The mathematician Jacques Ravatin, a French scientist who, these days, trying to explain energy due to emissions of forms considered the problem from the point of view of the Jewish Kabbalah and the great cosmological systems of India and Egypt. Enel was also the first to suspect the relationship between emissions and forms of cancer. He also discovered a program that acts on cancer cells, which we do let's call it "Enel Cancer issue"... So it's not just about the pyramid of Cheops and the Reichenbach pendulum. For researchers in their twenties, these are only two I use a lot of light of a much wider power of spatial shapes and volumes. Belizal has made a curious observation. It is recalled that the archaeologist Carter, discoverer of the famous tomb of Tutankhamun, a ring on which was found near the sarcophagus a strange mark was engraved. It swiped to the finger. Coincidence or not: he was the only one not being struck by the terrible curse that killed his fellow diggers ...

I Kenos alphysique and theory

The alphysique are unlike any known esoteric discipline, but each of them can be considered one of its subsets. Back to the original source, the original idea that most initiatory teachings are just the modified form, such was the research center that led to the development of Alphysique. Knowing how to use a computer does not necessarily mean knowing the inner workings and penetrating the mysteries of high level of computation; However, without it, it could work. It's the same at Alphysique: its products, for the most part, are extremely simple to use, but the principles that made their creation possible are the result of more sophisticated research. contemporary aberrations of wanting to obtain simple answers to complex The problem is that as far as the things of the spirit are concerned, the level beyond which too much complexity is considered to enter has significantly lowered any deep thought becoming a "head grab". Despite permanent accessibility in mind, these p it will require a certain effort of reflection... but after these, new perspectives! For Alphysique it offers nothing less than to deal with the relationship between spirit and matter in a decidedly new way. side, i.e. everything that allows us to act in one way or another and carry out a work of transformation) is an association between the most powerful symbols of esoteric traditions in the world and the most recent work on the subject of emissions from forms. But they cannot be summed up in this, because the Alphysique in its highest levels has a metaphysical and cosmological dimension. The development of theories as to why this discipline is based did not do it in a day, but slowly got organized on subsequent research and experimentation; they were, in their beginnings, mainly guided by intuition. However, this does not detract from their intrinsic value. Do not forget that the famous theory of relativity, summarized by the formula $E = mc^2$ Einstein appeared in a dream ...

It is obvious that such exploration often takes time because it is almost done, initially, blindly, without any point of reference, in a more empirical way, involving errors and stumbling. Some alphysistes have a strong scientific background to the exclusion of any gullibility temptation. . This is particularly the case of Jacques Ravatin, physicist, former member of the CNRS, whose surprising insights should generate Alphysique. The Alphysique allows us to access the Kenos; not the least of its merits... but in reality, what the Kenos? For my part, I define it as the quintessential void, the uncreated, the matrix in which all possible worlds remain in gestation. In other words, Alphysique connects us to a time-out space, a blank page on which we can record new versions of our reality, that reality does not exist in that "dimension" - even if the word "dimension" does not literally correspond to the reality than the one with which we communicate, our purpose is Let's see, therefore, for the time of such an "approximation". The Kenos is in some way the equivalent of Eastern Tao, it is probably not a coincidence that the Tao is one of the most used by quantum physicists "spirit" metaphors. See in particular on the theme "The Tao of Physics" by Fritjof Capra - or "That which cannot be named" - literal translation of the biblical Creator Principle. A sort of pre-big bang in which all potentials remain possible. This is what Jacques Ravatin names global, in his theory of field coherence (see "theory of field form and consistency" - 3 volumes of Cosmogone Editions). The Kenos potentially contains three principles: the Father, who represents absolute intelligence but also absolute absence, somehow non-being, failure happened. Mother, symbol of absolute love; Son, uniting him in love and intelligence to access the Knowledge - to be distinguished from the Savoir. These three principles differ only when it comes into being; they generate twelve universes or brothers, running on different space-times. What astrophysicist Jacques Vallée, who has been assigned to the long-standing Observatoire Meudon and works in Silicon Valley, this electronic Eden, appellait "universe tangent". What quantum physics called, imperfectly in fact, "parallel universe". We are, for our part, in the fourth of these brothers. These universes are each divided into four levels: matter, anti-matter, mental and spiritual. Readers will probably understand better now why I say that it transcends the Alphysique theories of esotericism as all-encompassing. The Alphysique however remains decidedly a-magical, it simply is not in the same field of experimentation. It is in fact totally extraneous to the phenomenon of "transfer" around which magic like Radionics. In both areas, a wave or an X-type energy will be used and deflected from its original environment (what some call the "subtle worlds" or "astral") or deflected from its course and its first goal to be used for one embodiment. Unfortunately, few people actually know the rules and risks of such a deviation. Every act of magic or sorcery necessarily implies compensation. Such a campaign wizard, through an appropriate ritual can cure a herd of cows ... but they do give more milk. As I said one practitioner "You can do a ritual to obtain absolute wealth... you can... But I tell you nothing about your health! ". I would like to add serious psychological disturbances that can arise. I once, using radionics, paid the price to learn that in terms of managing the "energies" "waves" "vibrations" - what they are called - in the perspective of advantage, we got nothing for free ... and such activities often require a lot more than what they are able to give, without losing the stuff ... the fall in the purely spiritual Alphysique area, and therefore cannot be assimilated there, as it produces any transfer in any form fût. Toute alphysique action based first of all on the provide information. It is not intended to distort or transform the real, but to make it accessible and visible to other viewing angles. This is an essential point, which they will be required to develop. Here lies the fundamental difference in force between all forms of occult works (including radionics is, in some ways, the more contemporary side) and an order of kenosophique operation. A gulf of the same nature as that which separates relaxation hypnosis therapy. If one knows their limits (we will study those of Alphysique later), it remains true that while the first is to effect a transfer by imposing the will of another on that of the hypnotized person, the second is by suggestion, with the full participation of the individuals. in sophronic state. Likewise, Alphysique in no way to impose our wishes on others. Everyone is left perfectly free to choose, respecting free will. This is rather of an advantage, not of a power exerted at the expense of another living being. It seems necessary to our understanding, to use images which, imperfect as they are, do not illuminate unless readers on the themes of the Alphysique. this is often the case during the early days of two FM radio occupying two narrow frequencies. That the transmit power is slightly greater than that of the other and two radios will be almost imperceptible misaligned for one and the other. If either one has a much greater power than the other, it will completely crush the informati

they will become inaccessible. If their powers are equal, the two remain audible and the listener will be able to choose. Another scenario is that both radios are paired, taking turns their hours of airtime. In Alphysique likewise new information becomes accessible - thus increasing the chances of success in what you have started, and that, whatever the area in question - in the following cases:

a) as long as the resistance encountered is much lower in amplitude than ever imagined, and the new information can be "replaced" easily

b) the information is the same breadth as what existed before it. Hence, both information (be it for love, work, luck, life potential, spirituality or any other type of préoccupations) will also become available. But the final choice will, however, out of your reach c) the information is associated with other information - such as the metaphor of the two radios - similar in nature. In this case, you are guaranteed to get the "air time." How not to ignore them and pick up the right moment to act ... Imagine also Definitely, we ask a lot in these pages, the imagination of readers who, we are sure, there is no shortage, for example in the field of science, history or ethnology, new information, under form of a key discovery that could challenge much previous knowledge. Several cases may then arise, such information collides unwavering dominant thinking. It will therefore often simply be rejected, ignored or denigrated. It is not impossible for the researcher to overestimate the value of their data, or to have poorly measured conflicting data. This is the case with the "big radio" small squashing due to a higher transmit power.

Second possibility: the discovery arises at a time when prior knowledge is seriously compromised and they are hanging by a thread. He then dominates and membership prevails. There are also cases of coexistence, such as quantum physics, used in areas where classical physics

Moreover, fact that it is however completely eradicated from scientific thinking. Information will take all its value if the universe is ready to accept (an idea that joined in many ways the theory of morphogenetic fields of Sheldrake scientific Rupert. We report our readers. interested in this theory in said works, develop lead us too far from our subject) and receive. Some information may lie dormant for a long time, be stifled before resurfacing, and be widely accepted. However, they do not pass and risk delaying the course of a possible evolution. An exhibition does not necessarily lead to a verdict, but it has not communicated that it would not put the odds on its side to achieve a result. Practice some alternate history moments, this art is to imagine, from a particular point in history, what it would be happened if things at that time had forked in another direction, if this choice in place of another, had been made. We know that Leonardo da Vinci had made plans - with surprising accuracy - helicopter. To be functional, one element was missing, but of fundamental importance: the engine. Suppose now that a third person have discovered how to build and operate, and the two people know each other. The information is communicated to the painter and inventor. What necessarily means that the great Leonardo embarks on the adventure? Obviously not, because information can be fraught with obstacles of various kinds: it also collides with the concepts of time to be "useful"; which upsets the master's mind and in no way corresponds to his ideas on the matter. However by not transmitting, our man obscures the possibility of a leap forward, which still remains possible. The Alphysique does not do otherwise; it is nothing else - or not - about the transmission of information. Through these many examples, we will likely have a better understanding of how this can be useful, and they can often be quite essential. Let's look at some practical examples, which show, indeed, the possibilities and limitations of Alphysique. your life, the love sector. Vitality, emotional fulfillment is a new one

information that is sent to the Kenos through an instrument alphysique. There is not necessarily preliminary information, which slows down the time for such an embodiment, otherwise you would probably not like Alphysique. In most cases, positive and sometimes exceptional results are obtained.
If we knew the frequency with the subtle partition that separates us happiness, we would not have to take life so sadly seriously... However, sometimes the operation fails alphysique. Complex of failure, self-belief capable of being successful in this field often linked to childhood problems, fear of others, attitudes, impasse generating behaviors, failure to respect the codes of others, insistence looking in the wrong places , confident that "we do not have the right" to happiness: this is the kind of information that individually or form a formidable combination, if it is taken to its maximum extent, that is, if it is the dominant way of thinking, to the point that it is not can consider another and considers them as part of our "inner self" can shield any contribution of new information. If in our search, we associate in our thoughts, a specific person, the pitfalls are many more: repulsion, total indifference , real incompatibility, someone else already in love, etc. etc. Let's say, in this perspective, the impossibility of success? Far be it from us such a thought: information can indeed reach data of the same nature - which can range from sympathy to an unacknowledged impulse - and the emergence of a process of love. Or allow the person to positively consider the idea of a bond that would not naturally be touched. Or the passage of total inattention to the interests of "why not". With always the possibility, however, "dip" ... or to abstain, for one reason or another. The Alphysique, we said, remains totally respectful of free will. We cannot stress enough the damage - moral, physical, spiritual and relational energy - from so-called love spells, which are mostly like possession techniques incompatible with a true feeling of love.

information in the field of working life can be more crucial. But once again unforeseen obstacles can arise, ranging from self-indulgence to a lack of desire, less frequent than some well I mean, at least in mainstream thinking, but we still cannot dismiss existence. When the question is more "precise", the risks increase accordingly. Everyone obviously wants to get a raise or promotion to exercise rewarding work etc etc. But few of us know their real value, the extent and limits of their expertise. At least on a conscious level. This information is, however, deeply rooted in the subconscious.

But it is dominant in all cases. Any contradicting information can not be perceived and integrated. Add to that the possibility of looking for some way unfair, which is not us, fear of panic at times, price and comfort and is in the presence of a real Chinese puzzle.

The life energy field is no less delicate addition to the often mentioned problem by reincarnationists ailments called "karmic", especially in the case of diseases cyclical against which traditional medicine generally proves to be weak, pitfalls resident also in the psyche of the person for whom one acts, whether it be himself or a third person.

Physiological impairment can be a warning sign, it means something which is crucial for us to understand or serve as alibis, which arise numerous secondary benefits, including the escape of a painful situation.

An alphysique share of information transfer can be completely ineffective in these cases. To learn more, however, before you begin, it is possible better understand the pros and cons of a problem by indulging in some sort of "Balance" through a pendulum. And you will have a better idea of that which is likely to bring alphysique response.

And like any discipline, Alphysique's practice can take, before it can to be implemented, to work on oneself, emotions and motivations. What it is called, a little too hastily, "positive thinking" like this field often deformed by the "extension" not knowing the Coué method that ignorant a put around, not just to escape the rule elsewhere mentioned above the dominant information.

Thus, some "fans" of "dynamic psychology" blindly following the dictates of the first Murphy pass, they were shocked to see the results happen to the extreme opposite of those expected .The reason is the simple: the information transmitted has encountered a lot of unconscious resistance, creating a kind of interference. The action alphysique is not based on the same principles, it cannot under any circumstances have such effects.

The Alphysique is neither therapy nor an occult practice... it often remains bewildering from the results it gives us. In all cases, it is possible to benefit from a field protective alphysique. Or to be more precise, it is enriching one's field from input information. There are two main areas, two one way schools, which they unite on many points, the alphysique research. The first is the one just described, that of the kénosophique theory, based on the IFA (alphysique form of information); the second is based on the Arkalliens FEI (Influence Module) concept developed by Jacques Ravatin.

Part Nothing (the quintessential void), the Alphysique paradoxically brings it to everyone.

What was my surprise to see that the new precepts of quantum physics, if we are to believe a recent issue from the journal Science et Vie, it holds strangely continue on the IFA theory. The great quantum theories remain, let's face it, sealed ordinary people... in order to simplify access to a wider audience, some scientists came up with the idea of replacing the terms of waves and particles give the concept of information. Number of concepts, then the light of a new day: everyone can understand what information can be simultaneously present in many leagues, it can move while remaining a handy, how how we perceive can change nature etc. etc.

surprising synergy, where intuition, again, is supported by science.

The Kenos can be seen as a door, which forms and ritual forms are the keys.

Jewelery and objects presented in the prestigious alphysique collection were not born for chance, or even a transcendent view that had not been measured in terms of experience. They are the result of reflection, research, and above all countless tests and experiments that have helped to highlight the their extraordinary efficiency: they are a direct path to this void for excellence that can be sown the seeds of your new life, hoping that encounter more fertile ground.

The alphysical tools can be notified in two different ways: active or passive.

The first case concerns any information relating to a change of circumstances (professional, emotional, spiritual, etc., etc.) and corresponds, among the others, alphysiques pure rock hyaline crystal clocks (Maharajah pendulum pendulum Vajra, Ching cosmic pendulum clock) and the universal monitor.

The second essentially to the creation of protected areas and refers to more jewels belonging to the prestigious collection alphysique.

There should be a distinction, which is not unimportant, between those who wish to practice Alphysique and he (or she) who wants to become Alphysiste. A sincere believer can charge his prayers the real power, which he will bring to them authentic desires legitimate outcome. This does not mean that he is able to practice a great exorcism. Even with magic, rituals can only be performed after a long initiation.

The incorporation of alchemical products in numerous alphysical instruments could at first by surprise. The most commonly accepted error is that of treat alchemy as a poor relative of chemistry, when it is primarily the domain of physics. That opens a book of alchemy and the alchemists will be immediately struck by two evident proofs a) the omnipresence of a symbolic way, such as allegorical tales and engravings throughout the alchemical grimoire

b) the insistence with which alchemists underline the true purpose of their art: the transcendent transformation of the adept himself.

Reading and understanding alchemical writings play only a minor role in this transformation is in operation primarily through the observation of the nature, introspection and experimentation. Given the high level of demand and involvement around which alchemy, it is possible to formulate the following hypotheses of work: which reached him in the power of symbols, reaching, after a long time journey, a kind of in-consciousness, the alchemist can, at will, becoming itself a key for direct access to Kenos. From this point of view, Alchemy falls, on the whole, even if some aspects that seem to coexist be more of the energy sector, the transfer of information, which remains the most striking example is the transformation of lead into gold, which cells will be taken on the metaphysical level, purification of the soul or materially. This assumption is confirmed by one of the greatest contemporary alchemists, who did not hesitate to declare, in August 2001, broadcast on France Inter, "Alchemy is a Alphysics".

Therefore, the close association of these two disciplines seems to impose itself.

The alphysical instruments remain completely unsaturable, as not to be articulated on any transfer in any form. The elegance of the forms meets the high aesthetic requirement, which in no way cancels the obvious reasons for efficiency.

It is important to add that the Alphysique conflicts with any type of religion or belief, past, present or future, as it expresses in some way the quintessence of all.

Re: RAVATIN Jacques, a French scientist and ALPHYSICAL

This article concerns the kénosophique alphysique of F. Senequier and not of Ravatin much more complex and scientific (less operational). 2 schools not necessarily okay, but they draw on each other.

The alphysique is clearly positioned as un-magical, because the magic work in the world of energy and subject to its laws, while alphysique is that the informer, it injects new information into an object, manages every energy. This may also participate in string theory and confirm that it is possible to act on the source of all energy, to what precedes it ... what? Those who use alphysique think about overcoming a series of problems related to remote actions. The kénosophique alphysique is also spiritual and inspired by the Trinitarian mystery ...

Many objects have been created with strong power to inform here waveform is transcended from the symbol, the most interesting were marketing or distribution, nor the knowledge arising from the above alphysique branches however the others they have been inspired and have now created their own alphysic current. All remains to be discovered!

Inform about the power: I think if you inform the energy and quantitatively high consistency (upper athmiques, monadic planes) a pure body, the internal structure of the body can be changed at the atomistic level.

remote sharing

The alphysique allows you to work remotely in matters of health and on when it is appropriate to restore, re-harmonize lost or non-existent balances, in accordance with the fundamental laws of life and each plan of incarnation.

ALPHYSICAL

The alphysique comes from the research and work of Jacques Ravatin on the fields of form and consistency of emissions (see the book by Jacques Ravatin "Theories of form and consistency of the fields" and "The great book of distance actions" by Franck Senequier Crozet).

This work was pursued through research, further work, including Franck Sénéquier Crozet.

They led to the alphysique on the discoveries, methods and practices that create objects to operate in this area.

Statements by Frank Sénéquier Crozet

This new word was coined in the 1980s by French physicist Jacques Ravatin (now deceased).

The latter developed the original theory articulated around the concept of "forms" and "Coherence Fields".

In turn, Franck Sénéquier-Crozet, disciple of Jacques Ravatin developed his theory in two books "Diary of Alphysique (out of print)" and "the great book of the Distance Actions".

Alphysique his theory is centralized, in theory, kénosophique theory based on the concept of intelligent objects located outside of space-time, which makes it all: the Kenos.

This Kenos differs from three principles which form the: the Father, the Mother and the Son. We find this division in all Trinitarian religious systems.

Offshore surveillance (remote control)

The kenos separates from space-time by a "Kénosophique lens". This goal emerge twelve multiverse.

Matter, energy and information

Currently our universe should be the fourth or fourth Sibling universe. symbolic forms and specific forms called Alphysiques allow the Kenos to come to enrich information (off space time). Therefore the Alphysique is also a Formologie.

In alphysique there are neither vibrations nor energies for the common sense of those terms. Only IGF (information generated by the Forms).

The alphysique depends entirely on the "Information Theory". In this it is innovative, revolutionary and consistent with the spirit that now guide all research in the field of advanced physics, especially that of quantum physics.

RAVATIN Jacques, a French scientist and ALPHYSIQUE

The mathematician Jacques Ravatin, a French scientist who, these days, trying to explain energy due to emissions of forms considered the problem from the point of view of the Jewish Kabbalah and the great cosmological systems of India and Egypt. Enel was also the first to suspect the relationship between emissions and forms of cancer. He also discovered a program that acts on cancer cells, which we call "Enel Cancer emission"... So it's not just the Cheops pyramid and the Reichenbach pendulum. For researchers in their twenties, these are just two very light use of a much larger power of spatial shapes and volume. Belizal made a curious observation. It is recalled that the archaeologist Carter, discoverer of the famous tomb of Tutankhamun, was found near the sarcophagus a ring on which a strange sign was engraved. It swiped to the finger. The alphysique are unlike any known esoteric discipline, but each of them can be considered one of its subsets. Back to the original source, the original idea that most initiatory teachings are that altered form, as was the research center that led to the development of Alphysique. knowing how to use a computer does not necessarily mean knowing the workings and penetrating the arcana of the high-level computer, however, without it, it would not work is the same as in Alphysique: its products, for the most part, are extremely simple to use, but the principles that made their creation possible are the result of research. sharper. one of the greatest contemporary aberrations of wanting to obtain simple answers to complex questions, which require deepening. the problem is that as far as the things of the spirit are concerned, the level beyond that we consider too much complexity to enter has significantly lowered any deep thought becoming a "head grab". Despite permanent accessibility in mind, these pages will probably require some reflection effort... but after these, new perspectives! For Alphysique it offers nothing less than addressing the relationship between spirit and matter in a decidedly new way.

In its most banal way, for mapping to extreme consequences, it could be argued that alphysical tools (we mean "tools" in a broad sense, that is to say everything that allows us to act in one way or another and to exercise a work of transformation) is an association between the most powerful symbols of esoteric traditions from around the world and the most recent work relating to the emissions of forms. But they cannot be summed up in this, because the Alphysique in its highest levels has a metaphysical and cosmological dimension. The development of theories as to why this discipline is based did not do it in a day, but slowly got organized on subsequent research and experimentation; they were, in their beginnings, mainly guided by intuition. However, this does not detract from their intrinsic value.

Some alphysistes have a solid scientific background to the exclusion of any temptation gullibility. This is particularly the case with Jacques Ravatin, physicist, former member of the CNRS, whose surprising insights should generate Alphysique.

The Alphysique allows us to access the Kenos; not least of the merits of him... but really, what the Kenos?

Personally, they define me as the quintessential void, the uncreated, the matrix in which all possible worlds remain in gestation. In other words, Alphysique connects us to a time-out space, a blank page on which we can record new versions of our reality, that reality does not exist in that "dimension" - even if the word "dimension" does not literally correspond to the reality than the one with which we communicate, our purpose is made more understandable. Let's see, therefore, for the time of such an "approximation".

The Kenos is in some ways the equivalent of the Eastern Tao, it is probably no coincidence that the Tao is one of the most used metaphors by quantum "spiritualist" physicists. See in particular on the theme "The Tao of Physics" by Fritjof Capra - or "That which cannot be named" - literal translation of the biblical Creator Principle. A sort of pre-big bang in which all potential remains possible. . This is what Jacques Ravatin names global, in his theory of field coherence (see "theory of field form and consistency" - 3 volumes of Cosmogone Editions)

The Kenos potentially contains three principles: the Father, who represents absolute intelligence, but also absolute absence, somehow non-being, failure happened. Mother, symbol of absolute love; Son, uniting him in love and intelligence to access the Knowledge - to be distinguished from the Savoir. These three principles differ only when it comes into being; they generate twelve universes or brothers, running on different space-times.

That astrophysicist Jacques Vallée, who has long been assigned to Observatoire Meudon and works in Silicon Valley, this electronic Eden, appellait "tangential universe. "What quantum physics called, imperfectly in fact," parallel universe ". We are, for our part, in the fourth of these brothers.

These universes are each divided into four levels: matter, anti-matter, mental and spiritual. Readers will probably understand better now why I say it transcends the Alphysique theories of esotericism as all-encompassing.

The Alphysique however remains decidedly a-magical, it simply is not in the same experimental field. It is in fact totally extraneous to the phenomenon of "transfer" around which magic like Radionics. In both areas, a wave or an X-type energy will be used and deflected from its original environment (what some call the "subtle worlds" or "astral") or deflected from its course and its first goal to be used for execution.

Unfortunately, few people actually know the rules and risks of such a deviation. Every act of magic or sorcery necessarily implies compensation. That campaign wizard, through an appropriate ritual can cure a herd of cows... but they do give more milk.

As I said one practitioner "You can do a ritual to obtain absolute wealth... you can... but I tell you nothing about your health! ".I would like to add serious psychic disorders that can arise. I once, using radionics, paid the price to learn that in terms of managing the "energies" "waves" "vibrations" - what they are called - in the perspective of advantage, we got nothing for free ... and such activities often require a lot more than they are able to give, without losing the stuff ... the fall into the purely spiritual Alphysique area and therefore cannot be treated there, as it produces any transfer in any form fût.Toute Action alphysique based primarily on the provision of information .

it is not intended to falsify or transform reality but to make it accessible and visible to other viewing angles. This is an essential point, which they will be required to develop. Here lies the fundamental difference in effect between all forms of occult works (including radionics is, in some ways, the more contemporary side) and an order of kenosophique operation. A gulf of the same nature as that which separates the relaxation hypnosis therapy. If one knows their limits (we will study those of Alphysique later), it remains true that while the first is to effect a transfer by imposing the will of another on that of the hypnotized person, the second is by suggestion, with the full participation of the individuals. in sophronic state.

Likewise, Alphysique in no way to impose our wishes on others. Everyone is left perfectly free to choose, respecting free will. This is rather an advantage, not a power exerted at the expense of another living being.

It seems necessary for understanding, to use images which, imperfect they may be, do not illuminate unless readers on the themes of the Alphysique.

Imagine, as is often the case in the early days of FM, two stations occupying two narrow frequencies. That the transmit power is slightly greater than that of the other and two radios will be almost imperceptible misaligned for one and the other. If one of the two has a much greater power than the other, which it will crush completely, the information will become inaccessible. If their powers are equal, the two remain audible and the listener will be able to choose. Another scenario is that both radios are paired, taking turns in their hours of airtime.

In Alphysique likewise new information becomes accessible - thus increasing the chances of success in what actually and that, whatever the field in question - only in the following cases:

- a) the resistance encountered previously is much lower in amplitude than than ever imagined, and the new information you can "substitute" without difficulty
- b) the information is of the same magnitude as what existed before it. Hence, both information (be it for love, work, luck, life potential, spirituality or any other type of préoccupations) will also become available. But the final choice will, however, be out of your reach
- c) the information is associated with other information - such as the metaphor of the two radios - similar in nature. In this case, you are guaranteed to get the "air time." How not to ignore them and pick the right moment to act ...

Imagine also Decidedly, we ask a lot in these pages, the imagination of the readers who, we are sure, not to be missed for example in the field of science, history or ethnology, new information, as an essential discovery, such as to compromise the number of previous knowledge.

several cases may then arise, such information collides with an unwavering dominant thought. It will therefore often simply be rejected, ignored or denigrated. It is not impossible for the researcher to overestimate the value of their data, or to have poorly measured conflicting data. This is the case with the "big radio" small squashing due to higher transmission power. Second possibility: the discovery arises at a time when prior knowledge is seriously compromised and they are hanging by a thread. He then dominate and membership prevail. There are also cases of coexistence, such as quantum physics, used in areas where classical physics "glue" Furthermore, a fact that is however completely eradicated from scientific thought.

An information will take its value if the universe is ready to accept (idea that has joined in many ways the theory of morphogenetic fields of Sheldrake scientific Rupert. We bring back our readers interested in this theory to the works of which, developing it would lead us too far from our subject) and receive. Some information may remain dormant for a long time before being stifled resurfacing and being commonly accepted. However, they do not pass and risk delaying the course of a possible evolution. A show doesn't necessarily lead to a verdict, but it didn't communicate that it wouldn't put the odds on its side to achieve a result.

Let's practice a few moments in alternative history, this art is to imagine, from a specific point in history, what would have happened if things at that time had bifurcated in another direction, if that choice instead of another, had been accomplished. We know that Leonardo da Vinci had made plans - with surprising precision -... a helicopter. To be functional, one element was missing, but of fundamental importance: the engine. Suppose now that a third person have discovered how to build and operate, and the two people know each other. The information is communicated to the painter and inventor. What necessarily does it mean that the great Leonardo embarks on the adventure? Obviously not, because information can be fraught with obstacles of various kinds: it also collides with the concepts of time to be "useful"; which upsets the master's mind and in no way corresponds to his views on the matter. Yet, in order not to convey, our man obscures the possibility of a qualitative leap, which is still possible.

The Alphysique does not do otherwise; it is nothing else - or not - about the transmission of information. Through these many examples, we probably best captured how it can be useful to us, and that it can often be completely essential.

Let's look at some practical examples, which show, indeed, the possibilities and limitations of 'alphysique.

you want to increase the love sector in your life.

vitality, emotional fulfillment and new information that is sent to the Kenos through an alphysique tool. There is not necessarily preliminary information, which slows down the time for such an embodiment, otherwise you would probably not like Alphysique. In most cases, positive and sometimes exceptional results are obtained. If we only knew how often the subtle partition that separates us happiness, we would not take life so sadly seriously... However, sometimes the operation fails alphysique. Complex of failure, self-belief capable of being successful in this field often linked to childhood problems, fear of others, attitudes, impasse generating behaviors, failure to respect the codes of others, insistence looking in the wrong places, confident that "we do not have the right" to happiness: this is the kind of information that individually or form a formidable combination, if it is taken to its maximum extent, that is, if it is the dominant way of thinking, to the point that it is not it can look at another and see them as part of our "inner self" it can shield any contribution of new information.

If our quest, we associate in our thoughts, a specific person, the pitfalls are many more: repulsion, total indifference, true incompatibility person already in love elsewhere etc. etc. Let's go to say, in this perspective, the impossibility of success ? Far be it from us such a thought: information can indeed reach data of the same nature - which can range from sympathy to an unacknowledged impulse - and the emergence of a process of love. Or allow the person to positively consider the idea of a bond that would not naturally be touched. Or the passage of total inattention to the interests of "why not". However, always with the possibility of "diving in" ... or to abstain, for one reason or another.

The Alphysique, we said, remains totally respectful of free will. We can't stress enough the damage - moral, physical, spiritual, and relational energy - from so-called love spells, which are mostly like possession techniques incompatible with a true feeling of love.

the provision of information in the field of working life can be more crucial. But once again unforeseen obstacles can arise, ranging from self-indulgence to a lack of desire, less frequent than some well I mean, at least in mainstream thinking, but we still cannot dismiss existence. When the question is more "accurate", the risks increase accordingly. Everyone obviously wants to get a raise or promotion to exercise rewarding work etc etc. But few of us know their real value, the extent and limits of their expertise. At least on a conscious level.

This information is, however, deeply rooted in the subconscious.

However, it is dominant in all cases. Any contradicting information cannot be perceived and integrated. Added to this is the ability to look for a bad way, which is not us, panic fear at times, price and comfort and it is in the presence of a real Chinese puzzle.

The vital energy domain is no less delicate. In addition to the problem often mentioned by reincarnationists, disorders called "karmic", in particular in the case of cyclical diseases against which traditional medicine generally proves powerless, the devil in the psyche would also be the person for whom one is acts, either of themselves or of a third person.

a physiological impairment can be an alarm signal, it means something that is indispensable to understand or we serve as an alibi, which derive numerous secondary benefits, including the escape of a difficult situation.

a share of alphysique information exchange can be totally ineffective in such cases. To learn more, however, before embarking on it is possible to better understand the pros and cons of a problem by indulging in a kind of "balance" through a pendulum. And you will be in possession of a better idea of what alphysique is likely to bring answer.

But like any discipline, the practice of Alphysique may require, before it can be implemented, a work on itself, its emotions and motivations. What is called, a little too hastily, "positive thinking" is so often deformed by the "extension" not knowing the Coué method that ignorant to sell, not to escape the rule mentioned above, the dominant information.

for example, some "fans" of "dynamic psychology" blindly following the dictates of the first pass Murphy, were shocked to see the results happen at the opposite extreme of those expected ... the reason is simple: the information transmitted met a lot of unconscious resistance creating a kind of interference. The alphysique action is not based on the same principles, it cannot under any circumstances have such effects.

The Alphysique is neither therapy nor an occult practice... it often remains baffling by the results it provides us with. In all cases, it is possible to benefit from a protective alphysical field. Or to be more precise, it is enriching one's field with input information. There are two main axes . two schools in one way, which unite on many points, the alphysical research. The first is that we have just described, that of the kénosophique theory, based on the IFA (alphysique form of information); the second is based on the Arkalliens FEI (Influence Module) concept developed by Jacques Ravatin.

Nowhere (the emptiness par excellence), the Alphysique paradoxically leads to everyone.

What was my surprise to find that the new precepts of quantum physics, if we are to believe a recent problem from the journal Science et Vie, strangely holds on to continuing on the IFA theory. The great quantum theories remain, let's face it, sealed off from ordinary people... in order to simplify access to a wider audience, some scientists have come up with the idea of replacing the terms waves and particles by the concept of information. Number of concepts, then the light of a new day: everyone can understand that information can be present in many leagues at the same time, it can move while remaining at hand, like the way we perceive it can change nature etc. etc.

surprising synergy, where intuition, once again, is corroborated by science.

the Kenos can be seen as a door, which forms and forms of rite are the keys. Jewellery and objects presented in the prestigious alphysique collection were not born by chance, or even a transcendent vision that had not been measured in terms of experience. They are the result of reflection, research, and above all countless tests and experiments that have helped to highlight their extraordinary efficiency: they are a direct path to this emptiness par excellence that can be sown the seeds of your new life, hoping that encounter more fertile ground.

The alphysical instruments can be notified in two different ways: active or passive

The first case concerns any information relating to a change in circumstances (professional, emotional, spiritual etc etc) and corresponds, among others, to alphysiques pure rock crystal clocks (Maharajah Vajra pendulum, cosmic clock, Ching pendulum) and the universal monitor.

the second essentially to the creation of protective fields and mostly refers to jewels belonging to the prestigious alphysique collection.

it is a distinction which is not irrelevant, between those who wish to practice alphysique and he (or she) who wishes to become Alphysiste. A sincere believer can charge his prayers with real power, which will carry his authentic desires until their legitimate outcome. This does not mean that he is capable of doing a great exorcism. Even with magic, rituals can only be performed after a long initiation.

The incorporation of alchemical products into numerous alphysical instruments might at first be surprising. The most commonly accepted mistake is to treat alchemy as a poor relative of chemistry, when it is primarily the domain of physics. That opens a book of alchemy and the alchemists will be immediately struck by two striking proofs a) the omnipresence of symbolic ways such as allegorical tales and engravings throughout the alchemical grimoire

b) the insistence with which alchemists highlight the true purpose of their art :. the transcendent metamorphosis of skilful selves

reading and understanding alchemical writings play only a minor role in this transformation, it is mainly in operation through observation of nature, introspection and experimentation. Given the high level of demand and involvement around which alchemy, it is allowed to formulate the following working hypotheses: that he reached him in the power of symbols, reaching, after a long journey, a kind of in-consciousness, the alchemist carat will, becoming itself a key for direct access to the Kenos. From this point of view, Alchimia falls, on the whole, even if there coexist some aspects that seem to be more of the energy sector, the transfer of information, which remains the most striking example of the transformation of lead into gold, which cells will be taken on metaphysical plane, purification of the soul or materially. This hypothesis is confirmed by one of the greatest contemporary alchemists, who did not hesitate to declare, in August 2001, on air on France Inter, "Alchemy is an Alphysique".

As a result, the intimate association of these two disciplines seems to impose itself.

The tools remain completely alphysiques unsaturables, like not being articulated on any transfer in any form. The elegance of the forms meets the high aesthetic requirement, which erases anything in the clear interest of efficiency.

It is important to add that the Alphysique conflicts with any kind of past, present or future religion or belief, as it somehow expresses the quintessence of all.

Re: RAVATIN Jacques, a French scientist and

ALPHYSICAL

This article concerns the kénosophique alphysique of F. Senequier and not of Ravatin which is much more complex and scientific (less operative). 2 schools don't necessarily agree, but draw on each other.

The alphysique is clearly positioned as un-magical as the magic works of the last in the world of energy and subject to its laws, while that alphysique is that the informer, injects new information into an object, does not manipulate any energy. This could also participate in string theory and confirm that it is possible to act at the source of all energy, at what precedes it... what? Those who use alphysique think about overcoming a number of problems related to remote actions. The kénosophique alphysique is also spiritual and inspired by the Trinitarian mystery...

Many objects were created with a strong informing power here waveform is transcended from the symbol, the most interesting were the subject to no commercialization or distribution nor sa alphysique resulting from the above branches, although others were inspired and have now created its own alphysique current. Everything remains to be discovered!

Interview with Jacques Ravatin

The mathematician Jacques Ravatin, a French scientist who, these days, trying to explain the energy emissions due to forms considered the problem from the point of view of the Jewish Kabbalah and the great cosmological systems of India and Egypt. Enel was also the first to suspect the relationship between emissions and forms of cancer. He also discovered a program that acts on cancer cells, which we call "Enel Cancer emission"... So it's not just the Cheops pyramid and the Reichenbach pendulum. For researchers in their twenties, these are just two very light use of a much larger power of spatial shapes and volumes. Belizal made a curious observation. It is recalled that the archaeologist Carter, discoverer of the famous tomb of Tutankhamun, was found near the sarcophagus a ring on which a strange sign was engraved. It swiped to the finger. Coincidence or not: he was the only one not affected by the terrible curse that killed his fellow excavators ...

The Taofel fields: vital energy and quantum medicine

Ravatin- "We put water and oils to the action of high Taofel fields in these liquids, we put living cells. They increased the Champs themselves as our observations so the treated cells show liquids. accelerated growth, improved live potential and defense capabilities, etc. Soon experiments on polluted water will begin: microorganisms stimulated by appropriate Taofel fields should, in our view, remove impurities of any kind ".

In this glass cylinder surrounded by a double helix for accurately established characteristics, mineral forms are immersed which give water very high emissions.

living cells immersed in this water acquire biological properties useful in the treatment of polluted waters.

Q - When does a form medicine issue?

A - It depends on the doctors themselves. The possibilities are enormous, including for remote healing.

We have treated a table of oil fields from very high Taofel: it now has Outstanding tonic and regenerative properties. We are able to handle any food substance, water, wine, etc. By treating such an ordinary honey, a product is obtained whose biological properties are superior to those of royal jelly. In terms of pharmaceuticals, there may be such opportunities.

We can diagnose cancer two years before it is detectable in the human body. As I said, the tumor is first fixed on an individual Ext. We can immediately detect and prevent it from passing into the body.

the remote recovery of a disturbed vital field. In the center, on the photo of the subject, the Shin pendulum has right in the middle, the four cardinal points, the four components of the vital field.

oil processing passing through the very high Taofel Fields. The products thus treated are used therapeutically. Their properties are similar to those of some alchemical spirits but Entering is much faster (36 hours).

Q. - The emissions of the modules that provide an alternative to current technology and industry, so the dangers that you report just now?

A - Of course, otherwise our results on the plant and the human body would have an approximate value. And the radical changes that are obtained on inorganic matter are the best experimental confirmation of the Champs Taofel hypothesis: when we succeed through them without chemical catalyst catalyst, we certainly cannot deny the magnitude of their effects or speak of subjective results. We can also, by the same means, conduct the polymerization of molecules, which is one of the critical industry operations today. It is also possible to change the properties of various organisms. Yup can get such a density of mercury 15 instead of 13.6, change the vaporization or melting temperatures, etc.

In agriculture, we are now able to obtain biological transmutations under L. Kervran. As far as pure physics is concerned, Emissions from forms alter the main constants, as I have already explained. The alternative we are talking about is possible because without contesting the Technical Object, we assign it is endowed with unallocated, extensions harmonized with nature. So let's avoid piling up, unhealthy trampling I talked about UFOs and that is also the source of all forms of pollution.

D - Do not underestimate the danger inherent in your research ...

A - Sai Chaumery, Mr. Belizal's first collaborator, who died of reckless use of module emissions. It still does not work, it was then that the Taofel fields "of Belizal". Taofel fields in which we operate today are much higher and infinitely more dangerous.

Remember that Program wrong direction or whose orientation has been disturbed by slight movement of the device can suddenly reverse or enter the “K Sh Ph” state, then suddenly jump all surrounding pins. Imagine the situations they can cause.

Labyrinth of Chartres Cathedral Labyrinth and Amiens (bottom). These networks of medieval esotericism allow for the transfers of shapes and the creation of fractal objects.

Access to the universe

total ...?

We risk the same accident that the wizards of yore, magic as well as being a special case for the use of emissions from forms. Burns, heart failure, brain aneurysm... or worse, this is what awaits those who might work in this area without being properly trained by an experienced researcher.

Q - Also, where your formulations and experiences are, someone should want to access should first perform a real mental shift, if not a change of thinking ...

A - Indeed. Rationalist thinking can only distort the realities that interest us. Our work constantly requires thinking "differently".

Scientific evolution has not been in vain. Future science will be obtaining more powerful emissions known as the Ancients, thanks to the alloys we know today.

technical civilization technical stops of the "waves of form" Stopped the Champ "Belizal". As for us, we go to Champs higher and higher for global projections, broken richer. Until the day humans finally abandon the premises and set up his home in the... Global!
