Batteries & Batteries

Witnesses and means of action in dowsing, radionics, geobiology and kinesiology

The first part of this book contains the essential information and the instructions for use of the various batteries and rechargeable batteries.

In the annexes, in the second part, you will find these theories developed in more depth and supplemented by specialized practical methods.

Introduction

The four series of Servranx batteries and batteries

Throughout their lives as dowsers and radionicians, the brothers Félix and William Servranx never interrupted their research. Each day was rewarded when they had been able to make an aspect of their science more accessible to laymen; reward doubled when they managed to lift a corner of the veil allowing them to always surpass themselves.

After their disappearance, their companions continued the work of our friends and continued to develop the two sister sciences which are dowsing and radionics.

Today, after the development of the wonderful series of well-known Servranx graphics, and with the help of colleagues and enthusiastic experimenters, we are able to present to you the modern version of the four types of batteries developed by the Servranx brothers in the 1940s and marketed after the Liberation.

Many of you will recognize the well-known little hits. You will therefore note the changes that our collaborators have made over time. These changes are justified by the evolution of materials available on the market. Fortunately, in the case of Servranx batteries, these transformations are to the advantage of the tool. You will see, for example, that the

The chromatic witnesses here are real pigmentary masses, they are much more powerful and more constant both at the molecular level and at the visual level (phenomenon of alteration in light, use in the dark, etc.).

First series

7 harmful wave neutralizing batteries

Whatever the origin of the harmful waves, which we are almost always surrounded by, you are now able to identify them, but also to neutralize them and clean up any situation where you and yours must evolve. These batteries allow the control of waves of telluric, electrical, chemical, magnetic, physical, geobiological, psychic origin.

Second series

10 batteries "Forces S" - Balance and evolution

These batteries call on the subtle forces of our environment while combining numerological symbolism to put humans in tune with the Universe. By calling on one or more batteries, you will awaken within you — or strengthen — life, thought, consciousness, your nervous energies, your radioactivity, your magnetism. Your 4 electric currents will be rebalanced; your evolutionary and transformative power will be reactivated, your spiritual strength will make you move mountains and your abstract consciousness will flourish.

These batteries are true condensers and accumulators of vital energy, capable of strengthening the vitality of man on the physical, mental and spiritual levels.

Third series

10 planetary batteries ÿ Zodiac

If you wish to attract on you a favorable planetary influence, you will find in this ideal tool the means to achieve it. The same is true if you want to soften and transform an influence that you think needs to be changed.

Over time and the movement of the planets, you note that you will need to use different batteries.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

In practice, you will use these batteries to improve your state of health, act on the family or professional atmosphere, stabilize conflicts, counterbalance the effect of negative waves... to simply feel good! To not have to endure life, but to live it fully!

Fourth series 7 cosmic batteries ÿ Chakras

These 7 batteries bring directly to each of the 7 chakras, or centers of force of the human body, their particular cosmic energy. Each battery, thanks to its combination of numbers and colors in contact with the metal alloys, captures the cosmic energies necessary for the chakra for which it is intended and can thus revitalize it. The centers of force in turn transmit this new dynamism to the entire physical body, so that your functional balance is optimal.

All these batteries can be used separately or by combining batteries from the same series or from different series.

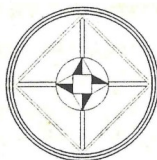

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The history of the United States is a story of a young nation that grew from a small colony of settlers to a powerful world superpower. The story begins with the first European settlers who arrived in the late 15th and early 16th centuries. These settlers were primarily from England, but they also included people from other European countries, including France, Spain, and the Netherlands.

The early years of the United States were marked by a period of rapid growth and expansion. The country's population increased from a few thousand people in 1776 to over 200 million people by 1900. The country's territory expanded from a small strip of land along the Atlantic coast to a vast empire that stretched from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean.

The United States was a nation of immigrants, and its people came from many different backgrounds and cultures. This diversity was one of the strengths of the country, as it allowed the United States to draw on the talents and skills of people from all over the world. The United States was also a nation of pioneers, and its people were known for their spirit of adventure and exploration.

The United States was a nation of freedom, and its people were known for their love of liberty and democracy. The United States was a nation of progress, and its people were known for their innovation and creativity. The United States was a nation of hope, and its people were known for their optimism and faith in the future.

The United States was a nation of opportunity, and its people were known for their hard work and determination. The United States was a nation of achievement, and its people were known for their accomplishments in science, technology, and the arts. The United States was a nation of greatness, and its people were known for their leadership and influence in the world.

The United States was a nation of peace, and its people were known for their love of harmony and cooperation. The United States was a nation of justice, and its people were known for their commitment to fairness and equality. The United States was a nation of love, and its people were known for their kindness and compassion for one another.

Les 7 Batteries Neutral NE UTRAUSA TR IC ES of HARMFUL waves

Technical informations

At all times, dowsers have had to deal with some research into harmful waves, but most of the work was limited to the detection of harmful telluric waves. These dowsers had at their disposal more or less valid and stable protection systems still in vogue twenty years ago: let us quote for example oil, charcoal, sulphur, gravel, chokes, etc. .

Today, unfortunately, we detect many other sources of harmful radiation. It is in this sense that we have pushed our investigations in order to make available to everyone, not only a kit for detecting harmful waves, but also a simple and radical way to neutralize the effects of these dangerous disturbing currents. After detecting seven main sources of radiation disrupting our vital potential and harming the proper functioning of our cells, we have chosen to push our research in each of the seven directions in order to develop batteries that work effectively - both for humans and for animals or plants.

Each battery is designed to recharge itself after use. Our kit therefore has a significant advantage since it is, therefore, unalterable and protected from any so-called impregnation reaction (remanence).

Precaution: in case of breakage or dismantling (strictly not recommended), throw away the entire battery without trying to salvage any part of it. Apart from this warning, there is no danger in handling the batteries.

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

In order to facilitate research and to avoid user errors, a serial number and a matching color is given to each neutralizing battery. The generator principle is brought by the spiral rod which circulates in the center of each battery. The black material was subjected to radiation from a radionic device specially developed by the Servranx brothers with the aim of neutralizing harmful waves; the clear material has undergone an identical treatment superactivated to serve as a regenerator for the battery.

The composition of the kit is as follows:

Battery No.	Original harmful waves
1 ÿ brown	telluric
2-yellow	electric
3 - orange	magnetic
4 ÿ yellow-orange	Various objects
5 - light blue	chemical
6 - red	physical
7 - dark pink	psychic.

Thus constituted, the "Neutral" kit allows immediate action on all the harmful waves listed above, waves easily detectable by pendulum examination. If necessary, the action of several batteries can be used at the same time.

Instructions
for use 1- Dowsing research

Hover over the subject's witness (photo, handwritten letter, saliva-coated cotton wool, etc.) and explore the kit with your free hand by touching the different batteries one by one. If the subject is a place, the witness will be a photo or a geological sample.

It goes without saying that the best work is done directly in the presence of the human or animal subject or directly in the field.

By tuning, you will discover the battery(ies) which will indicate to you the various harmful waves affecting the subject (you will thus have identified the origin of the disturbance(s)). The intensity of the disturbance can be measured by placing the indicator of the subject and the battery at the ends of a Servranx ruler and performing the pendulum search.

When all the parameters are known, you will have to act on the disturbance by radionic action with the help of the determined "Neutral" battery.

2. Radionic transfer

The energy charge of a battery can be transferred to different materials such as granulated sugar, powdered milk, sulphur, sea salt or even beeswax.

If you have an electret, you can also charge it with energy from a "Neutral" battery, this is a very stable relay.

The charging time can vary from 30 to 60 minutes (to be determined by dowsing on a Servranx ruler), the average charging time being 45 minutes. If you forget the battery on the relay, have no fear: the overload is always recovered by the battery itself.

After transferring its energy, the battery will be subject to a recovery time of at least 48 hours before further use. When not in use, be sure to keep the batteries away from light, wrapped in dark paper, for example.

Check with the pendulum which is the best relay to load for the determined case. For example, for harmful telluric waves, the best relays will be made of sugar, sulfur or sea salt. In the case of a physical or psychological disturbance, only edible products are suitable: thus, each day, you can detoxify more easily by absorbing a pinch of the product charged by the "Neutral" battery. As far as other forms of disturbance are concerned, the products already mentioned will be suitable; but it is possible that your research will give you other solutions.

Making a relay is very simple: all you have to do is put 20 to 30 grams of loaded product in a small strong paper or plastic bag. You will then place your relay for 6 to 7 days in contact with the objects, products or places identified as harmful. To neutralize a room or a house, i 1 must place a sachet of product at each corner (i.e. 4 per room) and renew them twice a year.

We advise you to also read, in the second part of this book (Appendixes), What happens when we "neutra read" the harmful waves, by F. Servranx.

The 10 Drums SPECIAL FORCES «Forces S»

Technical informations

This kit was designed based on the technique of the famous disc of the 36 forces of Félix Servranx, whose detailed study was the subject of articles in the press of the 1950s.

Fans of the so-called "36 forces" radionics technique developed in the 1940s by the Servranx brothers found themselves unable to establish any research in this field for almost 40 years. To fill this gap we took over the work of Servranx and we developed a modernized product making easier the use of certain unknown energies unusable until today.

In fact, "Forces S" batteries are veritable accumulators of vital energy which condense a set of forces capable of meeting the classic needs of man on the human, physical, magnetic, electrical, chromatic and radioactive levels.

Well balanced and specially selected for their practicality in use, these batteries are a first choice tool for dowsing and radionics work.

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

Each battery of the "Forces S" series contains the following elements:

1 ÿ A transmitter of colored influx acting as a dynamizer of the cosmic number in tune with the goal and the "forces S" to be put into action for each of the batteries.

2 - A metallic choke of 22 turns, galvanized and irradiated (principle of radionics).

3 ÿ An aluminum cylinder charged by electronic flash.

4 ÿ An irradiated sodium charge (white crystals).

It is all of these elements that provide our "Forces S" batteries their great energy output.

Without there being any relationship as to their action, it is on the same basic principle that our "Cosmic batteries" were made. They have already given so many proofs of effectiveness that we can only be convinced of the beneficial action of this "S forces" series. It will bring everyone satisfaction and success in the most diverse fields.

Detailed table of the actions of the 10 "S Forces" batteries.

1 - "S" ÿ97531ÿ Life, thought, concrete consciousness.

2 - "S" ÿ68024ÿ Vital and physical magnetism.

3 "S" ÿ73159ÿ Nervous and sexual energy.

- 4 ÿ" S" ÿ08642ÿ Radioactivity, decay, energy nuclear.

ÿ" S" ÿ28046ÿ Ultraviolet and ultrasound.

6 "S" ÿ79135ÿ Vital and electric dynamic electricity

- vital static city.

7 "S" ÿ62840ÿ Physical dynamic electricity and

- physical static electricity.

8 - "S" - 57913 - Infrared, heat, light.

9 ÿ" S" ÿ24680ÿ Evolution, transformation, mutation.

10 - "S" -13579 - Spiritual force, abstract consciousness.

... must admit that official science often neglects or ignores the importance of these condensed energies which can provide us with a considerable contribution of new forces or means of experimentation. That this sometimes goes beyond the understanding of contemporary minds, including those most open to these sorts of discoveries, we deeply regret. But our field of action is that of dowsing and we know its value well.

Instructions for use of the "Forces S" batteries

dowsing exam

Thanks to this kit you will be able to quickly establish the analysis of the particular energies from which a subject could benefit. An evaluation on a Servranx chart (N° 16,18,21,25, etc.) or on the Servranx rule for dowsing can also reveal deficiencies and thus indicate how to help the person concerned as much as possible.

Always hang over the witness of the subject (photo, writing, cotton wool soaked in saliva, etc.) and, with your free index finger, touch the batteries one by one in numerical order from 1 to 10.

Select the battery(ies) and check to what this corresponds to the table above.

Action radionique

If the subject is present, or if it is yourself, the charging sessions can be done by holding the battery in hand for 4 to 5 minutes, once or twice a day. Eventually, do your research on the Servranx rule for dowsing to correctly establish the number of weekly or monthly sessions.

You can also place the battery with the witness of the subject

Au'us & Batteries - Cookies and means of action on a radionic transmitter of the Servranx graphics series (N52 ,49 ,43 ,41 ,35 ,12 ,6 ħ . etc). The transmission time is to be determined on the Servranx ruler.

You can also make very stable impregnations of various materials such as: sugar, powdered milk, honey, bottled mineral water or distilled water in vials (pharmacy). Warning! Do not put the battery in contact with honey or water, but place it outside, against the container. This precaution is unnecessary for solids.

Charging time: 1 to 3 hours per liter of liquid, 30 to 45 minutes per kilo of solid matter.

Keep in mind that our batteries can also be used very effectively for animals and plants.
I .our revitalizing actions are very spectacular in these particular areasŸ.

The energy recharge of the batteries is done automatically in 48 hours (out of use and placed in their box protected from light, wrapped in dark paper).

These batteries do not present any danger of use, but we remind you, however, that a radionics experiment must be done knowingly and after having taken the usual precautions.

To all, good work and fruitful experiences!

We advise you to also read, in the second part of this book (Appendixes): You can detect the existence of 16 forces by F. Servranx.

The 10 planetary batteries

Basic principles (after Perreaux).

A planetary battery consists of:

- 1 - the chemical symbol of the metal (according to its planetary correspondence),
- 2- the graphic symbol of the planet,
- 3ý the color symbol of the planet,
- 4ý the planet's metalloid witness (homeopathic granules).

These elements are brought together in an airtight test tube ment and definitely blocked.

Thanks to this combination, the planetary batteries thus constituted will gradually take charge of the influences of the planet of which they are the relay. This charging period can last more or less depending on the arrangement and orientation of the emitting planets with respect to the Earth.

In order to reduce this time and obtain a fixed and definitive charge, each of our planetary batteries was subjected to an "electro-cosmo-magnetic" bombardment lasting 48 hours. This initial charge thus allows the batteries to recharge themselves indefinitely according to the principles of power supply and magnetism.

Role of planetary batteries

The planetary batteries fulfill a double mission:

- 1 - attract beneficial or favorable cosmic influences, 2- neutralize harmful or unfavorable cosmic influences.

Friends & Batteries - Cookies and means of action

- Thus, for any dowsing research you could, in advance, detect the most favorable battery for your work and place it near you or in contact with your study witnesses to considerably reinforce the success of your research. It will not always be the same battery, it will vary according to the circumstances and the type of examination.

- If you want to clarify or strengthen your writings, you will only need to determine the necessary planetary battery and place it near you during your writing work.

- If your state of health, both physical and moral, leaves something to be desired, determine the planetary battery that will put you back on your feet. Check if it should be worn on you and for how long or if it is preferable to put it in contact with a witness presenting you. The effects obtained on the mental currents are P; 1 ilicu l i erly striking.

and

- Exciting experiments can be carried out on all plants, in whatever form: cut flower, plant, seed, etc.

How to use the battery with plants:

- Planting the battery next to the diseased plant will give it strength 1 * 1 vigor.

- Tie a battery to the trunk or branches of a tree to promote growth or flowering.

ÿ For any crop, charge the irrigation water with planetary influences of a particular type. But beware ! Do not allow water to submerge the battery cap.

Planetary batteries can still be used for:

- Counterbalance the action of harmful waves.
- Promote sleep by placing the battery under the pillow or on the nightstand.
- Reinforce the action of homeopathic medicines or others.

- Act on the family, professional atmosphere, etc.;
- Stabilize conflicts in family issues, professionals, etc

Manual

To determine the battery (or the set of batteries) suitable for the case examined, recourse will be had to the pendulum according to the usual process of tuning between the action or the desired goal and the battery thus determined.

The intensity of action can be evaluated by the measurement with the upper ondiometric dial (Graph Servranx n° 1) and the rational analysis of the detection of the batteries can also be carried out by using the astro-dowsing dial (Graph Servranx n° 7).

Action at a distance

To act remotely, it is useful to use a photo and any Servranx remote transmission device: Magnetron (Graphic Servranx n° 3), Herrinckx transmitter (Graphic 11° 6), radionic device ERR6 - P, etc

Depending on what you will use to transmit remotely, it will be necessary to determine the position of best activity in relation to the battery and the photo indicator placed on the transmitter. For that it will be enough to make horizontally pivot the assembly carried out until the pendulum indicates the good orientation to you.

In addition, take into account the attached documentation concerning the principle and the role of the planets (astrological point of view); you will thus be able, after tuning your batteries, to know the basis on which the action can be done by cosmic relay, this for the 10 batteries of the kit.

A(< 11s & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Know how to work with skill and balance. Do n't exaggerate the time it takes to load emissions and above all, don't forget to check your assembly and undo it after use. When not in use, keep your batteries away from light, eg wrapped in dark paper.

Do not forget that the action of planetary batteries is a tangible reality, that the operator wields forces as powerful as they are delicate, capable certainly of wonders, but also of catastrophes if we neglect the monitoring and the indispensable controls.

The 7 Cosmic Batteries

Chakra revitalization

Technical informations

Each of the 7 batteries has been calibrated on various elements which give it particular properties of energy actions, capable of acting, initially, on the etheric envelope of the human body; then on the human body itself.

It is through the judicious combination of numbers, colors and metals that the sensor-capacitor effects and emitter of cosmic energies have been successfully obtained.

Each battery consists of the following elements:

1. A strip of paper energized according to the trial of word-witnesses. This strip bears the following information:

a) the battery code (CI, C.2, etc.),
b) the cosmic number in quotes,
c) the indicative of the number of rays acting by syntonization with the chakra or center of force of the human body which it must energize.

2. A set of two colors whose combination of colored influxes gives the energy rhythm of the battery.

3. A 22-turn galvanized metal choke.

4. A 7 cm red copper rod bringing the self into contact with the colors.

The strip of paper bearing the cosmic number is also in contact with the self in order to ensure the recharging of the battery by energy relay.

What happens when we

NEUTRALIZES HARMFUL WAVES

Par F. Servranx

May 1956

In recent years, the means of protection against the influences called "harmful waves" have become multiplied and diversified, to such an extent that it may be useful to seek to clarify clearly and ask oneself: "What do we do when we 'neutralize' a harmful influence?"

s'

The role of absorbents

() has used, with success in some cases, sluggish substances... sulphur, charcoal, sea salt, sawdust, mineral lumps, bituminous cardboard, linoleum, &c.

It seems that they are indeed absorbents since they seem to indicate that these substances only protect for a time, after which they begin to radiate themselves as the initial influence, which gives an increased harmfulness: source, micro + substance. What happened ?

Suppose we used a 2 liter container of mineral oil (motor oil) placed directly above the point of release of "something harmful". In the first times, we no longer notice anything, we sleep better, we feel liberated, clear...

But now after about six months the discomfort returns. Sleep is leaking, we're restless, we're depressed again, shiny.

Let's replace the oil container with a new one, similar in all points. It's back to normal, you feel alive again, etc.

The proof is thus that the mineral oil absorbed the influence, took charge of it, and that it has a saturation point beyond which it in turn begins to emit the accumulated influence.

Some devices, including those we have listed, therefore appear to act as absorbents.

Neutralizers and transformers

Other devices, with solenoids, with contacts of different metals, are based on the transformation of the harmful influence into a neutral, if not beneficial, influence.

After having measured the radiesthetic length of End harmful fluence, or after having determined its polarity, or after having tuned its or its colors of agreement, the radiesthesist will propose:

- to change the unfavorable dowsing length into a neutral or favorable dowsing length,

- to modify its polarity,

- or to change the color of it, etc.

Various devices are inspired by the principle of the Faraday cage and, using "impregnation control" tubes, Turenne effectively protected the premises by creating virtual Faraday cages.

In these various cases, but only then, can we speak neutralization or transformation.

Why are these processes not preferred?
respect to others?

It seems that the harmful influences, especially from the subsoil, are not absolutely constant. The "calculated" means of neutralizing the influence as it manifests itself today may prove inadequate if this harmful influence varies significantly.

If we find ourselves in the presence of very diligent means of protection, we see
- that it is possible to give a valid interpretation

the action of each of the means implemented;

—that this action is not the same in the different cases protective and varies as the means themselves;

— that it would be childish to deny the physical character of harmful influences because one can practically neutralize them by shapes or numbers, these shapes and numbers emitting physical influences which, although very weak, nevertheless have a very appreciable action on the living cell, since these "micro-protections" render living organisms insensitive to the so-called harmful influences which may exist in a determined place;

- finally, that it is essential, when one wants to protect a place against these harmful waves, to be fully aware of the route, the emergence and the exact nature of the harmful influence in question, but also of the method that we are going to apply: absorption, neutralization, derivation or desensitization of the occupants of the place, so as not to risk seeing this protection become obsolete over time, and to possibly foresee when it will have to be replaced (as in the case where we would use an absorbent).

Cosmic Batteries

October 1967

After several years of experimentation on the use of ȳ

We will not go into scientific explanations about these kinds of energies here, the purpose of this article being! »!1 simply to render service to the dowsing friends who, 1*1 a! » 1 lciiii sensitivity and competence, will be able to experience the effectiveness of this new theory of 1 « 11 ! ȳ idmnlqur <“the cosmic batteries”.

I .1 main difficulty to overcome in constructing a ȳ umulateir of such kind was to select certain ener-. h! • • ȳȳ iniquitous which may be well suited to the vegetable and mimai realms qun that of man.

The diversity and the almost infinite number of energies that can be captured in the cosmos implied, at the start of such an achievement, research of dowsing tunings in the range of metals and also colors, knowing by experience that any known body tunes in vibratory accord with a metal and also with a color of its own.

That said, here is the technical basis for the constitution of the cosmic batteries which have been limited to 7 to meet the main vital needs of living organisms.

Each of these 7 batteries has been calibrated on various elements which give the battery particular properties of energetic actions capable of acting on the etheric envelope, first, and then on the physical body.

It is through the judicious combination of numbers, colors and metals that the "sensor-capacitor and transmitter" effect of cosmic energies could be successfully obtained.

Indeed, each cosmic battery consists of:

1) a strip energized by the process of witness words, including the indicative:

- a) the battery (Cl ÿ C.2 - C.3 ÿ etc.),
- b) the cosmic number (written in quotation marks),
- c) number of spokes (by action tuning with the 7 chakras or centers of force);

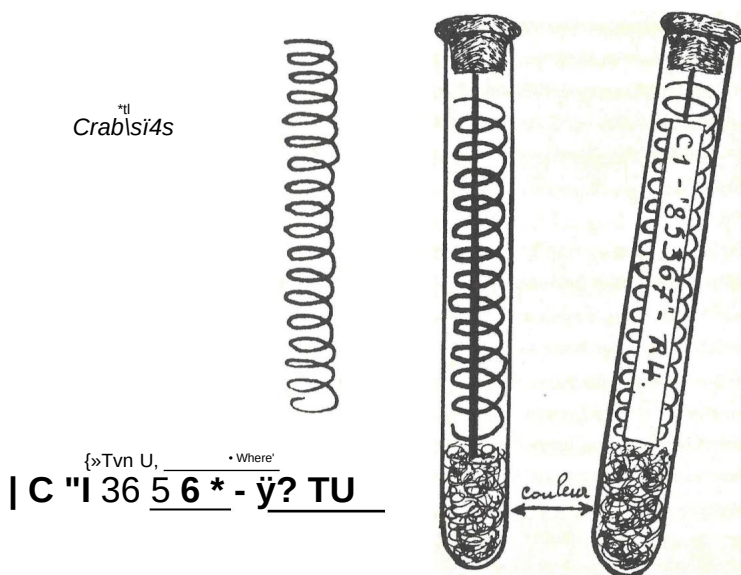

2) of a simultaneous play of two combined colors which, for the influx of colored waves, gives the energy rhythm to the battery;

3) a 22-turn galvanized metal self and a 7 cm long red copper rod (in contact with the colors on the one hand and the self on the other) which have a combined action.

Note that the word-witness strip with the number cosmic is itself in permanent contact with the self which ensures the charge and the energy relay.

Thus designed, the same glass tube brings together the various active elements which make it a simple, practical and efficient accumulator for rational use in radionics.

There are still many things to discover by experimenting and it is certain that each dowser will make, thanks to these batteries, exciting discoveries in the various fields of human existence.

We will always be interested in the communications that will be good enough to make us the researchers having our Musée of cosmic batteries.

Manual

Hover over the subject's witness and, with your free hand, squint at the various batteries one by one. By tuning you will discover the battery or batteries necessary for a radionic emission by cosmic influx.

Then calculate the emission duration per session and, finally, the number of sessions per day, per week or per month.

Once the cosmic battery has been found, you can, thanks to a dial of measurements, see the intensity of action in relation to the subject (y) to its witness.

For yourself, you can hold the rechargeable battery in your hand for the duration of the energy charge. Likewise if it is a question of a third person present at the examination.

You can also imbue with cosmic energies that are soothing for the organism, sugar, lactose, honey, natural or mineral water (charging time, approximately 1 to 3 hours, but it is preferable to pendulum for each case.

WARNING. In case of liquid, do not fully immerse the battery, 1/3 of the height of the glass in contact with the liquid is sufficient.

For remote transmissions, choose Télé-REC or graphics such as Magnetron, Herrinckx transmitter at 4
Diamonds, Vital and Healing Magnetism, Solomon's Seal, Yogi Amplifier, Psycho-Inductor, following the instructions for use which are attached to each of these devices.

Experiments on the plant and animal kingdom would seem possible with encouraging results.

Let us recall, in conclusion, that it is forbidden to practice the medical art without a diploma; so be careful and wise in your experiments.

One more last word. This series of cosmic batteries has now been in experimentation for more than two years and the results obtained thanks to this new element of radionic radionics thesis seemed to us sufficiently encouraging to benefit all those who are still unaware of its existence.

The purpose of this article is to expand again and again the multiple means of action that are beneficial and favorable to human beings. Through the most diverse processes of the reasonable practice of dowsing, one can thus bring to each a little more harmony, a little more vitality, a little more happiness in life.

We do not ignore advances in science to help men to adapt to the tiring life of today, but there are still so many things to discover, so many means to implement and a little light on actions still poorly understood by cosmic influences, favoring our balance and body health.

It is in this hope that I will leave each of you, friends readers, the care to conclude and perhaps to experiment one day the so salutary action of the cosmic batteries.

To all, good work and success.

You CAN DETECT

the existence of 36 forces

By F. Servranx

April 1949

Science and dowsing

It is necessary to practice dowsing dowsing. There is no reason to want it to stick closely to the aptual notions of science. The dowsers of the last century who, seeking to make their practice conform to the first steps of electromagnetism, related everything to electricity and magnetism, wanted to ignore the corpuscular phenomena, Well described by the Abbé de Vallemont and most obvious for all dowser a little observant.

Do not, in your turn, commit such an error in trying to reduce everything either to disintegration, or to cosmic rays, or to Hertzian waves, as we wanted to do in the 1930s and 1940s.

There is all this in dowsing, but when you have built splendid theories, you will not have, for all that, convinced the official scientists and you will remain confronted with several phenomena which, not to tally with your beautiful physical theories , will nevertheless continue to remind you, in a sometimes embarrassing way.

Accept this idea that Science today, with a capital S, whatever its service record, is far from having explained everything, discovered everything; that it still knows nothing about life, thought, the origin and end of things, etc.

Admit also that in dowsing, everything is far from being said and known. A rod, a pendulum, do not speak. As Mr. Victor Mertens said very well, "they do not make you learned". All you can do is observe what happens, formulate a hypothesis and try not to fit the still limited notions of dowsing into the still limited notions of science but, since you are a dowser, to seek to disentangle by the dowsing itself the phenomena which your works highlight.

If the scientists, by their own methods, do the same, it will happen more than once that the acquisitions of science will come to confirm dowsing explanations. But be sure that there will always be gaps and that these will only get closer little by little and from time to time.

Preparations to locate the 36 forces

Do you know how many forces there are, that is to say phenomena comparable to the presently known forms of energy? Nice problem for a dowser...

However, without claiming to recognize all the existing forces, you can spot 36 of them — that's not bad even to make —, and witnesses. Here's how :

If you operate with a stick.

Draw a chalk circle on the ground, as perfectly as possible, with a radius of 1.80 m, and first mark the North-South and East-West lines passing through the centre. In turn, divide each of the 4 sectors into 9 equal parts that you will simply limit with large dots on the circumference.

You thus have a circle, divided into 36. Number from 1 to 36, starting from the North and clockwise,

Ai (11s & Batteries y Witnesses and Means of Action

1st sections delimited by the dots, the numbers being written outside the circle.

Place a blue disc (medium blue) about 4 cm in diameter in the center of the circle, where the lines North-South and East- < Hiest intersect. Place outside and at the northern end of the circle, a lemon yellow disc also 4 cm in diameter.

These two colored discs will be made of wood and entirely painted with enamel color on both sides and edge. They can be replaced by a bottle of blue ink (medium blue) in the center, and a bottle of yellow ink (lemon yellow) at the northern tip of the circle (outside).

To observe the phenomena you will turn, wand in hand, around the circle, starting from the North and clockwise.

If you operate on a pendulum.

Trace ^{and} on a white cardboard a circle of 32 cm in diameter with Indian ink, very black. Draw two diameters that intersect in the center at right angles, and orient the disc so that your diameters run North-South and East-West.

Divide the perimeter of each of the 4 sectors into 9 parts, by large dots on the circumference. Then starting from the North and clockwise, number, between the points, the 36 sectors thus formed, numbers on the outside. (1)

Place in the center, a medium blue indicator and at the North point (outwards) a lemon yellow indicator. As controls, preferably use small discs of paper, colored in the mass, 2 to 3 cm in diameter.

To observe the phenomena, you will place yourself in the South, facing the North, and you will hold your pendulum in line with the center above the blue witness.

(1) If making this graph seems too complicated for you, you can obtain the 36-sector Omnibus graph 58a from Editions Servranx.

Location of the 36 forces

Try locating some known forces first, by simple mental orientation.

You will find by a movement of a wand or a pendulum direction:

ÿ in sector 9 (which precedes the East line), the light,
- in sector 25 (two spaces after South-West) physical dynamic electricity.

Stabilize one of these known energies, for example light, by placing on sector 9 either a small lit electric flashlight or a white witness.

From this moment, the orientations being awakened by the yellow and blue color witnesses, and the circle being specialized for the energies by the presence of the light (or white) witness in sector 9, you will feel a jump of the wand or a pendulum direction at each sector.

36 plans of forces — distinct forces — are mentioned by our disc.

What are these forces?

To find out, place a small open bottle containing rice powder (unscented) or powdered sugar on each sector and number each bottle according to the sector.

You will leave everything in place for about 30 minutes; it will be more convenient to replace the light at 9 with a white indicator.

Box 9 can receive the vial of powder in addition to the light or white indicator.

After about 30 minutes, you will remove the vials and cork them. You will thus have 36 force witnesses. All you have to do is find out what each witness agrees with. You will find that No. 36 agrees with heat, No. 8 with the magnetism of the magnet, and No. 7 with vital magnetism.

A(SUVs & Batteries - Witnesses and Means of Action

Here is what I have identified, and I urge every student to verify it. I warn the reader that this is not a classification in wavelengths or frequencies. The forces were identified 1.1 where they manifested themselves, and the reason for their order escapes the hypotheses that can be made on this subject.

On the other hand, one will find in the list which will follow different localizations for forces that current science assimilates to each other. Thus, in this experiment, static electricity occupies a place apart from dynamic electricity. (e is not an autosuggestion of the operator, the author knowing full physics and not making this distinction; the same applies to sectors 1.4, 11, 19, 20, 21, even 30 and 31 which do not, from the point of view of current science, make any sense!

But, I repeat, I limit myself to saying what is found in this experience, by doing dowsing dowsing:

Forces 12 (nuclear), 18 (ultrasound) have been identified on photographic reproductions of devices bringing them into play (photos illustrating articles on this subject).

We would like to admit that the denominations are all provisional, but clear enough to put everyone on the path.

And what can you use it for?

This patient work carried out over several years has rendered me personally the greatest service. Here are the ways:

1,001 USES OF
PLANETARY BATTERIES By
Marcel Perreux
April 1954

If the author of these lines admits that his knowledge of astrology is less than elementary, it is not to denigrate it, but simply to reassure the thesis rays who find themselves in a similar situation and not to then attract the wrath of experienced astrologers who will certainly find fault with, complete, clarify...

What are planetary batteries made of?

Several glass tubes, like those generally used for controls, a piece of card stock, some cotton wool, colored crystals whose colors are detailed below, strips of printed cardboard and corks . All this serves to constitute the relays of the planets, the planetary batteries.

We have retained the seven main ones: Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Jupiter, Mars and Saturn. On the cardboard strips, which are 8 mm wide and 40 mm high, is indicated on the upper part the chemical symbol of the metal in resonance with the planet. Immediately below, the symbol of said planet. Beneath this, a self of the color in keeping with the planet. Here is the table of these agreements:

A thousand uses...

The uses of these planetary batteries are multiple. Let us mention the main ones. To determine the appropriate battery or batteries, the pendulum will be used according to the usual process.

These batteries can first help you to carry out your work more efficiently and more easily, because they fulfill a double mission: on the one hand to attract favorable cosmic effluences and on the other hand to neutralize harmful effluences.

So when you perform a dowsing search, you can hold in your hand, next to the witness for example, the tube that you have detected as being favorable to you for this purpose. It will not always be the same battery. It will vary depending on the circumstances and the type of research. In the same way, by placing it on your desk, it may be useful to you: you will write this or that letter more easily, the results of your application will be favorable to you, etc.

In the morning, before starting your day, find the battery that suits you. Slip it into your pocket. It will act like a talisman. In the evening, you will be happy with your day, you will have seen the opportunities you dreamed of, the useful people create in front of your steps. Everything will contribute to making your day a success and your personal magnetism will be increased.

If your state of health, both physical and mental, leaves something to be desired, try the planetary battery again. It is likely that you will detect several, with one or two coming back almost every time. This will be your basic effluence, the one corresponding to your deep temperament. It will be in your interest to specify where on the body you should place your tube. You can hold it there with a piece of band-aid.

This process can obviously be used for others, for animals, for plants. The effects on the mind are particularly striking.

Accus & Batteries ý Witnesses and means of action

Try the effects of these batteries by planting, next to a potted flower that is withering, by tying to the trunk of a sickly tree, those that you have detected as favorable.

Cut a slice of cork from a cork. Paint it black, it will serve as a base. Fix your battery, in the small cavity that you will have practiced there. Concentrate your gaze on the drawing of the planet by imagining that effluences, or radiations if you prefer, emerge from it and enter into you with each inspiration. It is an excellent way to increase your personal magnetism, to increase your my genetic potential if you are a healer.

Act remotely

For action at a distance, we will usefully use a photo. Put it on a sheet of black paper or better on a stencil. Then determine the position of best activity in the photo. To do this, it will suffice to rotate it in the horizontal plane until a gyratory movement of the pendulum indicates that the best orientation has been reached. Then, search at, with the pendulum, the batteries which it is advisable to select. Then see where in the photo, or in the room, the pendulum indicates to place the planetary relays. By means of a dial or a graduated ruler, make sure that you have grouped around the subject the maximum number of healing elements.

If you operate with a rod, you can select one of the batteries and attach it to the flame tip of the instrument by means of a rubber tie. The planetary relay will thus play a triple role: sensitizer, antiparasitic and selector.

Other possible uses include using these relays to:

- counterbalance the action of harmful waves,
- facilitate sleep (place them under the pillow),

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

ÿ promote premonitory dreams,
- accentuate and promote the action of drugs, particularly mainly homeopathic remedies and especially herbal teas.

Placed on a pendularly determined drawing (see Les active drawings), these relays see their action amplified. It is in this direction, that of the maximum amplification of the action of these relays, that it is appropriate, we believe, to carry out research. We do not hesitate to predict astonishing results, but we must always remember that we wield forces, as powerful as they are delicate, capable of wonders of course, but also of disasters!

Discussion about Planetary Batteries

On the subject of the very interesting article by M. Marcel Perreaux , 1001 Uses of Planetary Accus, which appeared in our April 1954 issue, we have received a number of correspondence, in various directions, which proves that we are touching on a burning subject.

Some readers tell us: "But these are talismans!"

while others assert "Thus you attract only the physical and perhaps vital effects of the planets; but you do not create any special bond with the governing entities, as is done in talismania". There, we enter an application so different that we are forced to admit our incompetence!

Finally, readers tell us that it would be better, according to tests made by them, to confine oneself to writing the name of the planet on a small piece of cardboard (without drawing the astrological symbol) and to simply place this cardboard in a glass tube, to obtain in a few hours an excellent accumulator of the influences of the planet.

Notice to researchers!

August 1954

Mr. Perreaux's article on planetary batteries in your April 1954 issue greatly interested me and I immediately tried to implement them.

I found that to prime these batteries, you could charge them by placing them all under the hand so that each of them knows in relation to the area of the hand which, traditionally, is in tune with the planet, that is to say :

- Venus below the Thenar eminence at the base of the thumb;
- Jupiter under the index;
- Saturn under the middle finger;
- Sun under the ring finger;
- Mercury under the little finger;
- Mars on percussion (Mount of Mars);
- Percussion Moon (Mount of the Moon);

notions of traditional palmistry.

In this way, the initial

New note on PLANETARY Batteries _

By Mrs. Valeria Peretti

October 1954

I think I have again found a very good application of very interesting planetary batteries of Mr. Perreaux, and I communicate it to you to interest your readers.

Here's what it's all about: I choose a very favorable day astrologically for a given activity or feeling, for example: September 3, 1954, Mercury sextiles Jupiter, and the Moon trines Jupiter, which is good with regard to the money and luck.

I then make an accus of the three planets Moon, Jupiter and Mercury.

All on the same small bristol cardboard in a cork stoppered glass tube as usual.

In the evening, staring at the Moon, I think about this combination for at least five minutes (repeatedly), magnetizing the tube under my hands.

I thus form an accumulator which retains the favorable influence of the astrological moment. I did the same for the eclipse of June 30, 1954 Sun ÿ Moon - Jupiter; for Mars, the night of its approach to Earth, July 2.

It is of course necessary to have recourse to a good astrological review to know the situation. Personally, I use Prédiction, a very valuable English magazine.

ZODIACAL FORCES

By Mrs. Valeria Peretti

December 1954

As everyone knows, the Zodiac is that zone of the firmament which, like a wide band, surrounds our planetary system and in which there are groupings of stars, groupings forming configurations to which we have given, since the most ancient times, particular denominations. The Earth, while moving in its orbit sees, successively, during the 12 months of the year, the Sun joining each of these constellations.

In reality, we thus receive the radiations of a given group of stars, in union with the radiations of the Sun and It is recognized today that this presents a notable biopsychic influence on living beings and in particular on humans whose characteristics differ according to the period during which they were born. These zodiacal constellations also have a certain role in the unfolding of earthly events.

Each of the twelve zodiacal constellations (Aries, Tau reau, Gemini, Cancer, Lion, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, Pisces) is represented by a symbol, and these signs are now well known.

At the pendulum, you may notice with amazement that the charts of these zodiac signs, far from being a mere convention, have in themselves something, an energy in close correspondence with that traditionally attributed to the real constellation represented by the sign... Your astonishment will be brief: as a dowser, you know that the witness of a thing has the radiation of this thing and that signs used for millennia to represent well-defined phenomena constitute excellent witnesses. It is therefore more than a hypothesis to affirm that the graphic sign of a zodiacal constellation is in reality a sensor-transmitter of the energies of this constellation.

The different traces of each sign each have their value, their potential, according to the shape, the dimension and probably a magnetic polarity.

Some researchers have been led, as a study, to make magnets in the shape of zodiacal signs and have observed that these assemblies create, in the Earth's magnetic field, a syntony with the traditional influence of the constellation.

I was thus able to study magnetic zodiac signs, made by the skilful dowser Carlo Lanchimi, of the radiesthesic group of Varallo (Italy), these signs being in magnetic metal and varnished in black.

In order to obtain an ever more perfect tuning, I sought, using a crystal pendulum, the color corresponding to each constellation. Each sign was then arranged on a background of its chord color (if the color is changed, the pendular reaction varies immediately).

I then tried to arrange my metal signs in a natural way: I put them in a circle, exactly far from each other as needed (with the help of a celestial planisphere for this), each sign on a background of its own color and all on a large sky blue paper. I thus obtained a complete zodiac, each constellation of which reproduced exactly the influence it exerts on the Earth.

If we agree with JJ Thomson — and most modern scientists — that light is really an electromagnetic wave whose electromagnetic field travels with it and induces electric currents on every surface illuminated — currents which in turn react to that of light and cause repulsion — we can also admit that the magnetic field produced by the reproduction of the zodiacal sign, exposed to the light of the Sun, will produce a reaction, a radiation which will be that of the solar ray joined to the constellation. And this radiation, repelled from below upwards, will permeate any body that will be superimposed on the sign.

One finds on the market planispheres with gyration, out of paperboard, which gives, according to the day and the hour, the exact zodiacal situation of the moment when one wants to operate. One can then cover with a sheet of black paper, all the part of the large zodiac, spread out on blue paper which, according to the mobile planisphere, is in night time, to leave visible only the diurnal arc. If we place the zodiac thus prepared on a rotating support (easy to combine using a piano stool), we can place the zodiac sign in which the Sun is at this moment, exactly in the direction of the Sun so that the sun's rays reach it directly and first. As the Sun moves in the firmament we can thus, by turning the support, follow with the chosen sign.

By means of the pendulum one can calculate the time necessary to obtain the impregnation of a small quantity of neutral powder (talc, starch, rice powder, sugar, etc.) which will be contained in a small tube or in a small transparent bottle placed on the sign of the zodiac. The pendulum can give all the indications on the exact position to be given to the bottle or the tube.

At the end of the operation one will be in possession of a sufficient quantity of powder impregnated with the zodiacal influence to use it as an emanator.

Note that the thing can get complicated depending on the planets at this time in the zodiac configuration, which can modify, or even alter, the influence of the sign...

It may therefore be appropriate to use a good astrological review, giving the planetary positions in the zodiac, to attempt an operation at a very favorable time and in accordance with the

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

You know that certain moments are favorable for intellectual activities, others for practical achievements, better for this or that temperament, etc. Depending on the goal we are pursuing, we will therefore choose a completely suitable time, with the help of a serious astrology review.

If at a time when the Sun is in Gemini, we tried an impression on the sign of Aries, we would obtain a mixed impregnation: Sun, Aries, Gemini, which can be very useful in certain particular cases.

We can imagine all the possibilities of research and experimentation in this field.

The impregnated powder is very active. It can be used to energetically fortify corresponding subjects since, as we have seen, we can impregnate starch or sugar (we could also impregnate water). The quantity to be used is to be found at the pendulum, because these powders are very active, we want to insist on this.

We can also modify certain subjects by correcting the natural effects of their natal sign by the influence of powders of other signs, intended to bring them what they lack or to reduce the harmful influences of what they have in excess. One can, instead of powder, try to directly influence a photo, at the location of the head.

One can use the powder like a talisman... The dowsing will give all the indications of employment by simple pendulum interrogation.

The action of planetary batteries

Fact or fiction ?

By Huguette Poreye

June 1958

Blessed be the day when Mr. Perreaux perfected his famous planetary batteries! Handled by the dowzers and arranged in various assemblies, they give remarkable results. I find that you don't talk about it enough, so today I decided to describe to you how I am experimenting in this field and how these batteries have met my expectations.

Astrologers are unanimous in saying that the planets are dynamic forces that have marked influences on the character of individuals, the atmospheres of places, states and environments of beings and things.

It has been said that the graphic sign of a planet or a zodiacal constellation is actually a sensor-capacitor transmitting the energies of this planet or constellation. A fact which was proved by Dr. Morichini who charged the influence of planets by putting the graphic sign of these planets in contact with this water. Thus, a plant, watered with water previously charged with the energies of the Sun and then placed in full natural sunlight, begins to tremble without the slightest breath of wind! All the leaves are seized with a nervous tremor! The phenomenon is caused by an oversaturation of solar energy: water charged by the sign of this planet, then direct influence of this star.

Starting from all this, tempted by the unexpected T of the experience, I set to work. So by adding to each graphic planet sign, its corresponding metal and its color, we forms a planetary battery playing the very powerful role of relay of this planet. And this relay is very fast acting.

The Dowsing for All of December 46 speaks of the astrological signs as correctors of influences for the badly aspected astrological houses for such and such an individual. I wanted to push the experiment further by wanting to activate the corrective influence charge and by using the fast-acting planetary batteries according to Perreaux.

Having drawn a chart of the astrological houses, I searched for myself the badly aspected house on which I should act. House 8 was indicated. Then, in the 7 Accus Mars, Mercury, Venus, Saturn, Sun, Moon, Jupiter, the pendulum indicated to me Venus to be placed in this house 8.

So I put the battery flat, in the direction of the length, drawing being oriented to the North. But I am making the big mistake of contenting myself with a positive agreement above my assembly without asking for the necessary charging time! I thought that the drawing was going to be impregnated little by little with the rectifying action of Venus and would only emit in power later...

I went to the office! About an hour and a half later, I was bent over by a pain in my kidneys like I had never had! But I don't think the editing could be to blame. The evil is amplifying, I say to myself "If it were all the same that!"

A phone call to my house and I ask to remove the planetary battery of the 8th house from the drawing and, hold on tight, ten minutes after the kidney pain was gone! So it was indeed this famous Venus, the very beautiful one, which—through my fault—had supersaturated me with her "atomic" energy that my poor human body hadn't been able to swallow so quickly. The planet Venus rules the kidneys and I found that out the hard way!!

The fact and the proof are there. The planetary batteries act quickly, very quickly and are powerful. And they reach the human body.

Astrologers say that the influence of the planets on the behavior of individuals is conclusive. Well, let's try, because a case arises. I am exposed to the troubled situation, which has been stationary for months, which reigns within a business company and which prevents the commercial development of this company. I am quoted a subject as being the only one in question, but the pendulum, this smart little one, indicates that he is not the only one and discovers another subject which acts from below!

Witnesses-scriptures in front of me, I am looking for the planetary batteries necessary to clarify this situation. For the first subject: Mars and for the second: Moon, to be issued separately on geometric shapes. For the first: a 6-pointed star with accented lines, for the second 6-pointed star with doubled lines. Witness-writing in the center, battery standing on the witness.

Mars brings a transformation by destruction, it is a factor of volition, dynamic, prompt, creating initiative, command, etc. Unquestionably the subject receiving the emission from this planet was called upon to burst the abscess.

Moon is a factor of apathy, indecision, softness, nonchalance. We understand that for the second subject, the program should have aimed to put him out of the active circuit.

Later, I learned that the first topic was a struggle. So I acted only by oversaturating its basic character, pushing its own nature to the limit. And the second subject, an indecisive and slow character, who always tried to avoid embarrassing situations and constantly restrained the fighting character of the first subject.

We therefore easily understand that Mars was going to overload the first so that he no longer listens to the second, but only his good nature as a wrestler, and that Moon was going to crush the second so that he no longer had any desire to retain the first !

And, two days later, the bomb exploded, the abscess burst! One shouted, struggled and the other remained in his corner, very small. Negotiations were undertaken, new decisions taken, the situation ended up being clarified with the help of the good Mercury requested in the final to stabilize the commercial whole of the affair in question.

This was done as an experiment and without the knowledge of the subjects concerned. We cannot speak here of a phenomenon of autosuggestion. This had been dragging on for months, and in two days... Boom! !

Hey, hey, those little planetary batteries! Reality or fiction?
Let's go on...

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

A subject is pursued by bad luck on all levels. There really, I say to myself, there is history of planets below! And the first thing to do is to try to clear up his financial situation (he had been penniless for two months). The pendulum hangs Mercury which indeed, acts on the trade in general and which is of a nervous, fast, magnetic force. The emission must be made on the quadruple diamond of Mr. Herrinckx, witness of the subject on the North point, a tele-influencer drawing created for the action requested on the South point and the planetary battery of Mercury standing in the center of the assembly, in the middle of the 3 cm circle. Unlike the previous case, the action requested here is of long duration.

Eight days later, he falls from the sky (it is the case to say it) a good situation which gets him out of trouble. Admit that we can not speak of simple coincidence, while he had been waiting for two months. And even less by what follows.

The program lasted three months, then one fine day someone from abroad disturbed the assembly and, 15 days later, my good man came to me sheepishly saying that overnight his boss had given up on him, without pretext, without notice. This position was taken from him as oddly as it had been given to him!

Understand my desolation and my wonder when I realized that the assembly was undone. Desolation for my man, wonder for the action of the planetary batteries.

According to my observations, I would like to point out to you that when the emission must be done for a long period, it is that it is necessary to act on the currents coming from the principle-mother of the planet. While a short duration means that Ton works on a transient phenomenon with a particular character. The time of emission is proportional to the goal and to the action requested, in relation to the intensity of the good or bad aspects of the planets that the subjects studied undergo.

I will cite another case which concerns atmospheres, to prove to you that the action of these batteries is without limit in my opinion and that they act as well on an individual as on a group of individuals.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Family atmosphere disturbed for months: bad understanding between parents and child, no understanding, tensions, tears, cries, threat to leave the paternal home, etc.

The battery found is Jupiter: social principle, collective, organizer, conciliator, cohesion, balance, etc. A four-day broadcast is planned on an 21 cm triangle. At each point a photo of the subjects in question (the location is sought with a pendulum) and standing in the center the Jupiter battery. The next day, change in contacts. Four days later: smile on your face! To stabilize the mood, the triangle remained in action for weeks, but the primary action was generated by Jupiter. The experiment was carried out without the knowledge of those concerned.

I have depicted for you in detail the situations, the individuals, the action of the planets in the different assemblies used so that you can realize the convincing effect of the planetary batteries and the way in which this action must be understood. You don't have to be a scholar in astrology for that, just take any astrology manual in which you will find the elements necessary for a correct understanding of the phenomena.

You see that thanks to these batteries it is possible to make wonders ! And that's what I wanted to tell you. These planetary batteries made me understand that they were living but blind forces and that it was our duty, to us dowers, to direct them in the right way to help the suffering world here below. The planets are pouring their energies into us, let's channel them wisely. And let's not act blind, let's understand and study these marvelous currents.

The use of planetary batteries is multiple!
Today I gave you a little insight, from emission on planar forms to action on the behavior of individuals. Later, I will detail the planetary batteries in radionics. That too is sensational!

So ? Fact or fiction?

Action at a distance BY PLANETARY BATTERIES

By Huguette Poreye
July 1958

In the previous article, dealing with planetary batteries, I spoke only of cases of atmospheres and mental action on individuals. However, we all know that the planets have an action on the physical. To be sure of this, we have only to take an astrology manual which will tell us that such and such a planet governs such and such an organ, such and such a system. And, even better, let's experience the power of the planets in this sense by using their relays: the planetary batteries. We will quickly be convinced of the authenticity of the statements of the astrologers!

So I thought it would be nice for you to know that you can use the batteries for physical purposes. And, first and foremost, for a general revitalizing and regenerating action. It is preferable, at least at the beginning, to stick to this action, because a more detailed handling (by organ or system) still requires more knowledge of astrology than a beginner has. The work then becomes very delicate and must be done by a specialist.

Here are some of the possibilities of planetary batteries in this domain. Let's talk about the simple solenoid first.

Here is the principle of the assembly: a copper wire (12/10 mm) turned clockwise (+) around an elongated and rounded tube to obtain 14 turns of 2 cm in diameter. A solenoid greatly amplifies the action of the product placed there.

Accus & Batteries y Witnesses and means of action

Self position: horizontal with the battery slid in the middle. Location: Below the subject's bed, lengthwise.

I think that "Sun" dispensed here its power of heat, of life and acted on the circulation by activating it and in vivifying the blood. The person I was doing the experiment for seemed anemic.

The action was done at night. The surlen tomorrow, not only was the person's drive back, but the mind also showed the influence. The ideas were clearer and more optimistic. In short, we clearly felt that we had "reconnected the ^£1 / current»!

You will quickly realize that in these emissions of batteries, the action is double and salutary, physically and psychically.

There is a kind of interaction.

Other experiments were made for the same purpose. All with a very good and

Figure 1. quick result without any adjuvant other than the battery. I don't want to describe them all to you, but here is a summary from the editing point of view:

In general, I used solenoids of 6 to 18 turns, varying according to the subjects, with a diameter of 2 cm. Rotated clockwise or anti-clockwise. It is not necessary to terminate each end with an antenna.

Night action: the solenoid containing the battery is lying under the person's bed, lengthwise. For this action, the battery found was almost always Sun (invigorating action) and Jupiter (balancing action). These 2 batteries can be put in at night, because they do not act brutally, which would upset the rest of the subject. Their action is also on the mind of the subject which is very often either the cause or interdependent of evil.

Sun and Jupiter give positive, optimistic, cheerful ideas of justice and fairness in a broad spirit. We therefore understand the work that is done in the unconscious of the subject during the night.

Action by day: on the photo of the subject (head to the North), a solenoid with battery upright (vertically). The action of the choke then emits at a greater distance and the subject can therefore move while remaining in wave relation with the assembly. For daytime invigorating action, you can put Mars which will give a good boost and Mercury which will act as a nerve tonic.

Always seek the duration of emission, with the pendulum.

Now let's talk about Mellin 's TV-radiator (*).

The device is made up of 2 chokes of 25 turns each, 1.5 cm in diameter, made of copper wire 2.5 mm thick, turned on an iron bar 1 cm in diameter which is insulated from the choke by a hollow ebonite cylinder.

These 2 chokes are 3 cm apart.

To keep them always at equidistant distance, they are fixed on a wooden base by 2 blocks of the same material (see figure 2). The device is to be oriented North-South.

(*) Described in Mystery and Knowledge by Hector Mellin, out of print.

Accus & Batteries y Witnesses and means of action

Experience: it is a question of favoring an interview between two people with diametrically opposed and very stubborn mentalities.

Action on mutual understanding, calm, relaxed atmosphere, peaceful discussion and positive outcome on common ground.

Accu determined: Venus, harmonizing principle, of affinity, creates sympathy, friendship, agreement.

Editing: photos of the 2 subjects, one placed towards the North of the camera, the other towards the South, flat on the 2 chokes (location designated by the pendulum).

Designation of the requested action written on a small white card, placed in the center, and on this the Venus battery placed horizontally across the chokes.

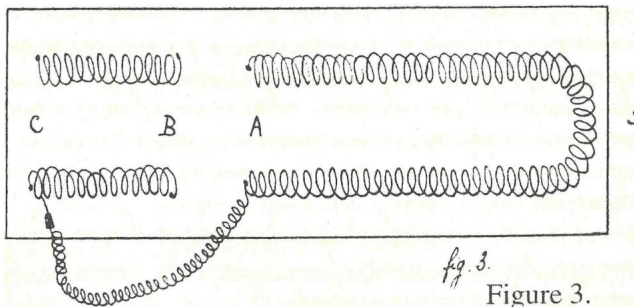

Getting into action in the morning for the interview in the afternoon.

And There you go ! Venus — my very beautiful — if only we knew...

how many would have recourse to you in these troubled times!

In this case, the two parties let go, found themselves in the end very sympathetic to each other and agreed on the opposing ideas which, in fact, were not that bad! Agreement, handshake, everyone is happy and satisfied!

And here is the last device I will tell you about today regarding the use of planetary batteries.

This is the Tele-REC (Receiver-Transmitter-Condenser) developed by MA Vandenhoff.

It is (see figure 3) a large winding spread over a length of 20 cm with a spacing of 7 cm, having the shape of a horseshoe, and 2 chokes with a length of 7 cm, with the same spacing of 7 cm. The copper wire used is very thin (like that of a common antenna), the turns are therefore very tight and with a diameter of 1 cm. The large winding terminates in a male plug.

Let's talk right away about how to use this card which will serve us here as an energy capacitor and this, again, for general physical purposes.

The Télé-REC directed with its spark gaps in the direction of the North, plug stuck in a bag of 100 g of powdered sugar, pendulum above the witness-subject, which is the battery which will be designated to charge the sugar of its energy to give courage and vitality to the child during exams? The battery capable of fighting against the fatigue of intellectual cells?

It is Mars, the dynamic and powerful principle.

This battery was placed on the end of the large coil at A.

Charging: 30 mins. You see it's going fast. Then, the small bag containing the loaded sugar is placed on the 2 small 7 cm chokes, at B and C, which act here as a "fixer" of the energies by induced current. The purpose of this second maneuver is therefore to stabilize the concentration of the energy emitted in the sugar and lasted 15 minutes.

This sugar was to be taken 4 times a day at the rate of a teaspoon each time.

It was enough for the child, whose cells were intoxicated and tired from studying, to suck on these little grains like one sucks on candy, just one day, to feel the next day as fresh as a rose, and the day after (with the same dose) be ready for these "damn" contests!

Another experience on Télé-REC ?

Here is one, again of a physico-psychological order.

Accus & Batteries y Witnesses and means of action

An unstable subject does not know what to do. Keep his job?
Going abroad? He is worried, wants this one day, that the next. He gives a hard time to his boss who does not know on which foot to dance!

Little pendulum, what to do? What is the best immediate solution? Stabilize him in his job? Very well. What is the battery? Venus.
Device ? Tele-REC.

Here is the layout of the elements required for this assembly.

To the spark gaps of the large winding (at A):

- 1) designation of the goal to be achieved on a small white card:
stability of X in his job Z in House Y,
- 2) above: a witness from House Y: letterhead,
- 3) across the winding (on 1 and 2): the Venus battery (harmony-contentment).

The male plug, starting from the large winding, is connected to the small chokes (in C) on which is placed the subject's witness-writing and his business card. The energy charge emitted therefore passes here directly from the large coil to the subject on the 2 small chokes which fix the action.

The show started in the morning and the action planned over several days.

The same evening, when the subject was disgusted with everything, he returned to his drawing lessons, which he had not attended for weeks! This subject sleeping badly, because his mind was occupied with heaps of projects that he never solved, no longer used an alarm clock. What was his astonishment the next morning to wake up at 9 o'clock? But his work for the day hardly felt any of it, because his courage had returned and his mind at rest thought only of the work to be done. There was no longer any question of projects other than those relating to Maison Y.

Tele -REC acts quickly. Planetary batteries act quickly.
You easily understand that by combining these two actions, thanks to the pendulum, we manage to do wonders! I have given you a few cases, it is up to you to continue the series of experiments.

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

I assure you that with each new experience, I am transported!
We realize the power of the forces around us, their effectiveness, their subtlety.

But, especially when it is a question of action on the mental, the psychic, it is necessary to know how to stop in time and not to go against the free will of the person whom You wish to help.

Let us not always indulge in what we think is good, our human mind has limits, sometimes it cannot understand the laws of destiny. Let us help our neighbor by increasing his good sides so that he himself can fight with more conscious strength against his defects.

But let's not remove his flaws, that wouldn't make him service. Everyone here below must struggle and acquire merits. Removing the faults is equivalent to removing the merits.

We have the pendulum that will tell us if we really can help such and such a person, in what way, and to what extent. Let's trust him.

Planetary batteries are a unique weapon in the hands of dowzers. But a double-edged sword, don't forget that!

Action visible PLANETARY BATTERIES ON PLANTS

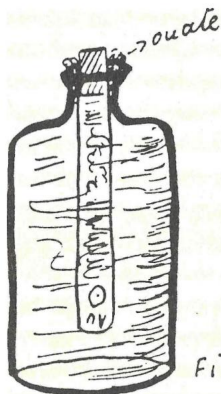

By Huguette Poreye
September 1958

I thought it would be interesting to study and ascertain the possibilities of planetary batteries by experiments that are physically visible in nature and therefore undeniable.

So today I'll tell you how to go about doing some of these trials. You will be amazed at all the capabilities of planetary relays in this area.

On this subject, I quoted previously the experience of Dr. Morichini (experience which prompted me to work with planetary batteries). Dr. Morichini simply put under a glass of water the graphic sign of a planet or a diacal zo constellation drawn on white paper and thus obtained a water charged with planetary or zodiacal influence with an X effect. To obtain this phenomenon of water charge with the planetary batteries, just take a small bottle filled with water and immerse the battery in it (figure 1).

Wedge the top of it with wadding put in pads in the neck of the bottle.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

The battery that will be used for the charge is to be determined using the pendulum in relation to the plant and the desired purpose: curative effect (against aphids, leaf disease, etc.), spectacular effect (to make the plant grow or fatten, to have more flowers or larger flowers, etc.).

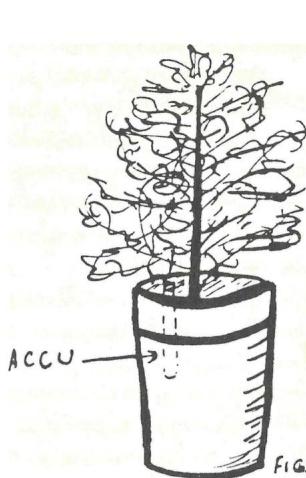

You will determine your desire by writing it in Indian ink on a small white card. You will place on it a leaf of the plant on which you wish to act. You will hold the pendulum above this set and, using a tip, you will test the batteries in your kit and fill it with water with the one that gives you a positive agreement. If several batteries gave you this reaction, take a measurement dial to see which one gives you the highest index for the requested action.

Charging time to be measured with a pendulum. This usually takes about 30 minutes. Then find out in what proportion the plant needs this charged water. Warning ! Almost always it will be necessary to mix a certain quantity of charged water with a certain quantity of pure uncharged water. Otherwise you may not get the expected effect! So, for example, you will have to mix a shot glass of charged water with a normal glass of uncharged water, and do the watering with this compound water. Find the number of waterings to do.

To do this experiment, if possible have a control plant on which you do not act. That is to say, a plant identical to the one you are treating and which will serve as a benchmark for comparing the progress of the treated plant. In general, always operate in this way, because then there is no possible dispute about the work carried out. And for yourself, too, you will thus better see the exact effect of the planetary batteries and in what way it reveals itself.

Be aware that in general, with the Mercury battery, you will obtain a greater number of ramifications. With Mars, more vigour, a more massive plant. With Uranus, a plant marking a certain originality in the arrangement of the bran charges. With Moon, more shiny leaves. With Jupiter, more balanced proportions. The action of these charged waters is rapid, durable and continuous.

You can also look for water that is good for watering your garden in general in order to have beautiful, well-lived plants. No doubt you will often get the Sun battery if you are in a rainy country, the Moon battery for dry soil in a hot country.

There are many more experiences to be had. First, again on potted plants. These experiments being easy, even for people without a garden.

You prick vertically the battery, found with the pendulum, in the ground of the pot containing the plant (figure 2). He can usually stay there for a whole day.

It would seem that this second system acts more directly on the roots, giving them the necessary influences to form a beautiful plant. Whereas the first charged water system would rather give these influences to the earth from which the roots draw them.

In either case, be careful when, as the roots multiply abnormally quickly, the plant will require new soil and a larger pot!

Another experiment on a potted plant. First find the battery required for the requested action. Then place this battery on the large winding of the Télé-REC device and prick the M plug into the earth of the pot. Look for the duration of the emission time, the number of emissions and above all also the orientation at give to tele REC spark gaps . Very important, because according to this orientation you

add some principles to this planetary emission (figure 3).

Thus: the spark gaps in the North will give you a action more energetic than in the West where it will be more mineralizing. In the South more stabilizing and in the East against the effects parasitic.

For those who have a garden with trees, there is a very good way to have great experiences too!

For example, a lime tree? Well look for the battery that will garnish its branches with multiple flowers so that you can make you good ti without this winter! A fruit tree?

Beautiful fruits, numerous, large,
juicy and sweet to perfection!

You just have to fix the battery detected ~~vertically~~ towards the trunk, either with copper or iron wire (thin enough not to break the glass of the tube), or with a simple rope (figure 4).
Look for the exact height where the battery should be placed and on which side

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

of the tree. The cardinal influence having an action here too.

If you want to act on a shrub and the trunk of this is too soft to be able to attach the battery to it, you can very well drive the battery horizontally into the ground to a depth of about 2 cm.

Also find out which side (Figure 5).

For these last two experiments, detect the necessary charging time.

And to this proposal wishes to take up a sentence quoted in a previous article, where I said that planetary batteries are "a double-edged weapon".

Indeed, if one of the action phases, detected by the pendulum, is not exactly adapted to the experiment undertaken, if the water load is too pronounced, if the waterings are too frequent, if the dilution is too low, if the battery remains too long in contact with the plant, the tree or shrub, we are witnessing either a "burning" phenomenon, that is to say that the leaves will gradually turn brown, these plants will risk losing their life more or less quickly and ending up dying, either to a phenomenon of crystallization (especially on plants) or a kind of "mummification" which causes the branches and leaves to break like glass at the mere touch of the fingers.

These two different phenomena, produced by excess charge, prove the danger of too long emissions of planetary batteries in any case.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Through these experiments we see a visible phenomenon occurring in nature. We must start from this visible phenomenon to understand how much we must handle these planetary batteries with prudence and wisdom, when it is a question of action on the human being and on the atmospheres. Prudence and wisdom will lead us to a splendid result.

Do not want to do too well and especially not to act too much quickly ! It is not by making repeated and long broadcasts that the result will be acquired more quickly, on the contrary! Do not rush, because we could obtain an opposite effect to the desired one.

Think carefully about the problem to be solved. Analyzing its various aspects. Let us measure the various phases of the action to be carried out. And let's see the results.

The experiments made on the plants prove the force of action of the planetary relays and the modulations of this action according to the various batteries.

Thanks to nature for helping us! And let's take the seed...

Here is what gives
PLANETARY BATTERIES
A reader
December 1958

As the readers of La Dowsing for All are always eager for discoveries and success, I thought they would be happy to know about the experiment I tried with the help of the planetary batteries.

Prompted by the article by Miss H. Poreye, which appeared in the last July issue, concerning the rapid and effective action which can be obtained on plants by planetary batteries, I have gone on to experiment.

I have an exotic plant which, certainly since March, showed a small shoot of 5 mm (decimetre in hand). This unfortunate sprout was failing to grow! I wanted to help its growth. And the pendulum indicated to me as being able to be very effective and fast (according to mental question and measurements on dial in %) the intervention of a planetary battery. So taking my kit, it was the "Sun" battery that was designated by pendulum agreement, above the shoot. This joined the theory of Miss Poreye according to which, in our humid and cold countries, this battery is often detected as necessary to the vegetable world which develops there.

The battery, following the pendulum indications, was deposited near the shoot, on the edges of the pot. Eight days later already: gain of 2 mm. Periodically, the pendulum told me to remove the battery for a day or two, then put it back in again. All of this was done. The first momentum, my growth started to grow bravely, finding the exotic radiation it lacked through the battery Sun.

Do you want to know the height reached at the end of October? Exactly one month after the start of the experiment? Well ! 6.5cm. My shoot had grown 6 cm in a month, while she had been dragging since March with her half centimeter!

Isn't it fantastic, this experiment which confirms the rapid action of the planetary batteries? Also, I did not limit myself to this experience! I had a potted ivy plant that looked noticeably anemic. It was not growing and its foliage was poor.

In mid-October, I did the same research as for the exotic plant. But this time, the pendulum pointed to the "Mars" battery. It was strength that the ivy needed. Same principle of adaptation: battery on the edges of the pot. Here, it only took ten days to clearly notice more abundant foliage and new shoots, almost everywhere, on the small branches.

Here, dear dowsing friends, are the experiences I wanted to talk to you about, because they really reveal the promising action of the planetary batteries suggested by Miss Poreye.

Hose for
OUR RADIESTHESIST FRIENDS
Planetary batteries

By Marcel Defer

February 1961

In these troubled times, it can be useful for many of us to guard against the blows of fate.

I remind you that Mr. Marcel Perreaux and Miss Poreye had the opportunity in the review to explain several times how to use this small material of planetary batteries.

Miss Poreye recounted many experiences and I can do no better than to advise those interested to re-read this series of articles which contains a good number of practical advice, often very useful.

Here is what it is possible to do with a guarantee of success that often exceeds all expectations.

When you have a particularly difficult mission to fulfill, or an action to carry out, a delicate interview, both in private life and in professional life, consider the use of planetary batteries.

You couldn't believe what a rhythmically balancing influence these little batteries have on your behavior and your dynamic potential. If you therefore wish to obtain this advantage, dangle the evening before or the very morning of the day when the event is to occur, the planetary battery which it would be imitable to carry with you during this day of particular activity. , or even in some cases, only a few hours, during which you will have to deal with an embarrassing situation.

How to proceed radiesthesically to this research?

Here is how I most often operate: on a wooden table (wood is a living and beneficial material) free of any object or paper (if it is impossible for you to do this vacuum cleaning, spread a black veil on the table and work on this veil), you put the box containing the batteries wide open and, next to it, to fix the idea of the goal or the problem in question, you write it down on a white paper. Then hang the various batteries in your kit. For the record, I remind you that there are: Saturn, Venus, Sun, Moon, Jupiter, Mars, Mercury, and the three recent complementary ones, Pluto, Neptune and Uranus. The latter are more rarely used, but sometimes desirable.

For control you can measure the efficiency with the waveform measurement dial of 360° for example.

To know the time during which I can wear this battery I use the remedy-time dial (see Servranx graphic n° 2), placing the battery on the circle where you put the remedy and my photo, or the desired goal, in the center of the hour crown. I then pendulum; the tuning movement must be perfect between the battery and the photo. Finally I place the battery on the photo in the center of the time dial and I clock to know either the start time of the port of the battery and the stop time, or the hours during which I must wear it if there must be interruptions

Where should the battery be carried? Not all places are of perfect efficiency. We must not forget that our body has two polarities which do not agree equally well with the planetary battery.

I place the latter in a plastic bag that I can easily tie. By the way I point out that it is also necessary to see with the pendulum if the battery must be carried vertically or horizontally (magnetic effect or electrical effect) and which direction is best suited: as I often obtain the vertical position of the battery, I check if it's the cap that should be up or vice versa.

All this preparation may seem long, but with practice it only takes a few minutes.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

In any case, the results have always given me great confidence in the batteries and I have been able, thanks to them, to get out of really agonizing impasses.

If you receive friends or people with whom you will have to develop a subject of discussion requiring reciprocal attention and understanding, while ensuring the advantage of persuasion, also try to detect the battery which will create the harmony of the place and which will therefore balance the atmosphere.

Take into account in this search the number of people born and of the desired goal.

Have, if possible, a photo or writing witness, of the various people who will constitute the group, then seek the tuning with yourself, your project and your guests, by detecting which is the planetary battery or batteries which, placed this time Here in, the room itself where the meeting will take place, and at the place chosen dowsing, will bring you the account essential to a cordial understanding.

Next time, if this article meets with your support, I will have the opportunity to present you another tip, because we must always take care to surround ourselves with the maximum of protection or support to persevere in the path of current life, increasingly complicated and harsh.

THROUGH ASTROLOGY
By Lt Colonel Hre Stevelinck

Human Polarity

In Latin countries, the official scientific world still disputes the polarity of all existing objects, hence its superb contempt vis-à-vis dowsers who support the contrary.

The public in general follows the official teachings, it saves them the trouble of thinking, but this same public remains indifferent to the marvelous problem of the natural or manufactured magnet; he does not analyze any aspect of it, he finds it so natural that no question touches his curiosity; he does not wonder whence comes the force which animates the magnet, he makes no connection with the other objects which constitute all of nature and which are all particular magnets, he denies the polarity of all these objects.

However, all the official scholars of the moment will come back to a fairer view of things when, before long, more and more sensitive and precise instruments will demonstrate that all bodies radiate energy.

45 years ago there were only three radioactive bodies; there was no denying it, it was sensitive to the human senses and no apparatus was required to see the fact.

Accus & Batteries y Witnesses and means of action

The scientists of that time asserted with the greatest seriousness that these three bodies were simple exceptions confirming the general rule of the indestructibility of matter.

Currently we are far from the mark; the Geiger-Muller counter currently detects dozens of radioactive bodies and the list is growing every day. In the Germanic countries, the improved Geiger-Muller counter already detects ten times more radioactive bodies than the ordinary counter.

When this improved counter will be of current application in our universities, one will be well obliged to note that the dowsers, with the sensitivity of their brains, were in the truth and that indeed, all the bodies are polarized.

Where does this polarity come from? Just as the steel magnet receives its polarity from the action due to a directed energy, every body, from its birth, finds itself in a well-determined energy field, which is none other than that created by cosmic rays.

cosmic rays

The cosmic rays come from all the rays emitted by all known and unknown stars; they are therefore multiple and bombard the earth from all directions.

These directions seen from the earth are all perpendicular to it; for all that is on earth, these are indeed rays directed in a well-determined direction.

Any object that is in this energy field is therefore instantly saturated, then supersaturated with this energy; it happens to be instantly transformed into a magnet and is therefore perfectly polarized. As this cosmic energy is made up of several energies, it differs from one point to another on the terrestrial globe. On the other hand, as the earth turns on itself, this energy changes aspect from moment to moment. As the earth revolves around the sun, it is subject to different energetic influences according to the seasons, the months, the days, the hours, the instants.

Everyone notices this difference in perceived rays, but it is so natural that no one attaches any importance to it. It is noted that the sun's rays are of variable intensity according to the hours of the day, it is noted that the seasons act differently on the vegetation according to the growth or the decrease in the ambient energy. There ends, for ordinary mortals, the examination of the power of cosmic rays.

What nature does in a given time, man today manages to do in a shortened time.

Man can, by means of well-directed energy, create matter or transmute it. Man can, by means of various well-directed energies, modify magnets created by nature, such as plants and animals. This is normal in all horticultural establishments and breeders. The public observes without going into the problem, they find it so normal that they pay no attention to it; but as soon as we talk about human beings, some people rebel, in the name of principles that have nothing to do with the reality of things.

Let's see what happens to a human being before and at the time of birth

Before his birth, he becomes one with his mother; it is the mother's blood that alone nourishes him; there is identity of waves between the two and this is the reason why it is so difficult to designate before birth the sex of the unborn child.

At the moment of birth, the little being is made up of all the organs that make up the human body: the different glands, heart, stomach, liver, pituitary gland, testicles or ovaries, pancreas, prostate, spleen, kidneys, adrenals, thyroid; add to it muscles, nerves, skin, hair, guts, etc., etc. All these organs have a life of their own, they each have a well-determined personal wave, they constitute a well-defined whole which is a human body.

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

This body is placed in an excessively powerful energetic environment which is formed by cosmic and telluric waves.

Isolated in this energetic field, the little being is supersaturated with this energy which is foreign to him and of which all the waves have a well determined direction, which, in all places of the earth, follows the direction perpendicular to the center of the earth.

Thanks to this direction of energy, all objects that pass from saturation to supersaturation are transformed into particular magnets, whatever they are.

The little human body which has just been born does not escape this transformation, it too is transformed into a host of particular magnets, which in turn radiate very particular energies. Each part of this human body is therefore polarized and each part draws its own energy from all the cosmic and telluric rays.

Corhme these cosmic rays are made up of all the rays that emanate from all known and unknown stars, each body in the three kingdoms determined by humans, finds one or more energies that suit it.

The rays which energetically supply the liver only supply the liver and not the spleen or any other organ. This liver transformed into a magnet will develop to a maximum of formation and will limit, at this time, its growth. It is the same with all parts of the individual.

Let us note that in the same family of beings, the worms for example, these rays exert similar effects in all the individuals composing this family and that consequently we will find in each individual similar organs differing only in size, but in an almost identical chemical composition. A pig's liver is very similar to a human liver, as are the kidneys, lungs, etc.

At the time of birth, each part of the body is therefore polarized, but this polarity is a function of the foreign energies of the moment and considered in relation to the very place of birth.

Indeed, this telluric cosmic energy is indeed the most specific thing there is; it depends on the waves received from the most active stars at this time and at this place. As the earth has two movements, one of rotation on itself, the other of circumduction around the sun, no terrestrial place undergoes the same radiations at the same time. These energetic forces are variable from moment to moment. Everyone notices that in a given place the energies received on June 1st are totally different from those experienced on December 1st.

Astrology

From this observation, it follows that astrology plays a very important and capital role in the polarity of each human being and the ancients, who had time at their disposal, were able to establish general classifications in human characters and in behavior of each of us. It is up to man to correct this general classification by the manifestation of his personality: education, studies, work, behavior, etc.

We can push this classification very far since it depends on the place, date and time of birth. In the same day, the rays are totally different; everyone realizes that at 7 o'clock in the morning the sun's rays are very different from what they will be at noon and at 7 o'clock in the evening. It is the same with all the cosmic rays which are innumerable.

We therefore understand that there are not two beings on earth who are born in identical conditions, not even twins. Each being is different from its neighbor by the particular polarity of each part of its individuality.

A second phenomenon occurs within the being human and of all beings in general.

As each organ radiates a particular energy and as these energies differ from each other only by their wavelength, as on the other hand these wavelengths are not greatly different from each other, it occurs within

of the human body numerous interferences. These interferences are radioactive centers which in turn become very energetic and which radiate their supersaturation. From there new interferences form by the same process and there comes a time when major interference occurs. It is only then that there is supersaturation of the individual.

This major wave is personal to the considered individual, it differs totally from any major wave emanating from another individual, since the sources are different. This major wave can supersaturate only the organs from which it arises and we find ourselves in the presence of a very powerful wave that the dowser knows under the name of personal wave.

It is this personal wave which alone has the power to saturate and supersaturate all the organs of the individual, organs from which he comes. And when we take a witness such as blood, hair, urine, nails, etc., which are only parts of the individual, these parts are saturated and supersaturated by the personal wave and the dowser can therefore measure, compare and judge the value of any part of the individual examined, by working only on a part of this individual, the part which constitutes the witness.

This explains the personal tonde

Here is thus resolved this famous question which one poses to the young dowsters when one wants to subject them to a criticism, known as spectacular.

For all dowsters the waves emanating from the witness are only carrier waves of the personal wave.

This personal wave receives different baptismal names according to the particular aspirations of the seekers. For some, it is the ancient vital fluid that no one knew how to analyze; for others it is Vaura, which some claim to have photographed but which the Geiger-Muller counter knows how to register. This human wave is almost no longer in doubt in the medical profession.

We must therefore not argue about the value of baptismal names, not even if we are talking about the soul, the spirit, the self. All these words can be defended with the same power. The fact is there, there is an emanation which is personal to each individual and which can be analyzed by a serious dowser.

The medical dowsing does nothing but apply this theory which is unassailable; one seeks attunement with the personal wave by having at one's disposal only the witness who is only the intermediary in the operation.

This demonstration made on the human being is general in all cases, given that any object at the time of its creation is polarized by the cosmic rays of which the learned world still made fun some time ago and which today are at the 'agenda.

Everything in nature depends on these cosmic rays, sources of all matter, creators of everything we know sounds and especially of everything we do not know.

Medical dowsing :
THE PRACTICE
FROM
PLANETARY TUNING
Par W. Herrinckx
November 1962

We often wonder why a remedy that had done so much good later seems to have lost its virtues and the only answer that we can put forward is that the state of health having evolved, the tuning would no longer be the same. from time to time...

One is also perplexed in the choice between the various medicines, for example between allopathy and homeopathy, and in each therapy between the possible remedies, often having very similar effects... nearly the same properties in allopathic and homeopathic form. I'm thinking of Drosera for whooping cough, which allopathic doctors prescribe like homeopaths, each in their own way! There are many versatile remedies and others limited to specific disorders.

The planetary tunings account for these diversities and make it easier to find what exactly suits each case. They are easy to practice for the dowser, even an amateur.

Witnesses

The ideal is to use a planetary battery kit, the power of these witnesses is incomparable. But for occasional use you can use word witnesses: the names of the planets, in the astrological sense, inscribed in pencil or black ink on strips of light cardboard, which can be kept in a binder with bands for stamps. - positions: Sun, Mercury, Venus, Moon, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Neptune, Pluto.

These indicator words, "awakened" from their creation, do not require valuation in the Decagon and can be used as soon as they have been written.

Tuning

The hypothesis (which is not one for the astrologer) is that any illness in a person is related to planetary aspects marking the Houses of the horoscope. The most appropriate remedies would be:

- for homeopathy, in correspondence with the same influences;
- for allopathy, in correspondence with one or more corrective planets of significant influence for the subject.

The dowser will not have to draw up the theme of affection, of treatments... He will find directly with his pendulum:

- the planet signing the subject's illness and the homeopathic products influenced by it,
- the influences of one or a few corrective planets and the allopathic products marked by them (at least influences, at best).

Here is an example.

A child has whooping cough. There is no shortage of allopathic or homeopathic remedies. What is the best treatment for him? The pendulum gives Moon tuning , possible Venus correction . Among the very numerous homeopathic remedies for whooping cough, we tune in with Moon: Drosera. We will therefore prefer Drosera to other homeopathic remedies in the case of this child.

If we had wanted, we could treat by Pallopa thie, but then we would have neglected Drosera tuning with Moon and we would have preferred the tincture of Lobelia strongly signed by Venus.

Do you understand the mechanism? If necessary, you could even give at appropriate times, to choose from the pendulum, Drosera at homeopathic dose, and Lobelia tincture at allopathic dose (a few drops every 24 hours, depending on age).

All the technique being reduced to searching with the pendulum on the words-witnesses of planets, the influence corresponding to the affection in the subject and that is enough to treat by homeopathy. But one can seek the corrective influence if one treats by allopathy, even if, if there are several corrective influences, to consider only the most important.

Valuation of remedies

A herbal remedy like Drosera does not have a unique signature. Drosera is not purely lunar and your pendulum will show you that Drosera is also influenced by Jupiter and Sun, which in the case of the child under consideration were irrelevant.

We can make the remedy's lunar influence predominate and therefore make it more appropriate: take a tube of granules, for example Drosera 6. Let's place it on a decagon line with the word-witness Moon. Duration twenty minutes. We thus exalt the lunar influence of Drosera to make it predo undermine other signatures. This valuation should only be done once for the entire tube, the lunar influence will remain predominant until the last granule.

In the same way if, treating by allopathy, we had planned three times five drops of tinctures of Lobelia, we will obtain better effects if we put the bottle of tincture for twenty minutes on a decagon with the word-witness Venus. We will thus make the Venusian influence predominate over all those associated with it in this preparation.

Hourly influences, particular effects of dilutions

The pendulum is unbeatable for finding, by the minute and without having to perform the tedious calculations of a theme, these correspondences: patient, affection, planets, similar (homeopathy), opposites (allopathy).

If you need a remedy related to Jupiter for a hepatic subject, the pendulum will immediately point you to a product like Lycopodium and will indicate the dilution to use and the hours of administration at which the Jupiterian influence predominates.

If afterwards you are curious to know what are the other planetary influences of this remedy, the pendulum again will show you that Lycopodium accumulates almost all of them and you will understand why it is... versatile!

You will also understand why the remedies have different and sometimes opposite effects, according to the hours of the day or the doses... The planetary hours which meet corresponding signatures, exalt the properties in relation to their influences. The astrologer would consult his ephemerides, which one does not need if one uses the pendulum.

And the decagon valuations allow us to fix in the

remedies the desired influences, provided they are there in potency.

So that, even if there were a rather complete repertoire of planetary influences which mark the products, I would advise you to take inspiration rather from the tunings with the pendulum, case by case. Because your detection integrates what can be identified from the multiplicity of possible influences.

The same goes for the dilutions, the doses, the pendulum will point to you what "opens" the product best to obtain the desired influence.

Metallotherapy

Another good way to bring corrective planetary influences into play would be metallotherapy. The pertussis child we were talking about was made to wear a copper disc (Venusian metal) in a green bag (Venusian color) on his chest. Which greatly relieved him. I would have added a word-witness "Venus", but the parents were, it seems, already so astonished.

Morale and healing

Here is a tired, depressed, discouraged, unresponsive patient. Check the pendulum on your test words for planets that could improve his morale. Suppose in his case you get Mars, Mercury.

Slip under 1 pillow of his bed cardboard tabs on which you will have written respectively Ma rs, Mercury and you will see him regain courage almost immediately. If he is up, you can advise him to put these cookies in a pocket, which will have the same effect.

The art of being a healer!

In all this, note it well so as not to imagine things to you, it is ultimately the thought of the doctor or the healer who, by these practices, awakens in the aura of the patient the desired planetary influences!

But this, without any effort of concentration, by the simple recourse to the witnesses-words of planets, taking into account only the influences at play in each case and the form of treatment applied.

These witness-words, like the planetary influences which sign the remedies, are mere signals to the subconscious of the patient, and these signals only reach their goal by having passed through the mind of the physician or the healer. All of this happens automatically, without conscious effort on the part of the therapist, through these very simple planetary attunements.

It's a bit... the art of being a healer within everyone's reach!

AT THE SOURCE OF ALL ENERGIES! the Sun

By W. Servranx

December 1962

In the long run, man learned to know the benefits of solar light and heat and to protect himself from their excesses.

If he still too often considers the star-king as a ball of fire, he nevertheless begins to also consider the Sun as a source of electromagnetic energies and suspects that in addition to these measurable forces, there must be a real flow of vital and psychic energies coming from the Sun.

On the human and terrestrial scale, these forces are superabundant, excessive. In countries with strong insolation, as in the East, man must protect himself from the sun's rays by long woolen coats and by thick walls pierced with tiny windows that let in only a minimum of light and heat. The techniques of "regulation" of solar phenomena are at the point with regard to heat, light...

But there is still nothing valid to domesticate the other forces.

But the Sun has its own life and the rays it gives us create disturbances in our evolution that we will have to learn to understand and control better.

We are already studying, every day, the disturbances created by the Sun in our radio communications. We know we have to attri drink in the Sun the resurgence of epidemic diseases, the revival of viruses after centuries of neutrality. One suspects the anarchic effects, much more powerful than those attributed to cosmic rays and nuclear experiments, that the Sun must exert on the vitality, the vegetation, and also on the psyche of the crowds.

If scholars hesitate to attribute to solar influences the great movements of opinion which periodically lead races to clash and destroy each other, if they have not yet been able to link the phenomena of crisis and war to determined solar cycles, it is because they have only really cataloged and studied a small number of the solar forces, the most physical, the most measurable.

It would be risky to predict whether current science will be able to undertake the study of solar forces beyond electromagnetism, its methods and its instruments would only allow it with difficulty to observe biological, vital and mental influences. Until she succeeds, other techniques can be used.

The old magic, with its talismans, proposed to regulate the solar influences, deficient or excessive, by mobilizing the "relays" of the different planets which reflect modalized solar energies.

The dowsing, with its techniques of active drawings, of harmonic colors, can also help to condition the solar, vital and mental influences, on living beings. We could only attempt it individually, in the current state of things. It must be relatively easy to modify, by a drawing or by colors, the resistance of a being to diseases or to the aggressiveness of solar influences, but we cannot envisage being able, by our current techniques, to protect crowds or continents!

But later, our observations will perhaps allow scientists, better equipped than the dowisers, to approach these phenomena by other ways and to try to regulate them.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

ments, biological, psychic, etc. on a larger scale. We thus propose to the dowzers to seek in the ways of a solar "air-conditioning" of the people, to ensure their well-being and to protect them from the excesses of influence. And we anticipate that this can be achieved most easily by designs or colors.

But let's not lose sight of the fact that it will never be a question of suppressing or even neutralizing the solar influence. We are in the Sun: everything around us is of solar essence. The cells of our body, the atoms of the most diverse materials, all energies, all phenomena are subject to the effects of the Sun whose organism extends to the whole system, to the most distant planets.

What we can aim for is to regulate, to condition give as we already do physically for light and heat.

Effects of Sunlight (March 1965)

It is known that dowsing often gives results more accurate in daylight than in artificial lighting. No doubt, through practice and training, most of us manage to work just as well in the evening and even at night as in the day...

But we note that certain phenomena are really observable only in natural light. This is the case in experiments involving the impregnation of neutral liquids or powders, to constitute artificial controls. This only succeeds very well in daylight and all the better when there is sun. And even when the phenomenon occurs otherwise, there are a number of operators who will not be able to verify it...because a "something" will be missing which is not solely the influence of the ultraviolet rays.

Never be in a hurry to assert following a failure with artificial lighting that a process does nothing! Start again in daylight and, if possible, in the sun, before concluding.

Abnormal solar influence (October 1962)

The newspapers, reporting observations made in Sweden, at the observatory of Saltjöbaden near Stockholm, predict strong magnetic storms resulting from sunspots of a size exceeding that of the terrestrial globe. Swedish specialists point out that solar activity is curiously abnormal at the moment. A specialist has even put forward the hypothesis that nuclear experiments could be the cause of the solar phenomenon. Which would be even more curious!

However, we have recently observed — both in our own radiesthetic research and in the communications that reach us from numerous correspondents — the appearance of solutions that are surprising to say the least. Problems to which we have been looking for the key for months now receive quite unusual answers by the seemingly simple means found at the pendulum. But it turns out that these unforeseen and amazing solutions don't seem to be quite right, even under the usual conditions. Occurring at certain times, recognized as valid by initial checks, they lose their reality a little later...

Note that we do not consider here that these exceptional solutions, perhaps due to these abnormal sunspots, are false! No. But we think that something is missing, either the action of a rare force, or a result or an additional condition for things to hold true in ordinary times.

Have other dowzers made the same observations?

Modern scientists are rediscovering the influence of the planets! (May 1966)

One could read in Le Soir of last November 11 (1965) this curious paper on the variations of the center of gravity of the solar system.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Sunspots and the movement of the planets

"The sunspot cycle has always intrigued astrophysicists. From a period of eleven years, to within three months of approximation, some attribute to it an influence on human events. As these spots correspond to variations in the electromagnetic field, causing magnetic storms and electronic disturbances, it is not impossible that such an influence becomes visible through the use of the innumerable electrical devices used by contemporary man.

In the meantime, an astronomical cycle of eleven years has just been discovered by two American researchers, Professor Karl Wood of Robert University, Colorado, and Dr Robert Wood of the Douglas Space Center, Santa Monica, who submitted to an electronic calculator determining the center of gravity of the solar system. This center, as one might think, is not located in the center of the Sun, but moves according to the movement of the planets, to the point that it can be 1 from this star. However, if we are concerned outside to simply determine the geometric position of the planets, no significant result is obtained.

On the other hand, if the problem is treated dynamically by taking into account quantities such as relative speed and acceleration, the American researchers, helped by their "computer", have highlighted a "thrust" whose cycle is 11, 08 years. The approximation, as we see, is remarkable.

The thrust thus noted is not very significant. It is also exerted on a gaseous medium. Finally it is mainly caused by the small internal planets, Mercury, Venus and the Earth, the large planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune mainly act on the position of the Sun.

This introduces more into scientific astronomy the notions that so many astrologers have worked so hard to use in their predictions.

It is true that astronomers practice the adage: "Imperare naturae parendo", without wanting to cut corners."

Listening to the planets

About Alfred Vandenhoff

Director of CIER,
February 1960

We live in revolutionary times in the field of cosmic research. Every day, science reveals new and wonderful discoveries to us. Today's man is more interested in the planets and stars that populate the stellar immensity than in what surrounds him here below. Sputniks, explorers, pioneers, and more recently luniks, have been placed in terrestrial, lunar and solar orbits. The conquest of space is therefore underway in the near future say the most optimistic, in twenty years think the moderates, because no one disputes the possibilities of the men of tomorrow on this subject dear to this enlightened precursor. what was the great Jules Verne!

Science also told us about the research carried out over the last ten years in radio astronomy concerning stars that are not visible but sound. And Morse signals, even modulated, have aroused the attention of researchers who, from the depths of their laboratory, seek to detect the nature of these radio-electric signals picked up in the high stratospheric layers by radio-telescopes. These signals would be phenomena generated by electromagnetic vibrations, on the one hand by strong planets (such as the Sun for example), or on the other hand by vibratory waves created between these various stars which populate our galaxy and the others.

Accus & Batteries ý Witnesses and means of action

If modern science wonders about these phenomena, if this great Lady no longer fears the laughingstock of enlightened minds and studies this cosmic Universe intensively, why couldn't we, we dowsers, do the same?

Could we be accused of utopia or imbalance, of ridicule, even of danger for society, simply because we are also interested in what is translated or interpreted in the form of wave trains? And that these wave trains are purely and simply terrestrial or cosmic!

I ask the readers of this journal the question: "Should we, in your opinion, leave this exciting field in the sole hands of scientists? Or, on the other hand, do you consider that we are men like the others and therefore capable of discovering particular phenomena by processes which are specific to us and which no scientist would want to use (in any case!)? If you answer positively to these two questions and if you agree not always to confine yourselves to sectors of research limited to our good old planet the Earth, here is a new era of fascinating research for all the fellow dowsers.

Discover and listen to the planets!

If those around you seem to be worried about your psychic balance, refer them to scientific articles and confine yourself to working in silence and for your sole satisfaction. Which isn't so bad after all!

Do not believe, dear reader friends, that what I am going to describe to you is the fruit of a dream, an illusion or a botched radiesthesic test in a small evening of entertainment. Don't think either that it was a whim or the desire for originality that prompted me to tell you about this research. Admittedly, we cannot develop everything in a chronicle, but I will endeavor to give you here the main elements necessary for this kind of research. Another time, you will have the various dowsing techniques applicable and possible in this field. And finally a complete table for the 1958 "calendar-timetable" concerning the best moments of receptivity as regards cosmo-dowsing waves, if it is necessary here to define their nature.

The terms are probably very inaccurate, at the very least very unsuitable for scientific language, and I am perfectly aware of this. But we need to be able to start from certain current ideas to outline such a special search. Because it is not a matter of routine work as the operators ordinarily conceive it.

This preamble being established, let us pass to the heart of the problem.

1. In fact what can we capture from planets, stars, in a word from other worlds?

Curious as it may seem to many, a quantity of things and information which, starting from chaos and nebulous phenomena, are transformed little by little with experience, practice and patience, into very characteristic aspects and easily interpretable.

In some cases, these will be signs, shapes, generally geometric in appearance, and sometimes numbers! But if we adopt, for example, Morse code as a reference base, we can very quickly pick up certain signals which, with patience, can be translated into plain language, that is to say into alphabetical letters corresponding to the signals- interpreted morse codes. Warning ! I did not say that an entire sentence can be read as a message from Martians or Lunars! Official science has to date never succeeded in reading the modulated signals picked up by radio telescopes. We are currently content to take note of them, record them and compare them to all the other broadcasts received in order to draw hypotheses!

On our side, we do not ask for more, but however in the pure musical domain, we can already, by dowsing, go further in this domain of hypotheses.

And it is here that the thing is really interesting to study. For the two years that we have been experimenting with this field of "dowsing radio-astronomy", let us say it, we have on several occasions captured musical themes which, I assure you, in no way offend the informed ear who listens to them. performance after musical transcription.

Obviously, these are fragmentary themes and of very short duration (about 1 to 2 minutes maximum). Moreover, it is very difficult to stay in contact with these trains of cosmic waves because the rapidity of the rhythm of receptivity does not always allow us to follow their various musical nuances in a pendular fashion. We are only at the first stage of course.

2. What is needed to perform this kind of detection under good conditions?

— Your usual pendulum or even better a colored pendulum adapted to the color of the prospected planet.

— As planetary amplifiers and capacitors, use the series of planetary batteries so judiciously developed by our colleague Mr. Perreaux and taken up by Miss H. Poreye.

— As a fixed relay witness, a photographic reproduction or cosmological image or one taken from a science book (see also the very beautiful color photographic reproductions that can be obtained at the Brussels Planetarium, in particular that of Mars).

— It is certain that wave selectors, assemblies such as oscillators, chokes or apparatus such as the Tél -REC still contribute to making work easier, more precise and better perceptible in pendular signals, on certain days.

— Finally, a conventional code table for the various octaves of the musical scale is, of course, to be used in order to interpret the pendular signals into musical notes (encrypted code to further accelerate the primary transcription).

3. What are the planetary systems that we can currently prospect?

They are twelve in number, the classification of which was indicated to us using the Magnetron : disc with twelve studs and of which here is the order adopted for this study of the systems (in the clockwise direction):

1. Venus - 2. Jupiter 3 ÿ .Saturn 4 ÿ .Earth - 5. Mars 6 ÿ Moon 7ÿ .Sun 8 ÿ .Pluto 9 ÿ .Milky Way 10 ÿ .Mercury -IL Uranus 12 ÿ .Neptune.

N.-B.: The Milky Way is not taken here as a planet but was indicated to us during dowsing research on the galaxies and star clusters of which the greatest number would be, in our opinion, composed of sound stars that science talks about.

Let us say, to conclude this first article, that the chronological order of the planets, the calendar-time table, the days and months of best receptivity, the periodic cycles of certain planets as well as the useful key elements, described above for carry out this research, have been established solely by dowsing study.

It is the pendulum which designated the essential materials, which classified the chronological order and which made choice (with each test) of the assemblies or apparatuses likely to help us in the detection and the clarification of the pendulum signals received. Nothing has been studied without the help of the pendulum and we have done, since the beginning of our work in 1958, nothing but dowsing of the very beautiful and fascinating dowsing!

Listening to the planets

yl

By Alfred Vandenhoff

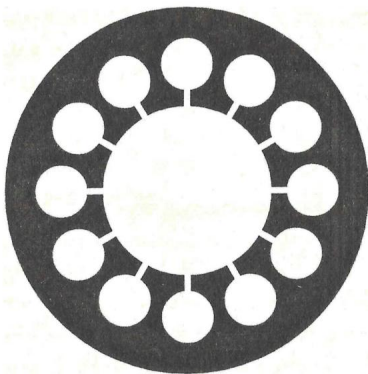

Director of CIER

March 1960

In the preceding article devoted to this domain of dowsing research, of a somewhat special kind it must be said, we limited ourselves to explaining to you the starting point of our work. Let us approach without useless preamble the heart of the matter of this chronicle: the dowsing technical process applicable to a detection of this kind.

First operation

A steep from the Magneton o

Having inscribed on a small board the goal of our research thus defined: "ideal location of the planets", we placed this "idea-shock" indicator in the center of the magnetron (that is to say in the large white crown).

(*) See Servranx graph n° 3

Then, having prepared 12 word-witnesses of the planets in question (following the process described in F. and W. Servranx's Radial materializations: decagon valuation to saturate these witnesses with the desired influence), the pendulum very easily designated each plot of the magnetron with which perfectly tuned each of the names-witnesses of the planets.

This work done, a list of names was established and a clockwise numeration (clockwise) designated a number corresponding to each of the planets studied, and this in the order of 1 to 12 designated by the pendular reactions. Then leaving this device to rest for 24 hours, plot No. 12 in the direction of magnetic North and the control words placed on each of the plots detected, in order to further impregnate all of these basic fragmentary elements.

Second operation

The second radiesthetic operation consisted in establishing (if possible) an annual calendar of the frequencies of perception by looking for the cadence and the rhythm with which the planets reappeared during the year.

To establish a more frank "hanging" than by the simple mental orientation (which, let us hasten to say it, can largely suffice for certain dowzers) and in order to have more security in the establishment of this calendar, we have replaced the first text of the center of the magnetron by that of the desired goal, thus conceived: "period favorable to a receptivity of planetary musical waves by dowsing".

This text placed in the center of the magnetron, the pendulum held vertically above it, we asked the January question, and very quickly the pendulum pulled towards a stud and girt positively when the pendulum was brought plumb of this one. We then wrote on a sheet of paper the number of the plot and the name of the designated planet.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Then bringing the pendulum back to the center of the magnetron, we were surprised to find that he pointed to another cone above which he will also turn positively. We have therefore similarly entered the number and the name of the planet designated in the second search.

Renewing a third attempt at the center of the magnetron, the pendulum first began to gyrate very positively then to beat in the direction of the first designated stud and then in the direction of the second stud found.

He went back and forth several times to make us understand that there was nothing else to expect for January and that the search for that month was therefore over. Isn't this pendular simplicity marvelous for such a great mystery as that of predicting the reception of planetary musical waves? By what other means or process could we come to define these cosmic rhythms of "wave trains"? When I told you that dowsing is exciting!

Thus, by successive questions, the correspondence of the planets with the other months of the experimental year was established. And each time we received two types of planets for each month. Don't ask us why! But the fact is there, and it was reproduced in the paintings of 59 and 60. However, in a sometimes very different order.

By way of example, I have indicated in the table below what had been designated for the year 1958, the great year of the now defunct Universal Exhibition which encouraged us in the accumulation of our rudimentary knowledge by providing us with a additional interesting documentation for the continuation of our work.

This first classification made, we could already observe certain particularities, namely that Venus remained two consecutive months: April and May, Mercury similarly remained June and July as well as the Milky Way in August and September, while Jupiter attributed November and December .

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

MAGNETRON CODE TABLE
1958 Planetary Sound Wave Emission
Month	Plots	Hence the table in clear:
January	7 and 10	January: Sun-Mercury
February	11 and 12	February: Uranus-Neptune
March	5 and 9	March: Mars-Milky Way
April	1 and	April: Moon-Venus
May	6 1 and	May: Venus-Earth
June	4 10 and	June: Mercury-Uranus
July	11 7 and 10	July: Sun-Mercury
August 8 and 9		August: Pluto-Milky Way
September 7 and 9		September: Sun-Milky Way
October 3 and 5		October: Saturn-Mars
November 2 and 10		November: Jupiter-Mercury
December 2 and 4		December: Earth-Jupiter

Remember that this table, valid for 1958, varied in 1959 and again in 1960. However, the detection principle described in this article remained the same. You can therefore, following the guidelines given, establish your own calendar for 1960, if the question interests you.

Why not give you the 1960 calendar as an example directly? For several reasons, the clearest of which is not to influence you in a way that might not be the same for you, that is to say according to your receptive sensitivity!

Each of us being, in various aspects, different, it is certain that our faculties of receptivity vary in notable proportions. And without it being impossible to work in a group on the same research framework, it remains certain that our recordings will be slightly different.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

So try to establish first:

— your magnetron device, planet and charge control words;

— the location of the planets on the magnetron pads;

— your 1960 annual calendar.

Do this comfortably, conscientiously and without precaution.

pity. You will learn how to do a good job.

In the next chapter, I will show you the last stage, that is to say the periodic cycles of the days of the week giving the best receptivity in attunement on the one hand with the designated planet and on the other hand with the detected month. in accordance with the desired musical rhythm.

Finally, I will indicate the numerical table of "musical octaves" (low-medium-high) as well as the amplifier devices likely to help you in carrying out this work.

You will then be able, equipped with all these elements, to carry out your tests in good conditions. In any case, you will know as much as we do and maybe, who knows, you will still make other discoveries in this mysterious world of planets and galaxies that populate the cosmic universe...

Listening to the planets

By Alfred Vandenhoff

Director of CIER

April 1960

Previously, I explained to you:

- 1) how we came to do this research;
- 2) how to establish the starting point of a table of planets in accordance with the months of the year, as well as the equipment to be used: photo-witnesses, planetary batteries, Magnetron, Tele-REC, and sometimes colored pendulums, necessary for easy exploration of the various planets studied.

Today, it remains for me to point out two important points, in order to give you all the technical elements necessary for capturing planetary musical themes. I had given you the example of the table of correspondence of the planets with the calendar months, but that is not enough in all the cases to establish the dowsing contact correctly during all the days of the month.

There are, in fact, certain days that are more favorable to this kind of work, I would even say a better receptivity of the trains of sound waves.

This phenomenon is nothing special and is similar to that of reception of ultra-short waves in radio where the "fading" stops the retransmission or forces the sound waves to take a different trajectory curve which modifies their capture on the location provided for our radio dial-receiver.

Accus & Batteries ÿ Witnesses and means of action

It is thus useful to establish each year, not only the monthly calendar but also the table of the days of the week favorable to the dominating planets during this same month.

How to establish these periodic cycles?

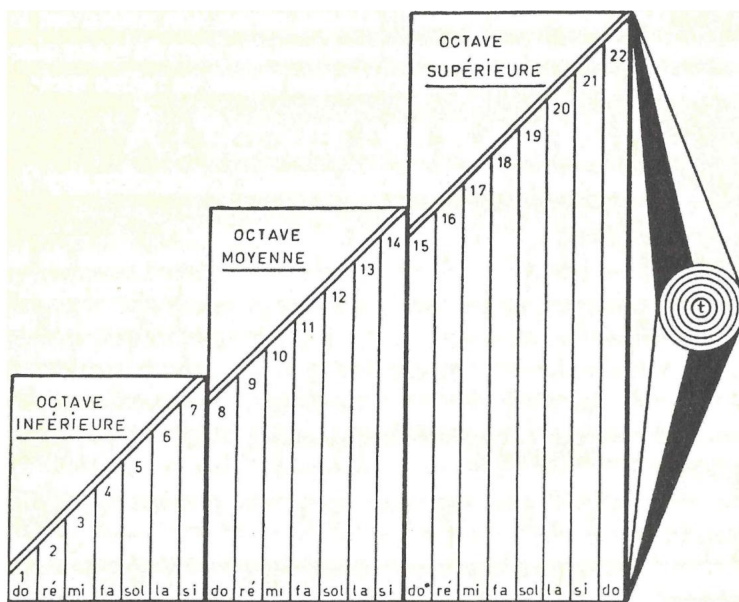

Using the planetary battery or the photo witness of the prospected planet and equipped with the Magnetron dial as an amplifier, you successively place in the center of it a word witness for the days of the week. The pendulum will be held vertically above the inscribed term. The left hand points to the plot corresponding to the planet considered. Three cases can then arise:

- 1) very marked positive gyration: this day is perfect;
- 2) weak positive gyration and stopping of the pendulum: disturbance, difficulty;
- 3) negative gyration: the day is not suitable for reception.

Let's take a typical example. You have detected that for the month of April it is plots 1 and 6 that are perceptible: ie Moon and Venus. Your exam indicates for Moon: Thursday and Sunday, for Venus: Monday and Friday. You will be able, by experimenting on these days, to see that throughout the month of April, every Thursday and Sunday will allow you to capture Moon themes, and that every Monday and Friday of this same month, Venus will emit perceptible sound themes. by our tools. While on other days of the week, work is difficult or impossible.

You will proceed in this way for the 12 planets detected on the Magnetron and you will obtain a complete calendar of favorable days for your work of listening to the planets.

Don't be surprised if, for the summer months in particular, you find three days of the week for some planets, or sometimes the whole week. This was the case in 1958 in the month

August for the Milky Way, for example. While during this month Pluto was noticeable three days in a row: Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

If a planet returns several months later in your table, do not assume that the days detected the first time will be the same, you would be wrong. It is necessary to establish per month and per day, the choice of the optimal receptivity.

It should be understood that we deliver in these chronicles the results of an unprecedented and very special research and that we do not claim to explain all the whys, nor to justify the observance of the terrestrial week by distant stars...

Now, let's see how to establish the transcription of the musical sounds captured.

We will take three octaves as a technical basis: the first: lower, the second: middle and the third: upper. And in order to follow the rhythm more easily, we will establish a numerical code, from 1 to 7 for the lower range, from 8 to 14 for the medium range and from 15 to 22 for the upper range. The final stop on the note if, being too abrupt in certain themes, I added the do of the following octave as a closing finale. (See the table opposite which shows these three octaves.)

On the side of this research device (which must, to do well, be reproduced with measurements of 22 cm in length by 21 cm in height, i.e. 1 cm per number-note box) is placed a deformed uncle amplifier, of 6 circles (for dowsing effluences) and a large magnetic compass covering the total pitch of the 3 octaves.

The planetary witness under study is placed on the 6 circles. The pendulum is held above this device, while the left hand scans the table of scales using a ruler. This must be done quickly by moving back and forth, from left to right and vice versa, in order to hang the numbered note corresponding to the sound picked up.

To avoid any confusion between the various notes at different octaves, write the number found. The transcription of the code into notes can be done afterwards, at any time.

Example: if we have 8-10-12, we will know that it is C-E-G of the middle range. If we roll 16-17-19-21 and 22, we'll know it's the upper range.

As soon as the attachment of a note is acquired the pendulum swings positively. It is possible, if possible, to be made help by a voluntary person taking charge of registering progressively the detected figures. However, there is a way, with a little practice, to do this work alone. Because after a series varying from 4 to 7 figures, according to the theme, the pendulum indicates by beats the end of a measure. From the tests carried out, it would seem very possible (despite the interruption of the few seconds taken to inscribe oneself the series of captured figures) to then resume the recording of the second measure and so on until the end of the theme.

How can we judge the end of this emission of sound waves? Either by the definitive stop of the pendular movements; this case is the most general. Either by repeating the first bars of the theme. When we notice the similarity of the musical rhythm, we can stop the detection.

The repetition of the theme quite simply indicates that the musical fragment captured must be played twice.

Finally, once the theme has been transcribed, it is notated on a musical staff. And as long as you are aware of the basic rules of music theory, you will have to finish your work by mental questions on the fragment itself in order to directly define the rhythm of execution: slow, very slow, normal, fast, syncopated or linked. , downtimes or pauses, as well as the indication of the sharps of certain notes.

For those who don't know the music well enough, there is another way to get the exact performance of the musical fragment. It is to play or have these notes played (on the piano for example, or on any other instrument) and to follow the recorded sounds with a pendulum. So when a note is played a semitone too low or too high, the pendulum beats and drops out of its gyratory rhythm. While for correctly played notes, the pendulum continues to swing in a positive direction.

All this seems at first glance very complicated. However, if you are a musician or if you have among your friends a person accustomed to deciphering pieces of music and if, of course, you explain to him in advance the difficulties to be resolved when deciphering the theme picked up, there are many chance that the performer corrects himself by ear the few errors of tone that you could have left in your musical copy.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

The instrument which allows the most exact possible reflection of this kind of music is most certainly the violin which, by its delicacy, renders the musical nuance more easily. Finally, I would remind you that it is not a question of actually capturing a piece of music similar to a melody, sonata or concerto! Only, until now, themes varying from 1 to 3 minutes, in the event of repetition wished, allowed a first step in this field of the "celestial musics"!

Nevertheless, these fragments, although very reduced, allow one to get an idea of the beauty of the sounds, of their purity of expression and of the breadth concealed by this mysterious domain of listening to the planets.

Moreover, the difference between the themes captured, according to the planets studied, clearly marks the particularities specific to each of these planets. So a "Moon" theme is slow and supple, while "Mercury" is nervous and faster and "Saturn" gives us a sad look!

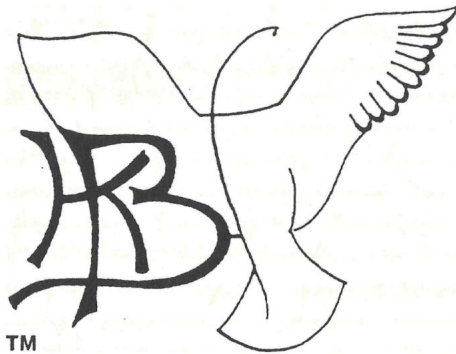

That this is unusual by the very fact of the close agreement with traditional data, we conceive it very well, but here again we deliver what we have found and it is not up to us to make modifications or inaccuracies which would make it to be the most likely thing to those who pride themselves on critical thinking.

And our conclusion from such a curious incursion will be: may this series of chronicles open the way to the beneficent meditation of a celestial musical rhythm. Rhythm which will largely reward the efforts and will perhaps contribute to a better understanding in the future of this prodigious great whole which is the cosmic Kingdom in which we gravitate.

La «Health Kinesiology»tm AND SERVVRANX BATTERIES

If the term "kinesiology" is not yet familiar to you, know that it is a technique combining muscle testing and the foundations of traditional Chinese medicine in reference to the main energy meridians of the human body.

As in acupuncture, the basis of the work carried out is based on the changes made in the energy system of the person, starting from the initial principle that all discomfort, all illness results from one or more energy blockages in the meridians. and/or in the tissues irrigated by these meridians.

These changes are realized through what we call "energetic corrections".

This takes place without needles, by the combination, on the one hand, of thoughts, of positions to be taken or even of products deposited on the body and, on the other hand, maintenance using hands of points and or areas of the body that will cause the release of the stress or the blockage registered in the energy of the person.

Kinesiology was born in the USA in the 1960s from the practice of chiropractic (muscle, tissue and bone manipulation) in relation to the energy meridians used in traditional Chinese medicine.

Very quickly there, it developed and several different branches have sprung up since.

All kinesiology methods will have in common the muscular test which is generally practiced on the arm for reasons of ease. This muscular test is the tool used by the practitioner in kinesiology to enter into communication with the energy of the person. Through this test, a dialogue can be established: a "strong" muscle will correspond to a positive response, a "weak" muscle will indicate disagreement or energy blockage.

Each method of kinesiology will have its own personal and different approach. Health Kinesiology is the system developed by Jimmy Scott, Ph.D., of American origin, currently living in Canada.

His method born at the end of the 70s has been enriched until to become a complete system that addresses not only the physical person and his expressed ailments, but also all of his current and past experience. Her approach is both holistic and flexible. They can easily be combined with other techniques or practices which they will complement and improve their performance.

It allows everyone to find not only a solution to their problem, but also to discover their own treasures buried deep within themselves, to remove the blockages preventing access to them and to put them into action to achieve well-being in a way stable and progressive.

The natural person, his emotions, his family, social and professional experience, his eating habits, his activities physical, his place of life and work, all the parameters are taken into consideration. The individual is considered as a whole: whether it is a question of psychological, emotional, physical problems, or disturbances in the bodies of subtle energy, nothing is excluded.

In terms of energy, many advances have been observed in different techniques. It will be the same here. The means of action are enriched progressively. This is also how during one of his trips to Europe, Jimmy Scott had the opportunity to discover the batteries developed by Servranx Laboratories.

Very quickly he was able to establish a link between the energy work obtained using the stimulation of the points and reflex zones of the human body on the one hand and that obtained during the commissioning of the Servranx batteries on the other hand. This is how he experimented with all 4 series of batteries in his work of energy corrections in kinesiology.

Various advantages appear when using batteries in Health Kinesiology :

- the possibility of working without the practitioner himself being affected by the corrections made; this greatly limits the risks of fatigue recorded during busy days in individual kinesiology sessions;
- corrections “pass” easier and faster;
- the practitioner's hands are no longer needed on the person's body;
- concentration is easier on what is happening at the energy level;
- batteries are also used to neutralize the negative effects of geopathological energies (geobiological environment);
- They can also be worn as support in difficult times.

Accus & Batteries - Witnesses and means of action

Battery use in Health Kinesiology is only recommended for advanced students. Indeed, it seems essential, in order not to limit ourselves from the start in our perception of energy and its modifications, to work first by using the hands placed on the reflex zones of the physical body. As in all learning, there is no point in skipping the steps. In the child who did not crawl before walking, it is common to observe later blockages of development. Wanting to run before you can walk makes no sense!

It is therefore in a spirit of efficiency that the use of batteries in Health Kinesiology is only recommended for students who have completed the five basic levels and who can testify to a sufficient practice of Health Kinesiology.

The teaching of Health Kinesiology is distributed in the USA, Canada and several European countries: Belgium, Germany, England, Switzerland.

Medical Dowsing

A valuable aid in the art of healing

Under the direction of F. and W. Servranx

Format A5 160 y pages y illustrated

Medical dowsing is based on the resonance which is established, by sympathetic radiation, between the organism of the patient and that of the practitioner, whether the patient is present or represented by a witness object. By various measurements of wavelengths, thanks to a correct mental orientation, the practitioner will be able to pose the correct diagnosis, to determine the cause of a disease and the means of curing it. This book is not intended to teach medicine to anyone who is not a doctor, but it clearly indicates the dowsing methods available to doctors and their auxiliaries. It will interest the layman, insofar as he will better understand the possibilities but also the limits of medical dowsing, by removing from it the mysterious character that some have wanted to give it.

witness is an impregnation carried out either by corpuscular emission starting from a natural sample, or by synthesis (remanence of electric, magnetic forces or colored influences in resonance with the original thing). They are dowsing materializations of pure energy. For remote research and medical surveys, they are superior to natural samples. These are the only possible witnesses for energies (electricity, light, etc.) and for certain phenomena of the order of the elusive. Naturally amplified, they are preferable for underground surveys. With our method, you will carry out complete and powerful impregnations: with its very detailed explanations, it makes the making of artificial controls accessible to everyone.

Healing Devices

Simple construction and use of active drawn circuits and radionic assemblies. A5 format 160 y p. y illus.y Exdocin

How do "healing devices", drawn circuits or radionics devices work? What are the basic instruments? How to seek and exercise in this new way of practical radionics?

The increasingly frequent appearance of devices that operate without using none of the energies of classical physics leads most of us to think that there are secrets jealously guarded by their wielders. These many questions find their answer in this work which also gives detailed explanations for the construction and use of several devices and devices, often simple and within the reach of the average and occasional handyman. In addition to their applications in the field of care and physical and mental harmonization, many interesting experiments have been made in agriculture and chemical or and increased physical. Numerous diagrams, drawings and illustrations.

Vital Magnetism Emitter

AURADYNE

The Benefits of Aura-Dynamic Energy

The Auradyne, a transmitter of vital magnetism, was designed and developed in 1948 by dowzers and magnetizers Bervroux, Herrinckx and the Servranx brothers.

It is based on the property (little known to current science) of electric batteries to generate "fluids" whose magnetic action syntonizes with the colors of the spectrum. These notions are familiar to magnetizers since the work of Hector Durville.

The material arrangements of the Auradyne select the favorable rays and release as much physiological magnetism as a dozen people or two or three competent magnetizers.

The benefits are remarkable for anyone lacking vital magnetism (heaviness, fatigue, insomnia, nervousness, lack of creativity, etc.). It will help maintain health or reinforce the good effects of any medical treatment.

Auradyne reserves these same effects for our animal friends.

Since its beginnings, Auradyne has activated the growth of the most diverse vegetables and plants, all over the world.

Its use is also very interesting for dowzers whose sensitivity it extends in an astonishing way. Magnetizers and healers can recharge themselves in short sessions of 5 to 10 minutes and thus maintain their personal potential.

This manual contains all the technical information for building this exceptional device yourself. Its practical use is extensively explained there by several users.

You can also get the Auradyne, ready to use, with its user manual, from Servranx editions.

The accumulators and batteries are charged with planetary, cosmic, neutralizing influences, or special forces, of which they are the relay. Through them it is possible to augment, balance, or compensate for these physical, cosmic, and vital influences on a person or situation.

The Planetary and Cosmic batteries, the Neutral batteries and Forces S are used as witnesses in dowsing, as means of action in geobiology and radionics and also, for some years, under the direction of Professor Jinimy Scott, in kinesiology. They are invaluable aids, especially for particularly difficult missions to complete.

In action at a distance, they are used alone or in combination with Servranx graphics or even a radionic device. They add their remarkable power and rapid efficiency.

You can achieve amazing results, but you must always remember that you are wielding forces as powerful as they are delicate, capable of wonders in the hands of a responsible person.

The diversity of their use in all fields is limited only to the creativity of the operator.
