

COSMOS 2000

(by Servranx Brothers)

All the influences of the cosmos to develop your gift of clairvoyance

The stars influence us and bring us their energies that sometimes fail us. This graphic also promotes clairvoyance. Whether you are seeing or not this graphic will help you.

It is specially designed by Felix and William Servranx to encourage anyone, clairvoyant or not, to season his sensitivity and to help him on the path of clairvoyance. It must be known that clairvoyance is not a particular gift to certain people, but a potential that everyone can develop if they sincerely desire it.

From this reasoning, the Servranx brothers understood that if the man listened to these influences coming from the cosmos, and if he sincerely tried to understand them to interpret them, it would make many more of us are very capable seers.

Only sometimes it takes a little help. This boost is here in the form of this graph. This new tool that you have just acquired works on the principle of the radiotelephone constantly listening to any message of life from the cosmos. The difference is that it does not transmit data to the person concerned but a series of wave information that makes him constantly attentive to what makes us human. After a while, trained to become more sensitive and attentive, the subject becomes more and more insightful with all that it entails as personal benefits or not. Little by little, the subject will come to interpretations and soon he will be able to sense, foresee, and correctly imagine the most diverse situations, from the most innocuous to the most important.

Place a witness in the center of the graph and orient it to the north. Estimate time by dowsing.
