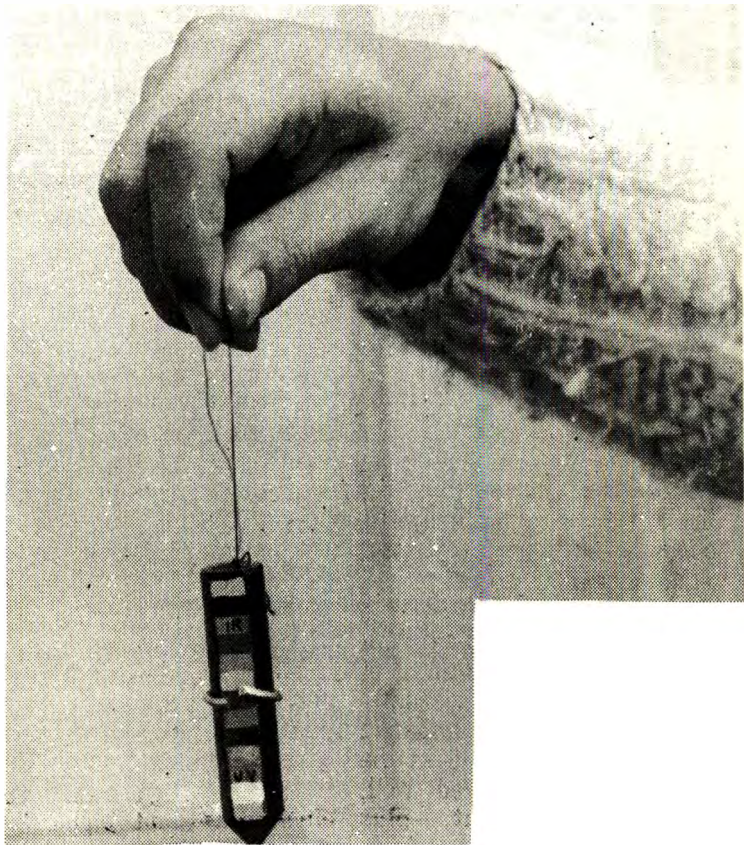

Having learned (with or without the Turenne rule) which of your chakras or endocrine centers are relatively open and closed, you can use the spectrum pendulums to charge with energy those centers which are lacking. Set the cursor on the color which corresponds to each lacking chakra and rotate the pendulum clockwise over the chakra which is not functioning. If the energies of that center are manifesting negatively, this clockwise rotation of the pendulum over the chakra will set the energy spiraling in the correct direction, which in turn will affect your personality manifestation. For further information on the chakras, read Nuclear Evolution @ $4.00 in conjunction with volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics (608 pages) @ $15.00, both available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA 95006. All the spectrum pendulums were designed by Christopher Hills.

THE AURA PENDULUM

The wooden aura pendulum is black because black absorbs light from the human emanations. By setting the cursor to a color, you can determine what the psychic atmosphere of the person is. There is no need for extra amplifiers in an aura pendulum because the diviner is already unconsciously sensitive to auras. People who are not psychic at all get funny feelings about certain people. They pick up vibrations and they often don't know why they don't like a certain person.

The other spectrum pendulums can also read auras but the aura pendulum is less expensive. One limitation of the aura pendulum is that colors vibrate in different octaves. The more amplified pendulums will pick up the atomic octave, the molecular octave, the cell octave, the organ octave, and the body octave. The aura pendulum will pick up any one of these and you won't know which it is. Nevertheless, a sensitive diviner can use almost any instrument, including his own fingertips, and get accurate results. However the aura pendulum is an aid even professionals use because it makes the task easier to pin-point exactly what color level a person functions on. Price $6.00.

Psychic powers?

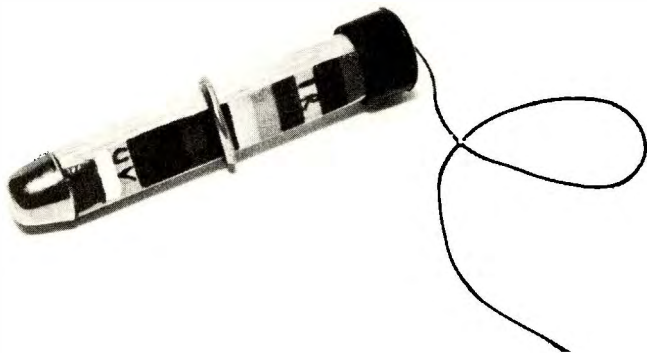

This pendulum was also used by Christopher Hills in finding the robbery loot from Johnnie's Market. Sheriff's deputies, with the help of Boulder Creek residents, searched for several hours but couldn't find the loot. Hills found it in five minutes.

THE SPECTRUM PENDULUM

The wooden spectrum pendulum has a cavity armed with tritium for amplification. Some people get an enhanced effect by using wood tools and some by using polymer plastics, and some by using metal rods or pendulums with metal chain threads on them. What suits one person doesn't suit another. You have to find out which is best for you. It is important for beginners to know that if they don't get results, it does not mean that they are not a diviner. It may mean that they have the wrong tool for the right job or the right tool for the wrong job.

The spectrum pendulum is good for analyzing chemicals, ores, foodstuffs, finding out whether they suit you, or establishing how many of the 44 elements which should be in your body are lacking or are in excess. This pendulum can be used with the Turenne rule if you want more exacting information, putting foods on the end of the rule, testing them to see if they suit your unique biochemistry. You can determine whether you have an allergy and what it is that you are allergic to.

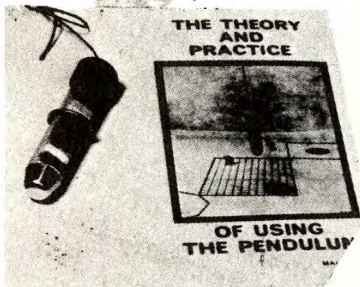

This pendulum is doubly amplified - first by the tritium inside it and second by the selective power of its spectrum. Price $18.00.

PENDULUM

THE SPECTRUM MIRROR PENDULUM

The mirror surface of the spectrum mirror pendulum reflects back all unwanted environmental effects such as colors from curtains or electrical forces which are not according to where the cursor is set on the spectrum. In other words, it cuts down interference.

The spectrum mirror pendulum is especially good for use with the Turenne rule because it contains radium and the rule is marked at resonance points which are excited by the field of radium. The radium amplifies the colors of the spectrum and when the cursor is set at one point, it makes a highly selective pendulum, selecting only those vibrations which are in that band of the spectrum, reflecting back any others.

The spectrum mirror pendulum is triply amplified. It is armed with radium in its cavity. Its mirror surface reflects off any unwanted waves from the selective power of its spectrum, including negative thoughts and horizontal waves. We use it mainly to measure vertical waves, and its vertical shape is the third amplifier. The mirror-coated wave-guide focusses the radio-active stimulation and fires it out the pointed end, connecting with the earth's magnetic field. It thus becomes an extended and vastly powerful pendulum. Price $18.00.

THE TURENNE MAGNET-FITTED PENDULUM

This pendulum was specially originated to take the place of divining rods which appeared to come alive in the user's hands in the well-known water divining effect. By orientating magnets on a pendulum to give more exact tuning to the wave-fields around all objects, one achieves a very strong response. Turenne's design is an all purpose pendulum which can be used either as an ordinary wooden bob by detaching the swivel magnets or as a highly selective device for detection of vertical waves, horizontal waves, East-west flow in the environment (so beneficial to health), symmetry or mirror images, invisible ultra colors, and ultra sounds. The Turenne pendulum is a Rolls-Royce pendulum. You can get by with a simpler pendulum but this one has a wide range of selectivity (see diagrams) and is especially suited for use with the Turenne rule for detecting atomic and chemical substances.

For reading whether your own or someone else's thought or insight is correct, the magnets should be placed in a vertical positive position as shown. For learning about the chemical or emotional state of a person's reactions, the magnets should be set horizontally, with the poles parallel together. If you find you are reacting to a person, you can use this pendulum to ask, "Is this person's chemistry good for me? Should I get closer or keep a distance? Does this person have a karmic relationship with me that I have to work out with him?" The pendulum is good for learning to what extent our thoughts are colored by emotions.

The environment is full of ionizing radiations from matter and from the air itself, imparted by trees, plants, and the action of sunlight upon rocks, etc. To detect whether you are emotionally affected by such a zone and whether negative ions are present, test with both vertical and horizontal needles to see whether the effect is electrical (vertical) or magnetic (horizontal). The value of negative ions through their interaction with human membranes, is fully described in Volumes I and III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series. A full description of the theory and practice of using divining instruments is found in Volume III, "Supersensoni cs" at $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Calif. 95006. The Turenne Pendulum is priced at $20.00.

THE SCIENCE OF RADIATIONAL PARAPHYSICS

SPIRAL COIL IN MAGNETIC DISC

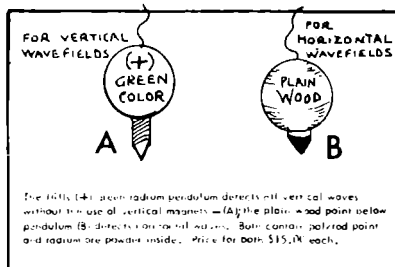

This tool is specially designed to detect a righthand or a lefthand spiral in a magnetic field. The circular ceramic magnet has a north pole on one side and a south pole on the other with a spiral wire inserted between them which conducts forces to the left or right depending on the twist given to the coil. The coil makes the pendulum selective. By changing the position of the string, the spiral can be either horizontal or vertical and can then detect horizontal or vertical forces.

The magnetic coil pendulum is sensitively tuned to the electrical magnetic flux in all matter, so it is specially designed to detect forces in the environment around us, whether electrical current in a copper wire or electrical current in water pipes or running streams. With this pendulum you can detect electrical wiring hidden inside walls, though normally electricity interferes with pendulum results. Many objects get charged with electricity and you can test anything from phonograph records to apples and fingers to get acquainted with your vibratory environment and its effects on you.

Each class of pendulum is designed to detect different kinds of emanations or influences to which the human being is susceptible. Water tables under the ground, underneath bedrooms and living rooms, emanate subtle negative and positive fields which may or may not affect your health. You can use the spiral coil pendulum to learn whether these emanations from streams running underground are injurious to your health. You can determine whether to leave the bedroom or house locality you live in because of negative fields from water tables which, in some people, cause rheumatism and other ailments. Further information concerning the effects of positive and negative magnetic fields on human beings can be found in Volume I of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series - Dimensions of Electro-Vibratory Phenomena at $10.00 from University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, California 95006.

To determine whether you are over a water table, use a spiral coil pendulum in which the coil is wound to the left. Hold it with the spiral coil vertical over the area you want to know about and ask "is this a righthand (positive) spiral field or a lefthand (negative) spiral field? The pendulum with a lefthand spiral in the coil will rotate to the left if it is over a lefthand field. Water is "vertical negative" but each thing in nature differs in electrical potentials and you use the right-hand coil in addition to the lefthand coil to determine which is the case.

When a pendulum is tuned to a specific field, it appears to come "alive". This phenomenon is accentuated when you use two separate spiral coil pendulums, one whose coil is wound to the right and another with its coil wound to the left. If you use the righthand pendulum and it comes "alive", then you know you have a righthand field. Price $10.00 each.

- A) THE HILLS POSITIVE GREEN PENDULUM
- B) THE PLAIN WOOD PENDULUM

A) The Hills Positive Green Pendulum:

The Hills positive green pendulum detects all vertical waves, both positive and negative, without the use of vertical magnets. Because of the long polyrod point, energy is sent out of the center of this pendulum which contains radioactive powder. The positive green energy to which this pendulum is tuned is exactly the same positive life-giving energy which comes off the top of the capstone of a pyramid.

When rotated anti-clockwise, the positive green pendulum generates the opposite force, called negative green energy. Negative green is the energy which sharpens razor blades in the pyramids and is capable of dehydrating both organic and inorganic objects, including the human body. This energy is present beneath the pyramid, while positive green energy comes upward from the top of the pyramid. With this pendulum you can learn when positive green is coming from something (for example, most plants until the sun goes over the horizon). Healthy things emanate positive green; cancerous things give off negative green.

For detecting the electrical vertical waves or the amount of life-force in anything (in foods, for instance), it is best to use the positive green pendulum. For charging up objects with life-force or prana, rotate the pendulum in a righthand direction over the object.

The effect of holding the pendulum in one of the hands can be felt even in the other hand as a tingling sensation by those who empty their minds of preconceived thoughts. After putting down the pendulum, the two hands can be compared and one will be found to be full of life-force as if it were puffed up with impregnated energy. To increase this phenomenon, the pendulum can be rotated to the righthand direction over each hand. The pendulum itself will determine when the correct amount of energy has been absorbed. To continue deliberately to absorb past when the pendulum has stopped is injurious and represents an overdose of beneficial energy.

B) The Plain Wood Pendulum:

The plain wood point-below pendulum also contains a polyrod point and radium ore powder but the point is shorter and the positive green color is absent thereby making this pendulum selective only to horizontal fields, corresponding to the emotional and chemical secretions of the endocrine system.

When detecting the emotional states of a person or desiring to change the mood of a person, one uses the plain wood point-below radioactive pendulum. First you detect which mood it is by asking questions, either running through a list of principle moods in your mind or writing them on cards as "word witnesses." Start the pendulum oscillating to and fro, then let it decide the answer by changing the oscillation into a gyration. If you tune into anger and the pendulum produces a lefthand swing, then you can remove the mood by rotating the pendulum to the right. To charge oneself with the opposite mood, one rotates the pendulum in the opposite direction to the way it was gyrating when the mood was detected.

In the same way, the green pendulum can be used to diagnose parts of your body that are not functioning at optimum condition. Point to each part or ask questions about that part and the rotation of the pendulum will show if that portion is ailing. Then rotate the pendulum in the opposite direction over the part to re-charge it. The kind of energy supplied by the positive green pendulum is different from the orgone energy supplied by the spiral coil pendulum.

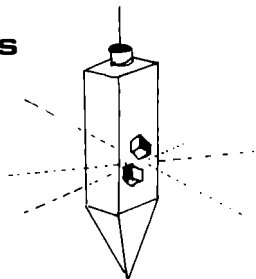

Although you use the plain wood pendulum to detect emotional states and change them, you would use the positive green pendulum to change your spiritual condition. The two levels of being work together but are completely separate levels of consciousness. Chemical and emotional love is not spiritual love. To determine the difference, use these two pendulums to tell you what is happening inside your own being or the being of another.

You do not need the physical presence of a person with the positive green pendulum. The color harmonic of positive green contacts the thought world of that person wherever he is, provided there is a witness such as a photograph or a bloodspot. With the plain wood pendulum, the physical presence is preferable although not essential to the trained diviner. For further information on the principles and use of these instruments, read Volume III in "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, California 95006.

The Positive Green Pendulum was designed by Christopher Hills. Both are permanently charged amplified pendulums and give better results than ordinary black or white bobs. Price for each $15.00. Please include 50¢ per item for mailing and handling charges.

ELECTRIFIED PENDULUM

The electrified pendulum is very special in that it is constantly electrified, always excited by a natural electrical field. Armed with a special element in its cavity, the pendulum is stimulated by a constant flow of electrical forces which never ceases. This electrification acts as a detector of all sources of electrical vertical wave-fields, for instance in detecting faulty wire in your motor car or tuning the timing of the engine. By rotating the distributor of your car and holding the pendulum at the same time, you can pick the exact optimum timing without the aid of any automotive diagnostic equipment. The pendulum is good for any electrical tuning. You can even tune in your radio or TV before the set is turned on, tuning into the radio wave in your mind. This pendulum is not just for people who understand all about electricity. If you have a short in your motor car and call in a mechanic, he will have to test everything to find out what the trouble is. You can do it without knowing anything at all. The green dielectric rod intensifies the diviner's reaction, which will give you confidence in your response.

The pendulum can also be used for organic electricity such as measuring the electrical potential of an apple. Break the skin by slicing with a knife and you will find its life-force dissipates the charge. The pendulum will show you that biting on apple means that the vital force goes into you whereas cutting on apple leaks it into the environment. The quality of apples can be tested by the size of the electrical potential revealed in the swing of the pendulum.

Everything in nature is polarized electrically including the human body and human emotions. You can therefore use this unique pendulum for finding out whether a person is tuned or not, attuned to an apple, to a love affair, finding out whether another person's electricity is suited to one's own. You can use it to tune your own vital force and find out when it is at a maximum and when it is not. When it is not, then you can change whatever habits are diminishing it.

This pendulum can also be used in sexual matters. If your husband prefers tennis to you-know-what, then do a reading to see which cylinders he's firing on. He may need an electrical charge by rotating it over the part in question in a clockwise motion (or anti-clockwise if he has the opposite problem).

This pendulum can act as a double check (though not the sole test) to determine your ovulation period or the ovulation period of your girlfriend. It can determine the sex of a forthcoming baby. It can help you to know if you are pregnant (though again, it is not an infallible test because it depends on the state of your own consciousness). And the pendulum can tell you exactly when to expect your menstrual period, because the electrical potentials are different in all these cases.

Sexing eggs or babies must be done in sunlight.

The electrified pendulum detects horizontal and vertical fields and also the East-West field so beneficial to health.

For more information on the energies detected by this pendulum, read Volume III of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series called Supersensomics, at $15.00 (608 pages) also available at University of the Trees Press.

BLACK SPHERE AND WHITE SPHERE PENDULUMS

The thought world and the emotional world are two entirely different planes of consciousness. White sphere pendulums respond to thought energies, conceptualizations and the like, whereas black sphere pendulums respond to chemical, emotional, sexual rushes, gut feelings. Black and white work together as complementaries rather than opposites. They can be used to detect whether a person or an object is attuned to the vertical (electrical, thought) mode or to the horizontal (magnetic, chemical, feeling) mode.

Black pendulums react through rotation, clockwise or anti-clockwise to the horizontal magnetic field. The white pendulum will oscillate to and fro in a vertical field but will rotate clockwise or anticlockwise in the presence of emotional horizontal field energies, but white detects the opposite phase of any reading given by the black sphere.

The design of the common black sphere as well as the white sphere which detects the opposite phase vibrations from the black sphere, is especially useful for creating a non-selective standard to which you can compare the selective pendulums for their differences. The black sphere gives readings as a standard reference when used with a simple pocket magnetic compass which reveals the earth's magnetic field. In other words, its reading is a neutral reference point with which you can compare what the other more selective pendulums are detecting. Price for black sphere $7.50; for white sphere $8.75.

THE PENDULUM CUBE

THE RADIOACTIVE
TRITIUM FILLED ACRYLIC BLOCK

All people and all things have vibrations as do colors and even the shape or form of an object. The vibration from the shape of a square usually has a dampening effect on the subtle radiations received by the diviner. However, by taking the corners off a square or by drawing diagonals from corner to corner, the rectangular form becomes selective and "olive" and is then particularly suitable for detection of those crystals in Nature having a rectangular or cubic structure.

By artificially amplifying the vibrational field with Tritium, the diviner's reaction is intensified. For checking the salt content of any article or for dowsing the balance between a food or remedy and the particular biophysical needs of a person, this pendulum is ideal for beginners and easy to carry around when visiting health stores, supermarkets, etc. The pendulum can be used as a general instrument of detection. SILVER MIRROR PILLAR

The silver mirror pillar is a cavity pendulum which means it is sensitive to cavities. Many underground streams are running through cavities in the rock and produce the vibration of cavity along with the electrical vertical negative waves. If one is testing a sample on a table top and there is a drawer underneath the table, the pendulum will pick up this cavity. The silvered outside of the pendulum is designed to reflect any unwanted vibrations other than the cavity or the electrical negative vertical waves.

There are cavities in the brain, so you can use this pendulum for tracing electrical signals on a map of the brain, tracing the pathways through the medulla and through the nervous system. By the pendulum response, you can find blockages where nervous tissue has decomposed or the electrical component is not functioning. This pendulum is sensitive to whether a group of cells is firing electrically, whether they are negative or positive, and how healthy they are. Go through the map and when you find a weak spot, the pendulum will rotate to the left. Send energy to that weak spot in your body by rotating the pendulum to the right over that spot on the map and mentally projecting the energy into that center. Many people suffer from inflamed nerves, up-tight and tense nerves which completely destroy nature's real vibration. So if you were feeling tension in your shoulders, for example, you would ask about those cells and find out where the tension was really being produced. By the size of the swing, you can determine the degree of healthiness of the cells. For further information on radiesthetic methods, see Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Equator Boxwood

EQUATOR PENDULUM

This pendulum is a highly selective bob of wood because the black band around its equator sensitizes it to horizontal magnetic fields. It is the poor man's version of the Turenne pendulum, tuned to the horizontal magnetic plane. Needing no magnets, it can tune into the emotional and chemical worlds within the human organism and in plant life and can determine what is the exchange of emotional energy between plants and humans, also between human and human. Whether these are positive or negative emotions is important to living a peaceful life.

The equator pendulum was designed for those without the pocket for a Rolls-Royce pendulum like the Turenne Magnet-fitted Pendulum. Vertical waves are thought waves, but emotions are not thoughts. Emotions are chemically based - based on the shunting up and down of the electrical forces in the nervous system and the endocrine system and the coupling between them. The coupling between these two is a chemical reaction in the secretion of hormones and determines the type of personality one has. These hormones are triggered by thought fields, though they are themselves not thoughts but chemically and magnetically based.

You can use the equator pendulum to find out whether your emotions are interfering with your thoughts. Most people are not cool-headed even when they think they are. They are usually shutting off another part of their being which is still going on. Intellectuals often seem unemotional but some of them are so emotional about their intellectual thoughts, they don't even think certain thoughts. They sweep them under the carpet very readily in the form of rejecting certain types of evidence. You can use this pendulum to find out if such a person really does live entirely in his head, which could be growth producing if you are one of them yourself. Price $7.00

LEFTHAND SPIRAL MIRROR PILLAR

The design of this instrument is specially originated to pick up thought energies which are inclined to go downwards. A special feature of this pendulum tunes it to negative energies of all kinds and the mirrored surface reflects off any unwanted extraneous vibrations which interfere with this lefthand energy. Most people are tuned to negative energies, including many spiritual people who are supposed to be highly evolved beings. Negative emotion and other negative fields surround many people professing to be spiritual and psychic but who have not worked on themselves to the extent they would like you to believe. This pendulum can detect the phony energy which will suck you into depending on them rather than liberating you to freedom. In determining, from a photograph or a person's signature or a witness such as a spot of blood or hair, whether to get more involved, you can save much time. To estimate negativity in people, take a picture of Einstein and one of Hitler. Count the number of positive or negative pendulum swings over each and plot a graph with Hitler as 100% negative and Einstein 100% positive.

The pendulum is also useful for examining whether objects emanate negative fields which interact with our own nervous system and cause harmful reactions. For instance, many people believe that the downward thrust of pyramid forces are creative and healing. The lefthand spiral mirror flow will tell you otherwise, but it will not pick up the life-giving righthand Pi-ray force imprisoned within the lefthand negative green force, because this pendulum is specially tuned to the negative green which is another name for the downward spiraling force of creation which is causing every object in nature to eliminate waste toxins from its body.

With this pendulum you can not only tell if a house you are about to buy has negative vibrations from its previous tenants, you can also use the pendulum to remove those vibrations. After detecting their presence, imprisoned in the walls, take the lefthand spiral mirror pillar and deliberately rotate it to the right. You must do it a special way so as not to imbibe the vibrations yourself from the environment but to transfer them into a glass of water. If you are rotating the pendulum with your right hand, put a lefthand finger in a glass of water. This extracts the negative force from the walls and impregnates it into the water; then the water is thrown away at a far distance. You are projecting the noxious vibrations into the water by the force of nature's own excretion and elimination power.

SPIRAL COIL PENDULUM

The spiral coil pendulum generates the energy which Wilhelm Reich called "orgone". It is possible to charge a pebble or some other object with orgone energy merely by holding it between two hands to complete the circuit. However, by rotating a spiral pendulum and willing the energy to go through the human nervous system, the coil acts as a conveyor of orgone in a much more powerful way. The operator holds the pendulum over the object and rotates the righthand coil in a rightward gyration so that his own vital force is conducted into the object. When lefthand flux is conducted, the lefthand spiral is used.

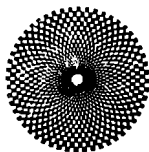

The negative coil is used for treating weeds and reducing their energy rates. Comparison with a control group of non-treated weeds will show that the treated weeds pick up the energy and do not thrive near such stones. You could use a whole batch of stones for this purpose. Conversely, the right hand coil can be used to produce bigger root systems for tomatoes and other plants by watering them with water charged by the coil pendulum.

Orgone can be used as a carrier wave for broadcasting beneficial radiations to plants across even distances of 100 yards along the eye beam. It is possible to receive the influence from a cosmically charged pebble five or six miles away. Such a charged pebble can counteract radioactive emanations pervading the atmosphere by repelling the particles. These stones can also be placed in a hospital bedroom or kept in one's pocket to produce beneficent cosmic energies. A ring or any object can be charged in this way. When charging it is best to place the stone on a metal plate, preferably copper.

If you would like to own a permanently charged stone, which renews its charge with use, you can send for one that has been charged by a special technique at the University of the Trees. Specify size up to 1 1/2" and send $1.95 plus 6% sales tax and 50¢ for mailing and handling.

Spider Pendulum

With the points horizontal, this pendulum is selective of horizontal waves and excludes vertical waves. The reverse is true when the points are turned vertical. Horizontal fields are the emanations of "things", whereas thoughts are vertical fields. The spider pendulum is an experimental pendulum for testing the nature of horizontal and vertical wave-fields, clockwise and anticlockwise vibrations, and East-West flow. Some people are poisoning themselves with their choice of environment so it is important to know what your environment is doing. If you ask the question, "is this particular vibration good for me?" gradually you get to know whether positive-negative is good for you or vertical-horizontal or horizontal-vertical or East-West flow or whatever. In other words, you tune into yourself with regard to the environment. The spider pendulum contains inside it as a witness silicon, the most common element on the earth, which means that this pendulum is attuned to almost everything but selects only the horizontal or vertical component.

Nature has rotating field forces that are independent of the operator's nervous system. The spider pendulum is popular because it shows very clearly that gyration has nothing to do with what you do with your reflexes. You know that there is something independent of your own will that is determining that when the points are up it goes one way and when the points are down it goes another. By changing the points up and down over various colors, you can detect the different reactions which this pendulum and the nervous system which is moving it has over different substances. For instance, with all the points down, the color red gives a clockwise gyration. If the points are turned upward, the pendulum rotates anticlockwise. If one wire, (that is, two points) are up and the other two points down, then the East-West flow is detected in the horizontal field of a sample. This means that within 8" of the sample, there is a field of energy flowing from East to West around the object, induced by the earth's own field. In addition to the subtle electrical and magnetic energies, the object is absorbing or emitting this East-West energy which has so powerful an effect on human life. Your vitality or life-force is dependent on your being close to an environment which is not being robbed of its East-West Flux by noxious objects or people. You may experience an energy drain in the presence of certain people and not realize that they are the cause. You don't want to be near anything which sucks your energy off. For further information on these all-important energy movements, read Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, California 95006.

This pendulum is also good for checking out the spiral fields given off by objects which are surrounded by interfering colors such as brilliant carpets and curtains, powerful electric lights in different parts of the room, TV sets playing, all of which have an interfering effect on normal types of pendulums.

The pendulum is also unique in that it can detect whether there are vertical waves closer than 8" from a sample. This could apply to textiles worn next to the body or to the color of clothing you should wear.

THE RIGHTHAND UPWARD FLOWING SPIRITUAL PENDULUM

The righthand spiral spiritual pendulum detects the opposite force to the lefthand mirror pillar pendulum. Nature has many spirals from the heart of the daisy and sunflower to the calcification of certain sea shells. It is very difficult for man to make or even calculate the exact spirals to be found in nature. Most of man's mathematical knowlege is representations, whereas God or Nature provides us with a blueprint for these energies. Some of Nature's spirals turn lefthanded and some turn to the right, and the biological currents of kundalini and consciousness follow the same pattern of the upward and downward spiral. The spiral's connection to the endocrine system and the cerebro-spinal nervous system have never been explained. Nevertheless, by using one of Nature's own spirals, which enhance the projective biological current of psycho-physical energy, the detection of the upward flowing fields through the chakra system can be determined. The chakras or wheels of psycho-physical electricity act as psychic flood control gates which allow you to dream or stop you from dreaming. They determine the quality of your consciousness and the way you perceive the material world and its appearances.

Volume III of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, (608 pages @ $15.00, available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA 95006) shows how to use this God-made instrument made out of a righthand spiral seashell for detection of the positive projective forces.

The righthand spiritual pendulum will detect whether our consciousness is moved upwards or downwards in vibration by someone who moves us greatly. Before marrying someone, you can test if that person is really good for you in all aspects of your being. The righthand spiritual pendulum can determine the quality of our relationships with other people and with the environment around us, whether the field forces such as sunlight are good for us. Certain types of lighting from mercury vapor are injurious. Certain types are beneficial, such as xenon and argon and helium light.

Spiral energies occur in plant life such as the simple poppy, which contains not only morphine but heroin which causes loss of ordinary consciousness. The right-hand spiritual pendulum can tell you whether this pattern of psycho-physical electricity responding to the structure and form of certain plants or foods disturbs your consciousness. Many substances in nature, unknown to science, provide mild psychedelic effects on the human brain and nervous system. It is known that morning glory seeds contain LSD but many other herbs and vegetation contain similar triggers of chemicals which exist already in the human brain. It may be quite unnecessary to take LSD since we can turn on our own juices by understanding them more fully. With the righthand spiritual pendulum, you can test the quality or the beneficial alkaloid content of certain plants such as marijuana and find out if they are spiritually good for you. Price $20.00. This instrument was designed by Christopher Hills and is copyrighted under the trade mark, "Supersensomics", 1975

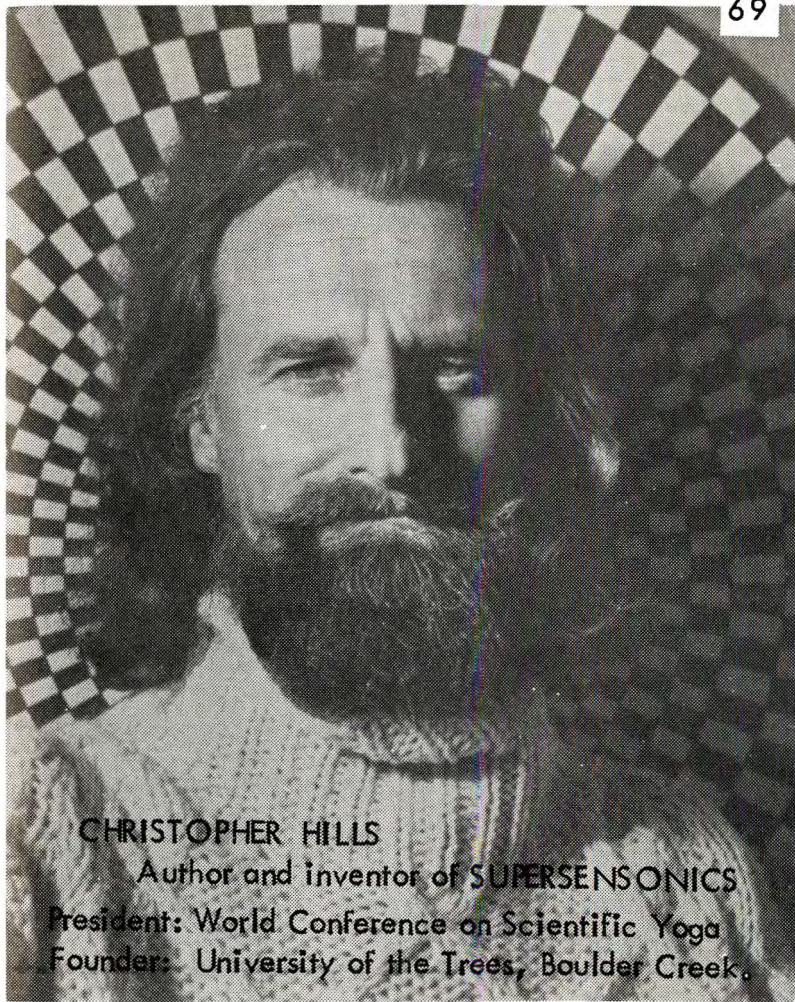

TURENNE DISC

The Turenne disc reveals the forty-four elements of nature which are present in the human body. If any one of these elements is missing in the human body, imbalance will result and show on the disc. Also it is possible to determine whether these elements are in excess in the body, causing ill health. By asking a question over aluminum, "is this element in excess?" you can determine whether you are absorbing toxic substances from the environment. For example, Christopher Hills was visited by a potter who had had migraine headaches for ten years and no medical authority had been able to help. The test with the disc revealed lead poisoning. Lead is one of the elements used in potters' glazes and somehow she had absorbed the vibration. Once she removed the lead, a ten year allergy was eliminated.

A chemical element can trigger endocrine imbalance which in turn changes personality. To discover a missing chemical or a chemical in excess to which the person is sensitive can mean immediate personality change. It is possible, for example, that one person who cannot eliminate fluoride accumulates the fluoride we put in water in his body as a poison. Fluoride poisoning and aluminum poisoning may only occur in 2 - 3% of the population. Do we poison those people for the sake of healthy teeth in others? The Turenne Disc can help you find out if you are one of those people.

The Turenne disc is an adjunct of the Turenne rule. The rule will give you the length of wave-fields; the disc will give you the angle. Molecules of matter are formed from crystals whose wave-fields can be measured on the Turenne rule. When they are in their proper position on the rule, the reaction of the pendulum suppresses the normal field of the rule. This same phenomenon for analyzing chemical elements of a sample can be used by the Turenne disc which changes the phase by addition of a radium source so that instead of the crystals emanating their wave-fields in a linear fashion along the rule, they become angles. Matter manifests at critical angles and the angle of rotation of a crystal element reveals its make-up. The Turenne disc is designed to determine through the pendulum reaction what is present in a sample. The principle by which it works is color harmony. Each chemical compound has a corresponding color sympathy which is revealed by the angle at which the pendulum oscillates over the center of the disc when a sample is placed at the center. A full explanation including a table of angles of all the elements, the major herbs, and medicinal plants are listed in great detail in Volume III of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, $15.00 (608 pages) available from University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, California 95006. Price of the Turenne disc is $29.00. Mailing and handling $1. per item.

Garland, an architect and surveyor, for dating archaeological objects and historical research was used by a group of radiesthesia enthusiasts to date temples, pyramids and artifacts. The disc was based on the radiation of an object being transferred to the precession of the equinoxes on the disc. These discs are available from University of the Trees Press in full detail, whereas the illustration below merely shows the reduced picture. The disc is a psychic representation of a total period of 25,800 years.

The Disk enables a person with a Merkhett type pendulum to date and orientate ancient objects. By using the precession of the poles over a period of 25,800 years an object placed in the center oscillates in the direction of its cosmic north and gives its age.

Each section of this disc represents the approximate position of the Cosmic North of the object whose age is being measured. The object or even a photo of an object is held as a witness and the pendulum will oscillate following the circle from 0° until it suddenly gives a reaction with a particular Cosmic North of the article being investigated and will then change direction and oscillate across the track radially.

The precession of the equinoxes corresponds to an annual displacement of the axis of the earth by 50.27 seconds of arc backwards from each preceding equinox. About 26,000 years are needed to return to the same point. To arrive as close to this figure, Garland divided his disc circle into 25,800 years. The diameter of the original disc is 40 cms and is divided into 25 sectors, each sector measures 14.4 degrees and represents 1032 years of equinoxial travel. Each section is then divided further by 10 representing 103.2 years.

RADIUM BLOCK

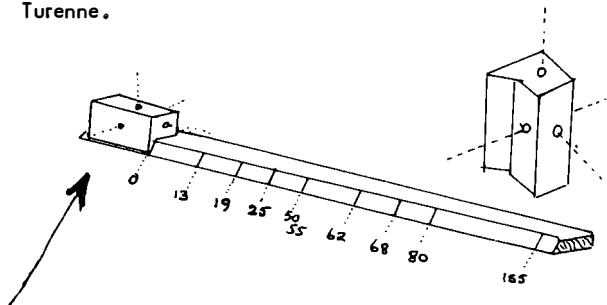

An Orgone Amplifier of the Biophysical Effect.

The radium block is the traditional amplifier for all divining instruments. You can stand it on the edge of a map and it will amplify pendulum signals from the map. The stimulation of the biological nervous energy exciting the vertical field by standing the block upright or amplifying the horizontal field by lying it down on a diviner's rule or wave-guide causes the pendulum or rod to "come alive." The radium block is specially made to fit on the Turenne rule. You put the block on the rule with the white end to the South and the sample on top of it at zero. The block excites the rule with a wave, setting up a number of beat frequencies at the points 13, 19, 25, 50-55, 62, 68, 80, and 155. These frequencies can be detected by the pendulum oscillations which reverse their swing at each of these points.

Each of these nodal points represents the edge of a color spectrum which corresponds to the psychic chakras of the human body. The chakras in turn correspond with subtle energy to the secretions of the endocrine glands which determine the state of our personality. Hence the rule with its radium block amplifier becomes an index to the balanced or imbalanced energies of your entire emotional and spiritual make-up and your physical condition as well. Just as the rule can enable us to analyse matter for its atomic components, so too it allows us to analyse the body to tell what elements we lack and which we have a surplus of. Price $23.00

For a fuller explanation of the instrument, read Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA 95006. The radium block was designed by Turenne.

NOTE:

THE TRITIUM BLOCK is an amplifier in many respects identical to the Radium Block. It has been found that Tritium H^3 excited the bio-physical effect of the diviner's reaction whereas the radium excites the field of the sample itself.

The construction and price are the same as above.

A The Hills End Fire Intensifying Guide and Radiator is a combination of the radium block designed by Turenne and the radio-magnetic effect found at the null center of a magnet. It contains not only two powerful ceramic permanent magnets, but a weak harmless natural tritium, a radioactive isotope of hydrogen of 1 proton and 2 neutrons which stimulates the exchange energy in the wave-fields detected by the diviner's reaction.

Divining requires a sensitivity that is peculiar to a very few people. Therefore the Hefigar is virtually indispensable as a radiesthetic instrument because it amplifies the field so strongly that most people can become diviners. This powerful aid has no less than four different amplifiers working in one co-operative force to amplify either the wave field of the sample or to amplify the diviner's own reactions. You use it in conjunction with a pendulum or a diviner's rod.

For amplification of the diviner's reaction, orientate the Hefigar with the block magnet side to magnetic North and the white side to the South in line with a compass needle and place it on a map or rule. When the pendulum indicates a change in polarity, you have reached the edge of the field which emanates the waves of vibration along the wave guide or rule. The Turenne rule is best (B) for measuring the characteristic wavefields of samples or a remedy to see if they are suitable. To use the Hefigar solely as a stimulator of the wave-field of a sample, stand the sample on the top or in front of the white side of the Hefigar and detect its field edges by watching for a change in the pendulum swing.

The Hefigar gives best results when the small magnet is moved along the polyrod from the point, gradually towards the white side until a change in pendulum swing is detected. This is the correct tuning.

When you hold a Hefigar in your hand, you feel a sensation when it is orientated in line with a target. This sensation allows you to use the Hefigar as a direction finder to determine what is north, east, south, and west. Turning in each direction, you will feel the sensation in your hands or brain when crossing the meridian. The same occurs on the line of sympathy between a radio station and the receiving set or between any two identical samples.

The Hefigar can also be used as a divining rod. Holding it in one hand, using a pendulum in the other, you can point at hidden objects. An archaeologist can point at a ruined wall to see if old coins or artifacts are buried underneath it. You can use it to find missing people in the same way. The Hefigar amplifies the diviner's reaction when pointed in any direction, holding a witness at the back of it.

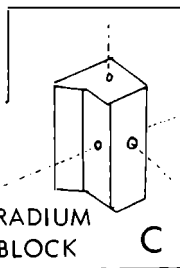

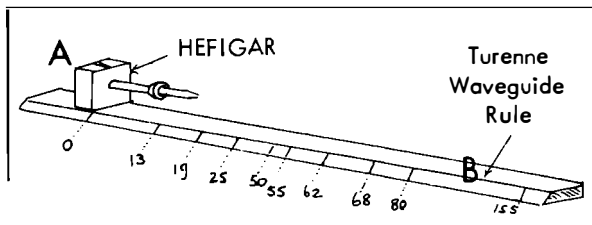

Use the Hefigar on the Turenne rule by placing it North-South. When you take a pendulum reading on the rule, the Hefigar intensifies the wave-field of the sample which is placed at zero.

Do not underestimate the power of this amplifier. Because of its components and the way each reinforces the others, the Hefigar harnesses the entire magnetic field of the earth in the service of divining. Price $25.00.

For a more thorough understanding of the Hefigar and its functions, see volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA 95006.

THE SCIENCE OF RADIATIONAL PARAPHYSICS

This waveguide (B) can be used to test anything in your environment with the addition of a Hefigar (A) or a Radium Block (C) acting as an amplifier when placed on the rule as shown above. The rule gives the diviner a biophysical measurement of the invisible fields around you. It is used in conjunction with a pendulum or divining rod.

THE TURENNE RULE (AN ORGONE WAVE-GUIDE)

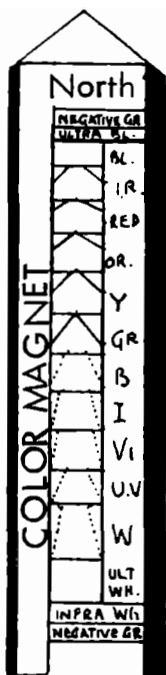

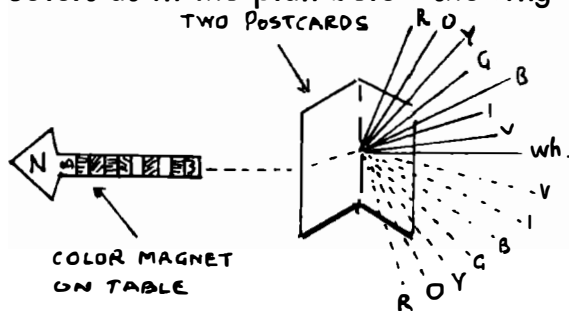

The Turenne rule is a wonderful implement for finding out about your physical and emotional state of being. Once you put a person's bloodspot on the rule, the whole auric field of that person is on the rule. You can tell anything about him: what elements he lacks, what he has a surplus of, what he is allergic to, etc. Healthy people produce a vibration at 80 on the rule. Anything either side of 80 is out of balance.

You put a radium block on the rule with the white end to the South and the sample on top of it at zero. The block excites the rule with a wave, setting up a number of beat frequencies at the points 13, 19, 25, 55, 62, 80, and 155. These beat frequencies can be detected by pendulum ascillotions which reverse their swing at each of these points. Each of these nodal points represents the edge of a color in the spectrum. And every human being corresponds to the frequencies of the calor spectrum psychologically through the vibrations of the psychic chokros, which in turn correspond with subtle energy to the secretions of the endocrine glands which determine the state of our personality. If you have your botton chokro open and functioning os part of your personality, you will get a pendulum reaction at the place marked "red" on the rule. If the top chokras ore closed and not functioning in your personality, you will get no pendulum reaction os you point higher up the rule. So the Turenne rule is a remarkable instrument for finding out your true spirituol condition.

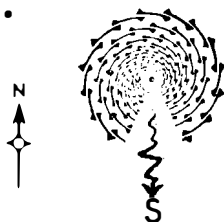

The basic function of the rule is to analyse crystals or to analyse matter (determine what atomic elements it is mode of). When a sample is placed correctly at its atomic number, the pendulum reactions disappear on the rule. The rule also picks up properties of olkeloid drugs (heroin, morphine, etc.) which occur in the lower end of the spectrum and all hove on effect on consciousness, os does ether, which takes consciousness away. Price $20.00.

For a fuller explanation of this instrument plus detailed techniques for balancing the chakras and the energies of your body and personality, read Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA. 95006. The Turenne rule can also be used with the more modern amplifier called "Hefigar" invented by its designer, Christopher Hills.

This device acts as a carrier wave-guide for any substance laid at its South end. It produces the radiesthesic equivalent of a magnetic bar Antenna (+) field around North end and (-) around the Southern end. Lay the magnet on a neutral green table top and your pendulum detects a southward proceeding wave-force composed of all color waves. To test the carrier wave-guide place a 'bridge' made of two postcards opened like a house roof top ridge across the southward trajectory, and the carrier's south wave-field will be broken up into its component colors as in the plan below showing a rainbow pattern. The influence of any test sample placed in this southward flowing Pa-kua effect is travelling away from the sample southwards. If the bridge is kept in position then the sample's wave-field assumes an angular direction on the further side of the bridge, indicating its color group. By these angular diffractions the L-field of a sample can be detected. Remove the bridge and the influence of a remedy or sample is carried to a person in line with its Southward direction.

These color magnets make an excellent wave-guide for home treatments. Available in full color from University of the Trees P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Ca. 95006. Price $1.00 plus 25¢ postage and Sales Tax in California.

Broadcast and Direction Finder

This instrument is a broadcast healer and finder. Intricately designed by exacting formulae, the magnetron allows you to send healing vibrations to anyone (yourself included) whose photograph you place in its center. Place the broadcaster on a bare table, with a small photo of the person with the head orientated to North. The pendulum will reveal the direction angle at which the actual person, living or dead, is located. It is very important that you align the magnetron North; otherwise the energy charge will be much weaker. By aligning the magnetron North, you concentrate the earth's magnetic field into that person, giving him a large positive charge of healing energy. Therefore you must check the magnetron daily, testing with your pendulum to see when you have broadcast enough energy, being careful not to overcharge. A photograph is better for this purpose than hair or blood samples because you can look at it and focus on the thought "healing is going to that person." The charging is not just happening on the board but in the whole of the earth's field.

You can also use the magnetron to locate people as the magnetron is one of the most powerful broadcasters invented by the pioneer radiesthetists.

If you have a selection of herbal remedies, teas, or medicines all likely to suit a particular person, lay each one in turn at the centre of the magnetron and dowse which one of small outer white disk magnets is in sympathy with the remedies. That is step 1. Step 2 is to place each of the remedies in its proper small outer disk and then place the witness of the person (blood spot, saliva, or hair sample) at the center of the magnetron. Now find which of the remedies shows the greatest sympathy with the witness of the person by the strongest angle of direction around the circumference. The pendulum will oscillate in the direction of the correct remedy.

The magnetron was invented by Servranx in Paris in 1953 and modified by Christopher Hills. Price $28.00. For more information on the principles by which healing energies may be broadcast over great distances, see volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics, 608 pages @ $15.00, available from The University of the Trees Press, P.O. BIOLOGICAL FEEDBACK INSTRUMENTS

Do not use any pendulum as a sole source of information. The pendulum should be used to get leads which may save you a great deal of time, but you should always try to check them out by other methods as well. Infallibility rarely occurs, even in modern science, and you cannot expect infallible results from an instrument which is an extension of your own evolving consciousness.

THE HILLS SUPERSENSONIC LIFE-FORCE CHARGER

This instrument is invaluable to anyone whose energy is depleted or who is unable to enter into life with zest. Harnessing the power of the earth's magnetic field, the device charges with life-force any object placed at its center or can charge a human being directly.

Concentric circles in radiesthesia produce waves according to their geometric pattern, creating a flow of life-force through the nervous system when they share the same lines of force as the human body. If we orientate the Hills Supersensonic Life-force Charger exactly due North of the operator, the combination of the magnet and concentric circles of the disc produce a wave-field of life-force which you can actually feel like taffy or cobwebby substance coming into your fingers as you stroke your hand across the center in longitudinal passes or if you put your finger on the center. This is immediate proof that some bio-physical effect is produced by the device. Some people describe the hand as puffy or feel it is inflated; others describe a tingling sensation.

For a diviner whose nervous system is over-saturated, this device will replace the energy which long sessions of divining have depleted. The Square Balance serves to balance the nervous systems, whereas the Life-force Charger is an activator and charges the nervous system with energy. It is quite powerful as it harnesses the earth's magnetic field when orientated northward. Price $28.00

THE PI-RAY ORGONE ENERGY ©1975
 ACCUMULATOR COFFER
 The Secret of the Pyramid Sarcophagus

There are three pyramid energies in any pyramid, regardless of size, which come from the wave-field of the pyramid shape itself. The positive green life-giving energy comes off the top of the capstone of a pyramid while flowing downward from the top is negative green energy, which dehydrates both organic and inorganic objects, including the human body. Also present beneath the pyramid is the Pi-ray, which flows from the top at a particular angle that was known to the ancient Egyptians. The Pi-ray is the life-preserving energy that was used to keep mummies moist for centuries. The ancient Egyptians, who understood these spiralling psycho-physical forces, placed the mummy coffer in the Great Pyramid directly in the path of this mysterious ray at a certain angle from the capstone.

The construction of this attractive wood coffer, which can charge up your pet pendulum with the lefthand spiralling energies of the Pi-ray, (See page 578 of Supersensomics, Volume III of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series) isolates this positive bio-physical effect from the harmful down-flowing energies of the pyramid form. By masking and focussing of a magnetic field at the center of a pyramid diagram on the lid of this coffer, the equivalent of a King's Chamber is created and the harmful rays which arrest life and dessicate matter are inhibited. Your pendulum is shielded from the surrounding vibrations of color and form and energy which influence the detection of subtle matter fields and it is also "armed" and ready for use, charged with the very "life-force" which makes it work in the diviner's hands, nervous system and consciousness. Orientate the arrow to North.

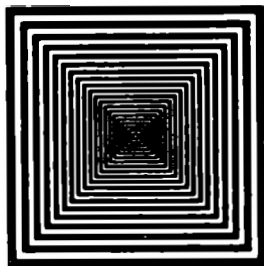

Amulets or rings to be worn by a person can be charged up with healing force over a 24 hour period, but use your pendulum to check when the correct amount of Pi-ray has been absorbed; an O.D. is harmful to your subtle energy fields - and do not charge during the night alone; the most powerful results are obtained in direct sunlight.

Lining the inside walls of the coffer is a copper spiral with a positive end at the bottom near the center of its axis and a negative end at the top which is directed towards the North Pole of a magnet in the lid; this increases the coils power. The coil cancels the effect of negative green and allows only the Pi-ray to descend into the box, thereby isolating the life-force.

In 1935 in France the following experiment was performed. A live chestnut was placed inside a coil together with a sensitive film in a photographic dark room with the film covering the south opening of the coil. It was left for one week. When developed the film showed some big spots in a specific pattern, with a multitude of small spots everywhere. Another sample of a drug containing morphia produced small spots on one side only and no large spots like those produced by the chestnut. The effect was attributed to ionization and was tested with other substances; mercury produced no spots and was the same as the control film. Dialysed cobalt produced a pattern of large flakes. It is also alleged that in France seeds treated by this method were found to produce the best vinestock.

The publishers would like users of the coffer to repeat and verify this experiment using such substances as Morning Glory seeds, marijuana, a drug containing morphine, etc. and to report the results to the Supersensonics Divining Association.

This instrument was designed by Christopher Hills. Price is $79.00. Include $1.00 for mailing and handling. California residents should add 6% sales tax.

THE SQUARE BALANCE EQUALIZER

The Square Balance is an energy charger for absorbing the life force. In the Square the life force "livens up" when the diagonal is aligned North-South. The Square Balance is actually the shape of the pyramid looking down from the top, and this form seems to create a flow of dielectric charge, particularly in the human nervous system. When the operator's fingers are gently rubbed or stroked over the Square, there seems to be a stick (a feeling of some tacky substance passing between your hand and the symbol) when there is an equalizing of the balance between the parasympathetic and the sympathetic nervous systems. The key to this instrument is balance and it determines when there is balance connected with any object placed at its center. When this is a human being or a witness such as a bloodspot, hair, or fingernail, the Square will reveal imbalance through pendulum response. By charging the human being up, any imbalance is corrected.

To receive a charge of energy, stroke the Square while holding in the mind that you are absorbing the life force. Usually four or five times is enough but you can ask the pendulum to make sure. If you put a photograph in the center of the Square, you can charge someone else with vital force. You can also use the instrument for determining the health of a person.

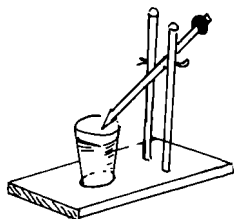

Dr. Nebel of Lausanne, who invented the device, used the Square to find which of any number of remedies would give each patient balance. You can hold an herb remedy in your hand, holding the pendulum over the center of the Square. When the remedy in your hand is right for you, you will get a positive swing on the pendulum. Or you can put the remedy in the center.

Some people have difficulty balancing their daily life and their activities and are constantly regretting the choices that they make during the day. You can use the Square Balance, holding a pendulum over the center, and asking "Is it best for me to sit in the sun and luxuriate or is it more important that I keep working" or "Is this work more urgent than that work?" The pendulum will respond according to what you need to stay in good psychological balance. You can adapt the Square Balance for use wherever there are potential energies, either positive or negative, in any situation, not only within yourself but in relation to the environment. On a cloudy day there are electrical potentials in the clouds that pass overhead. You don't feel them, but they affect your moods and health. With your pendulum, you can determine whether you are sick or just low energy or whether it is the overcast sky that is affecting you. Ask your questions with the pendulum held over the center of the Square to find out what is making you out of balance. For more information on the balance of negative and positive energies, read volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics @ $15.00 (608)pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, CA 95006.

When the Turenne pendulum magnets are inverted, the pendulum oscillates East-West across a compass or bar magnet or any linear antenna. The pendulum's oscillation is then parallel to an East-West wave. The same inverted magnets, held over the Square Balance, reveal this type of wave present along the diagonals of the square when the pendulum oscillates in the East-West direction. This enables us to find true North at any time. This instrument was designed by Dr. Nebel, modified considerably with addition of the pyramid design and circular magnet by Christopher Hills. Price $28.00.

TATWA SOLAR WATER ENERGIZER

Tatwa means subtle energies, an ancient Sanscrit word for Holy essence or "thatness". Tatwas come in 25 different kinds, depending on the receptivity of the human being. Different tatwas come with breathing; some come through water; some come through light; some come through thoughts; some come through presence, the environment. Scientists are just discovering the effect of negative ions on human vitality. You can think better sitting in a wood or in an office that has negative ions. The kind of air you breathe will also depend on whether it is irradiated by light or is perpetually dark, as in a room. Light tatwas from the invisible radiation of stars is changing with every hour.

The angle of the sun has a lot to do with it, so by correctly understanding the angle at which Nature manifests, one can become like a flower and face the right direction. Flowers know this; they point toward the sun. They know the right angle of orientation.

To know the correct angle of orientation at any one time of the day is important to good health because we absorb energies from the environment depending on the angle. Everything has a critical angle, whether it is a crystal or a plant that you're putting in the ground. The pendulum should be used to orientate the plant before digging it in. In the same way, a human being should drink water which has been correctly orientated toward the sun.

Place a pitcher of water so that the pointer (central rod) is just above it with the water just below the tip, nearly touching. Orientate the tatwa North and it will energise water in one hour and the water will then energise you when you drink it. If you orientate the tatwa South, the water will have a calming effect. West orientation makes the water injurious; East is actively energizing. This instrument must be used in the daytime.

You can also charge an object with tatwa, for instance if you want to wear something as an amulet. You use your pendulum to find out the angle and what time of day is best for the tatwa you want to charge with. The object is situated, like the water, touching or nearly touching the central point.

There are five major tatwas. These five work through the sensory channels through which we receive them. The sun causes the sap in plant life to rise during the day, to go down to the roots during the night and that causes different vibrations which we can absorb as tatwas. For further information on your vibratory environment, read Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensonics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, Calif. 95006. This instrument was designed by Servranx. Price $10.00.

The laws behind the operations of Consciousness which make "light work" are not available to ordinary methods of measurement. Various unconscious factors come in which prevent success at certain levels such as when using the gift for selfish gain, demonstrating for name and fame without genuine need or to satisfy curiosity or when the operator unconsciously feels doubt or guilt about real motives.

Most of us shut off our awareness in varying degrees by the fetters of our limited personalities. With this instrument we can tell how much or how little we have blocked the flow of consciousness in ourselves. The bio-physical effect is a feedback signal between the unconscious universal field in which each individual exists and the conscious mind which experiences this field through the filters of our personality. The awareness meter is designed by Christopher Hills to get beneath your personality orientated modes of knowing to the direct perception of your relationship to Cosmic Intelligence. This instrument creates a mental yardstick of ultimate 360 degree or total awareness (all-knowingness) against which to measure the relative awareness of all living things from atoms to man, from insects to animals and the higher intelligences beyond man. All living things have some primordial intelligence by which they function as cells, organs, atoms, etc. and this is beyond the access of our normal scientific instruments. The new science of Radiational Paraphysics sets out to measure levels of consciousness in nature in proportional terms which scan the whole of intelligent life and not just the human spectrum.

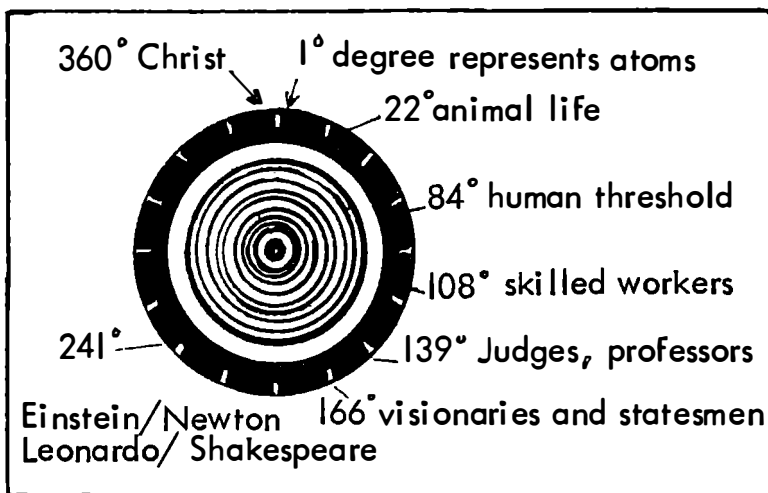

Therefore this instrument when used in conjunction with a selective intuitional type pendulum can determine the intelligence of a horse or dog as easily as an amoeba or common algae. It can assess the cosmic intelligence of the most pure state of being (360 degrees) in proportion to human, plant or animal life. In short, this invention uses a dimension of human perception normally unused by most people - tapping the unconscious in order to see ourselves with cosmic perspective.

Put the meter on a table with the arrow orientated North-South. When testing your own intelligence, you are the witness and need no sample. Hold the pendulum over the center of the meter and start it oscillating back and forth at zero. Ask questions in your mind, "what is the correct proportion of my intelligence in terms of the whole?" The pendulum will swing toward 1:00, 2:00, 3:00 as you proceed clockwise around the various degrees. Where the pendulum stops oscillating to the right, you have found your correct reading. Compare it with the table at the side.

To use the instrument on other forms of nature, take a witness such as a bloodspot or the feather of a bird, the eggs of a lizard, the spawn of a frog, or a picture of a star, and place the sample on the center of the instrument. Repeat the method described above. Be sure to have no pre-conceived idea of whether stars or frogs are intelligent or not. Remember that the Seer, who sits inside us and inside each portion of creation and is the guiding force behind all that we do, is the simple naked intelligence which we call awareness.

For further understanding of the levels of consciousness and how they can be developed through radiesthetic methods, read Volume III of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from University of the Trees Press, P.O. ROOMPH COIL

In every person there is sleeping a powerful evolutionary force called Kundalini (from the Sanskrit root word to burn, a little.) This is the sexual potency of a person which rises up the spine through the psychic centers and gives us oomph. Many people are blocked from using this power because they cannot control these internal energies through spiritual disciplines. The word roomph is a combination of the Sanskrit word Rum (pronounced Room) which means spirit and the American word oomph.

The method of working this coil is to tune this latent energy so that it safely proceeds in stages as each center opens gradually. The first step is to turn first the board and then the magnetic disc at the center to North with an intuitional type mercury-filled pendulum. By turning the magnet around until the pendulum gives a "yes" signal its spiral field can be set into a North orientation. Now set the pointer to the North without allowing the magnet to move around. The instrument is now ready to read off that point on the spiral coil where your Kundalini energy is now focussed. Rotate the radium tipped arrow slowly to the right until the pendulum gives a "yes" signal; that is the point where you can begin to raise your flow of Kundalini. Begin to concentrate the mind on the base of the spine and imagine the energy flowing upwards to a point that is considered safe without burning you too much. Take your pendulum and set it oscillating at the 1 o'clock position on the dial over the center of the spiral and gradually turn the radium tipped needle pointer around along the spiral to the right (letting the magnet move with it) until the pendulum oscillates back and forth at 12 noon. That is the correct "set" for your Kundalini to flow at this time of your evolution. Leave it at this setting for at least 24 hours before moving the needle pointer on along the spiral to the next "setting". At each setting the Kundalini will flow to that safe point until you become adapted to its energy. This stops it from rushing through your spinal nerves and psychic centers and doing damage through lack of preparation. Gradually you raise your Roomph until you begin to feel very sweet inside and a bubbling sensation begins to awaken a new quiet joy within your heart. This sweet feeling has little to do with what is happening in your external life. Things can be falling down all around you in chaos but you remain peaceful, collected, and quietly excited by this continuous flowing inner radiance. The instrument can be used daily or weekly or just left on at the "safe" setting until the spirit moves you to move it on.

INTO MEDITATION NOW

THE COURSE :

A beautiful and comprehensive guided journey into understanding the Self and the nature of Conscious Awareness. You and your existing life situation become your Guru. Life is your teacher.

Illuminates the teachings of Christ, Buddha, and many other great sages the World over.

It is the practical daily experience of the Evolution of our beings.

THREE by YEAR COURSE
~ CHRISTOPHER HILLS ~

The author was elected President of the World Conference on Scientific Yoga in New Delhi 1970, attended by 800 yogis and 50 Western scientists. Although given the titles of Acharya and Maharshi, he prefers not to use them. He has founded the Commission for Research Into the Creative Faculties of Man, the Centre Community in London, and the University of the Trees in Boulder Creek, California. Supersensonics, his latest book, is an extraordinary work on radiational paraphysics.

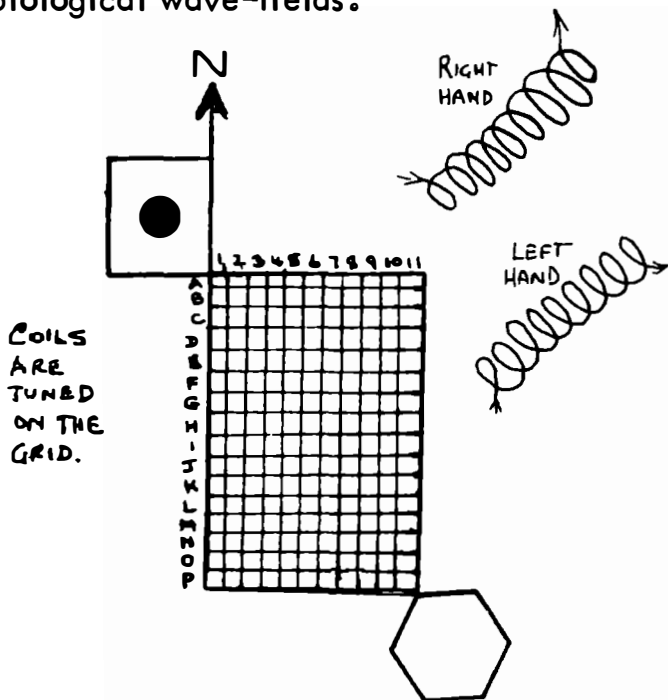

Christopher Hills focusses attention away from personality to the realization that one's own life situation is the real guru. To realize Pure Consciousness shining through all forms is the essence of life and discipline. This is the spiritual work of the student of consciousness. Into Meditation Now is a remarkable tool that enables a meditator to experience deep insight into his own nature and the nature of existence. This wisdom can then manifest in one's life situation and be used on the journey to Pure Consciousness or Enlightenment.

If you wish to enroll in this meditation course offered by the University of the Trees, the minimum donation is $45. to cover registration for the 3 years' instruction. You receive the 100 page Introductory Section and after working through it you will discover whether you are ready to commit yourself to the next eighteen. Tuition for three years may be paid in monthly donations (minimum $10.), an honors system of tithing, or advance payment of $360. for the entire course.

The cosmic energies are flowing through each one of us but often there is a subtle imbalance between the parasympathetic and sympathetic nervous system which conditions the electrical vibration of each person. By use of the Sevrnx Broadcasting Grid, as a symbolic representation of yourself and of the energies that flow through you, you can attune your positive and negative biophysical fields to the correct flow of cosmic forces.

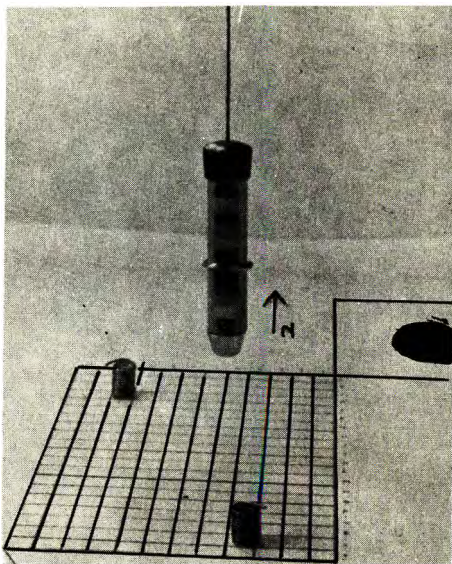

A length of copper wire made into a clockwise coil is positive but if it is touched with the finger, the coil becomes negative. A wire wound oppositely, to the left, produces the opposite result. The attraction between such coils of wire and the poles of the electrical field, both potential and actual, can be observed by using the coils with a Sevrnx Broadcasting Grid which is capable of tuning your biophysical field depending on where the two coils are placed on the grid.

The grid itself acts as a filter for cosmic forces which are acting through the sample or witness which is placed on a black circle on the grid, enclosed in a square at the Northeast corner. The whole grid is orientated to line up with the North pole and, in some mysterious way, the positive and negative forces within each individual can be tuned by moving the coils to different positions on the grid. The sample that is placed on the black circle should be a hair, a bloodspot, or some witness of the person. At the Southwest corner of the grid is a ten-sided figure. In this figure can be placed something beneficial to the person, such as an herb or a remedy or even the photograph of another person who is known to have good effects. The grid diagram can be placed in the person's room and whatever is placed in the ten-sided figure will be broadcast to the person whose sample is on the black spot.

The grid has been known to broadcast for several miles but it is most effective in close proximity of the same house. It can even be used in a group effort. Each person who checks out the position of the coils on their grid every morning conducts the flow of cosmic forces through this symbolic representation and balances the forces within themselves. The total sum of all the individual grids of each member of the family can be channeled onto one master grid and tuned to something harmonious so that family harmonies are produced. Whether this family is a spiritual community or a company or an organization is immaterial. When it was tested in London in a six-storey building, it was even possible to tell when members of the community on some of the top floors did not do their grid. The results showed up on the master grid on the bottom floor.

The pendulum reacts when the righthand or lefthand spiral is placed in the correct square on the grid. The coils should not be touched while this is being done since the phase is then reversed. Each square can be dowsed with the pendulum by running a pencil along the line of letters designated for each square in the North and South coordinate and then running the pencil along the numbers in the East and West direction. The square to which the pendulum reacts is the correct position for putting that particular coil on the grid. Move the coil with the pencil to the appropriate square and leave the coil there all day. You find the position anew for the two coils every day. If you are healthy, it will be revealed by the pendulum in your not having to move the coils very frequently. Only where imbalance occurs is it necessary to frequently move the coils. The master grid is the same grid but with everybody's witness placed in the block circle.

The best pendulum to use with this grid is the Spiral Coil pendulum (a righthand copper coil and a lefthand copper coil used with each of the grid coils) because these are selective to phase whereas most pendulums are not.

Dear Friends,

We invite you to join our new SUPERSENSONICS INTERNATIONAL Divining Association (SIDA) as a foundation member, which entitles you to a free copy of Volume III of the series THE SUPERSENSITIVE LIFE OF MAN (retail $15.00) and to purchase the other volumes in the series at member's discount of 20%. Furthermore membership entitles you to receive news of exciting new developments in the discovery of applied Supersenssonics or literature as it comes off the press. Workshops and seminars on current University research on high energy effects of wave-fields on the human aura will be reported. Lecture tours for those eager to learn how the body's subtle consciousness can be used for better health will be advised, so that you can attend.

Yours for a Supersenssonic world,

Christopher Hills
Christopher Hills,

P.S. You will also have the opportunity to take advantage of an exciting new series of programs in dowsing, where you will actually learn these techniques in intensive workshops and apply it to doily life.

THE TURENNE MAGNET-FITTED ROD

The pictures carved on Egyptian pyramids show the pharaoh holding a rod called "ankh" as a symbol of his power. Most people do not realize that this symbol of power was a divining rod and that pharaoh's "power" was closely interwoven with his evolved sensitivity as a diviner.

All rods are basically the same, whether made of metal, polyrod, whalebone, wood, or switches from a tree. They only differ in their selective power. The way to hold a rod is to create some tension on it so that it becomes highly reactive to any change in the nervous system. The Turenne Rod is the most sensitive of all divining rods because the addition of magnets causes a selectivity which makes the rod extremely sensitive to the diviner's reaction. The Turenne Rod will detect vertical waves, horizontal waves, East-West flow in the environment (so beneficial to health), symmetry or mirror images, invisible ultra colors, and sounds, depending on how the magnets are set. For full information on this versatile rod, read Volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, called Supersensomics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek, California 95006.

Rods are much preferable to pendulums in walking open territory since the pendulum requires that one be stationary while a rod can be used while walking along. The Turenne rod is the Rolls-Royce of all divining rods and is especially good for finding water, oil, and missing people. For further details see instruction and information on the positioning of the swivel magnets on the Turenne Pendulum. Price of Turenne Rod $22.00.

SUPERSENSONICS

VOLUME IIICHRISTOPHER HILLS

Written by a Master of Consciousness research this Volume constitutes the third in a series of six volumes by Christopher Hills and his students. Possibly the most penetrating practical manual ever written for mapping and measuring fields of psycho-physical energies, this book explains the actual auric thresholds of Kundalini energies in terms of time, space and number.

By exploring the use of dowsing instruments from the Egyptian Ankh divining rods to the more recent magnet-fitted selective pendulums and radionic devices readers are encouraged and shown how to validate the universal field for themselves. This is undoubtedly the most important scientific book in the spiritual field today. Explaining how the I Ching was written and the secrets of Tantra and Yoga, it is a thick book of facts and illustrations.

Volume III, the third in the series of "The Supersensitive Life of Man" covers the whole range of sensing from modern scientific instruments and lenses to our sight and vision. From the diviner's reaction and the thought fields detected by radionic instruments to thought cameras. For the first time in the English language the pioneer work over the last 75 years is described setting out the actual fields around crystals and atoms and the effect of "form" on human mind-stuff. Within these 608 pages Einstein's work is taken to build a completely new conceptual framework for consciousness and the experience of scientific phenomena. Teaches how to build divining instruments for layman and scientist alike or where to buy them. A complete course beyond the psychic which can be used by doctors and professional people to support their knowledge with direct diagnosis with the pendulum and divining rod. Enables a scientist to probe the chemical world, or an agriculturist to communicate with plants and soils, or an ordinary person to choose correct foods or dowses for water in case of survival. This most amazing book helps everyone develop latent powers of perception in the frontal lobes which evolution has provided for man's next step. The basic discoveries of Rodiesthesia and Radionics are conjoined with the Truths of the spiritual masters into the practical hooking up of the human biological energies with the kundalini energies of consciousness. The nature of light and its connection with Consciousness as a wave-guide for life energies is shown and the connection between pyramids, vibration and form and color, cymatics and the energy systems of the human body are revealed as never before. The vast researches into the human aura, magnetism and the healing energies are explained and compared to the standard ideas of physics. This knowledge synthesized with existing knowledge is bound to make Supersensonics the science of the future! Price $15.00; (608 pages with over 450 illustrations and 25 photographs.)

N. Same as M. but in springy black nylon for hypersensitive people. $7.50.

Size 19"

Egyptian Type
in White Polyrod

O. Same as M. and N. but in white polyrod with black handgrips suitable for insensitive diviners or learners who can get better results from M. and N. Price $6.50.

DIVINING RODS

The pictures carved on Egyptian pyramids show the pharaoh holding a rod called "ankh" as a symbol of his power. Most people do not realize that this symbol of power was a divining rod and that pharaoh's "power" was closely interwoven with his evolved sensitivity as a diviner.

The University of the Trees makes three Egyptian ankhs of varying flexibility. The black nylon ankh (at $7.50) is springy, for hypersensitive people, whereas the white polyrod ankh (at $6.50) is better for insensitive diviners or for learners. The black delrin ankh (at $8.00) is extra stiff and is suitable for water divining and detection of positive and negative vertical fields. In addition there are two coil type rods, one a white polyethelene (@$7.50) which reacts to vertical (-) wave fields, and one a black coil which twists down and sideways over positive and negative vertical fields (@$8.50). All rods are basically the same, whether made of metal, polyrod, whalebone, wood, switches from a tree. They differ only in their selective power. However, as each person is different, different materials, different densities and springiness of materials affect the results. The diviner has to find what suits him best.

The way to hold a rod is to create some tension on it so that it becomes highly reactive to any change in the nervous system. The addition of magnets can cause selectivity which makes the rod even more sensitive to the diviner's reaction. Illustrations which show how to hold the rod can be found in volume III of the "Supersensitive Life of Man" series, collod Supersensonics, @ $15.00 (608 pages) available from the University of the Trees Press, P.O. Box 644, Boulder Creek CA 95006.

Rods are much preferable to pendulums in walking open territory since the pendulum requires that one be stationary while a rod can be used while walking along.

In dowsing for water, you need no witness because the body itself is over 90% water. Keep your brow chakra concentrated on water as you turn slowly in a circle. When the rod dips, walk in that direction. As you cross the water, the rod will dip down or up depending on which way you are holding it (which way it is polarized.) The kind of rod advised for beginners is the nylon ankh or the Turenne magnet-fitted rod.

Radiesthesia is an ancient spiritual science. It was known to the prophets and the cultures of Egypt and China, then lost and debased by greed for power. Finally, after long wandering from the truth, the world is ready for a rediscovery of self-mastery and true spiritual power. This wondrous science that was lost from ancient times can be re-found. Now, we can begin to use divining and Supersensonics as a way of refining our gift of Consciousness and developing the higher levels of of our being. (See Volume III of: "The Supersensitive Life of Man.")

'THE SUPERSENSITIVE LIFE OF MAN'

A SERIES OF SIX VOLUMES ON THE NATURE OF CONSCIOUSNESS WHICH REVEAL THE ULTIMATE SCIENCE OF RADIATIONAL PHYSICS

DIMENSIONS OF ELECTRO-VIBRATORY PHENOMENA

VOLUME 1 $10.00 VICTOR R. BEASLEY, Ph.d.

Volume I of the Series on the "Supersensitive Life of Man" describes the dimensions of electro-vibratory phenomena which effects human behavior both individually and socially. Covering the whole field of Biomagnetics and the effects of magnets on healing, aging, and the human aura, the book is the result of 5 years travelling to all the major centers of research where everything from Radionics to air ions, from L-fields to chakra perceptions has been covered in one Volume. The work describes the correspondences between scientific mapping of our inner worlds to the more esoteric work of Christopher Hills and its agreement with Professor Humphrey Osmond. As a review of the latest findings in Radionics and the mapping of consciousness, the book reveals the exciting new areas of man's evolution.

ENERGY, MATTER AND FORM

VOLUME 11 $10.00 By ALASTAIR BEARNE, B.Sc.

Volume II of the series "The Supersensitive Life of Man" on the fundamental techniques for discovering the subtle forces of consciousness behind all physical phenomena. Contains an account of spiritual and scientific breakthroughs that the reader can prove and experience in his own backyard. From psychic physics to divination, this book introduces you to Kirlian photography, telepathy, clairvoyance and scrying. Showing the reader how to develop concentration, understand mandalas and yantras, psychokinesis, perception in plants, eyeless sight, Radiesthesia and Radionics. The book is a perfect outline for Volume III which complements it.

AN EXTRACT ON THE MIRACLES

From Volume 111

SUPERSEASONICS

THE SCIENCE OF RADIATIONAL PARAPHYSICS

Jesus Christ is undoubtedly the most world renowned diviner. It is obvious that he was an initiate of the ancient Egyptian schools of divining not only because his philosophy of life pointed in all his allegories to the "life-force," but because of his powers of transferring this life-force to others or withdrawing it as he did with the fig tree. His ability to determine the direction and location of an object or even a person or a thought was a common practice of the Egyptian school of adepts.

We can look at his miracles as actual demonstrations of a supersensory tuned brain and nervous system. By practicing with the Supersensory instruments you too can train your faculties to become supersensitive. The mysteries of the Bible will unfold and you will be able to understand the real mind and being of Christ.

Not everyone will agree that the supernatural is all naturally occurring beyond man's intelligence and that by tuning to that Supreme intelligence we can know things "that passeth human understanding." This kind of knowing is known as "direct perception" and it transcends reason, mind, and imagination. As Christ said, "Ask and ye shall receive the answer." This is the basis of Supersensory instruments of knowing.

SUPERSENSORY EXPLANATIONS FOR SIX OF CHRIST'S MIRACLES

"The works that I do shall he do also; and greater than these shall he do . . . "

In considering the miracles of Christ we have to allow for the human tendency to create myths and personality cult heroes in order to give their teachings more credibility. Having made this allowance we find that the miracles can be divided into two categories. There are the Supersensitive phenomena that cannot be explained by ordinary means, that is, miracles like the changing of water into wine, the feeding of the multitudes and materializations. Then there are a number of miracles which can be explained by the techniques in this book simply as divining phenomena. We will list some of them with a short explanation, not to dismiss them as insignificant, but to prove even more thoroughly what a wonderful piece of work "Supersensitive Man" is. Christ himself discounts the value of the miracles as nothing more than a means of getting people to believe in his real message of Pure Consciousness. At one point he actually expresses his disappointment that men believe in him because of the miracles (John, Ch. 4, v. 48). The following miracles are simple Supersensonics.

The Miraculous Draft of Fishes

Nowadays the same thing is done by echo sounder. The shoal of fish is followed by bouncing sound signals off the fish underwater. In Christ's day this would have been considered a miracle. In our day any man who can put his hand over the edge of a boat and locate a shoal of fish would be considered a psychic. Yet most people can do it with the methods of Supersensonics. The beginner uses a divining rod and the expert uses his bare hand.

Centurion's Son Healed

Telepathically it is possible to broadcast healing in a number of ways by Supersensonic means. Either a grid or a radionic set or an image of the person can be used. Many radiesthetists only need the name of the person to send the healing powers of an herb or remedy to a distant person or to find out what is wrong with him by asking questions of the pendulum.

Devils Cast Out

By Supersensonic methods it is possible to generate a pattern or vibration of energy which will make it quite uncomfortable for any obsessing entity to remain in the mind of a person. To a master such as Christ these vibrational energies were well known. The Lefthand Spiral Mirror Pillar Pendulum is used for this purpose.

Issue of Blood Stopped

It is not generally known that the mind has power over the flow of blood in the veins and arteries and even over the capillary flow. In deep states of trance, the flow can be stopped entirely and the results recorded in a physiology laboratory. On being challenged by a professor of physiology on this statement, in 1959 I was subjected to a series of tests at the University of the West Indies. The chart recorders all showed that I could stop the arteries or close them off from my hand whenever requested by the professor. I myself have arrived on the scene of a car accident and even stopped a spirting blood vessel from a distance of 20 feet away when I shouted for the blood to stop pumping. Normally I merely request the person to stop it themselves but on this occasion the person was only partially conscious. Supersensonic energies can travel along the eye beam as easily as along a line of ink on paper. It is no more miraculous that a thought can be channelled along a tape or wave-guide.

The Tribute Money

Some diviners can locate gold and also attract fish to the shore. Christ may have telepathically seen that a fish had swallowed a gold coin and sent out a thought beam to attract it to the lakeside spot so that it could be caught. The writer was challenged by the author Robin Moore, at the 1960 fishing tournament for the Blue Marlin Championship Cup, to bring the first fish to his hook telepathically as I drove home from Port Antonio in Jamaica. That night I got a telephone call to say not only had the fish been attracted to Robin Moore's hook but the first two fish were caught by him. Afterwards I regretted it because I had done it to prove something at the expense of the fish, in order to convince a doubter. However, I rationalized that Christ had done the same thing with the Tribute money since the fish was caught only to show the disciples the power of conviction.

The Tempest Stilled

There are two possibilities for the sudden calming of the storm. One is that the storm may have been about to blow out anyway and since Supersensonics can divine the weather over any part of the world with a map it would be easy for a master to do without the map, to wait for the right moment and then to tell the disciples that it would die down. The second possibility is that there are moments when the human consciousness makes direct contact with the Pure Consciousness when there is a sudden rushing of wind and then complete stillness. The account of Elijah in the cave in Kings 1 Ch. 19, v. 12 is an example. The second possibility requires high states of consciousness not available to all, but the first type of divining can be done with training by almost 80% of those who complete the entire course of training in divining.

OBJECTIONS

It is always thought that certain persons who become leaders of religious groups have supernatural powers. The author has seen these powers demonstrated by people without any spirituality or knowledge of themselves or others. These people have the ability to tell you things about yourself that you did not even know, like there is a brown mole on your bottom or your son will have three lines on his face at age nineteen. Yet they know nothing about your real self. They can tell you psychically that your wife had a hair cut 2 weeks ago on a Friday, but so what? They cannot tell you anything about your spiritual nature unless they themselves are spiritually evolved. I have known good psychics who drink a bottle of whisky before a sitting or who think of nothing but sex, money and booze and might even take your wallet if you left it around. So so-called supernatural powers are not indicators of greatness. When they come together with high spirituality in one person like Christ they tend to reinforce the Being, but when they come in ordinary people they are mostly ignored or explained away.

CAN ONLY BELIEVERS SUCCEED?

It is important to recognize that Christians along with other believers in supernatural persons will claim these powers are unique to their own idol. But the idol himself contradicted such credulousness and said these were all possible to those who could understand the need for conviction. What satisfies one person as evidence does not satisfy another; what is reported as the act of a religious messiah will never be questioned by the faithful because they think it betrays their cult hero to question his integrity. Yet it is the integrity of the mythmakers, not the integrity of the messiah that is questioned here. Anyone who fully understands the power of hypnosis or self-suggestion to create and relieve such problems as psychological deafness or impotence or psychic blindness would be able to go on to explain many other miracles, but it is not the purpose of this book to confront the gullible; it is merely to give some testable facts which can be checked simply by anyone who desires to engage in controversy. The author will not engage in a controversy with anyone who has not studied the matters they are challenging.

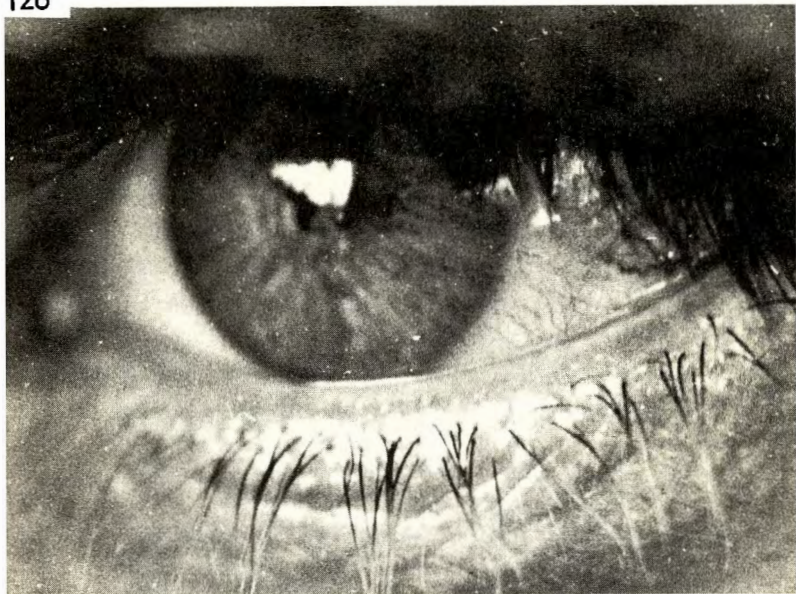

MAPPING THE WAVE-FIELDS OF CONSCIOUSNESS

The ability of the Supersensonic operator to map the behavior of these hidden energies on all physical and spiritual levels of consciousness by using witnesses of color harmonics will give us the power to raise ourselves up by our own bootstraps. From Electromagnetic man to the full spiritual height of Supersensonic man is indeed an enormous leap in consciousness. To measure this leap we must now develop a new capability.

It is a fact that the evolutionary intelligence has already given mankind, from ancient times, this Supersensitive equipment in the frontal lobes of his brain. This capability enables him not only to search for hidden water streams under ground but to discover what a priceless gift our consciousness really is. It is truly the gift of a God, for there is no drug or elixir of life more powerful than pure consciousness. It can be stated quite absolutely that not only is there nothing in the whole creation higher than pure consciousness, but it is God's gift of Himself to Himself.

Supersensonics is a tool for shaping an awareness of the power of light and the Divinization of man. You too can now become a Diviner and roam all the worlds without going outside your door.
